ROOSEVELT ASKS STEEP TAXES ON EXCESS PROFITS

Congress Given Job of Framing Bill.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—Congress got down to work on a new excess profits levy today shortly after President Roosevelt recommended "a steeply graduated excess profits tax."

The President's request, transmitted in a brief message to congress, was a reversal of the administration position on an excess profits tax measure. Altho the President recently said there must be no war millionaires, action to tax war profits was to go over until the next session of congress.

Even after the senate passed an amendment to the new revenue act which would have imposed excess profits and war taxes, they were knocked out when considered by the joint conference of the house and senate, supposedly upon administration insistence. It was not desired then to boost taxes too sharply.

Today new taxes, designed to raise 4 billion 692 million dollars in five years, to finance national defense costs, went into effect.

Confer on Program.

The decision to ask for new taxes was reached at today's regular weekly legislative conference at the White House. Present were Vice President John Nance Garner, Speaker William B. Bankhead, House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, and Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.].

Soon after this meeting Mr. Roosevelt sent the following message to congress:

"We are engaged in a great national effort to build up our national defenses to meet any and every potential attack.

"We are asking even our humblest citizens to contribute their mite.

"It is our duty to see that the burden is distributed equitably, according to ability to pay, so that a few do not gain from the sacrifices of the many.

"I, therefore, recommend to the congress the enactment of a steeply graduated excess profits tax, to be applied to all individuals and to all corporate organizations, without discrimination."

Deductions for Individuals.

In the case of individuals and partnerships such a profits tax would apply to profits on invested capital and not to other income such as salaries. In the past individuals were permitted to deduct federal taxes paid, including income tax from profits, before computing their excess profits tax.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau declined to discuss what recommendations the treasury will make on the new taxes, saying that the treasury will withhold its views until officials are invited to testify on Capitol hill. The treasury is ready with tax data, however, and "has been working on this thing for months," Morgenthau said.

The tax on profits contained in the bill passed this session amounts to 6 per cent on net income between 10 and 15 per cent of the declared value of the capital stock, and 12 per cent on net income in excess of 15 per cent of the declared value of capital stock, plus the 10 per cent supertax added to all net income levies, as provided for national defense in the revenue act of 1940.

May Follow Old Law.

Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee, expressed the opinion that the new bill will combine features of the war profits and excess profits tax legislation, such as was stricken from the revenue act of 1940. Harrison expects the new measure to be introduced within a week.

A conference this morning at the treasury reached no decision on the final form of the bill, or how much money will be raised, Harrison said. Since such taxes were debated recently on the floor of the senate, Harrison does not believe that lengthy hearings on the bill will be necessary.

Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, said the measure probably will contain more than an excess profits tax. The general opinion among officials is that it will follow the lines of the old war-time excess profits tax.

That tax was the same as proposed by Senator Robert M. La Follette [P., Wis.] and eliminated from the recent revenue measure as finally enacted. The tax was in effect from 1919 until Jan. 1, 1922, when it was repealed.

[Levies effective under the previous excess profits tax law will be found in an article on page 5.]

BRIBERY AGENT UNFOLDS INSIDE JURY FIX STORY

3-Time Convict on Stand in Trial.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

(Picture on page 2.)

A strange story of alleged jury fixing and of the fixer's doublecross of one of his "clients" was told in detail yesterday before Judge James Fardy in the Criminal court. The inside story of the alleged jury bribery was told by Marvin Olson, three-time convict, and Mrs. Lillian Conners, 7833 Evans avenue, a member of the jury in question. It was heard during the jury trial of four persons charged with bribery and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Marvin Olson.

Accused in connection with the acquittal last December of Sam Orlando and Joseph Vinci, charged with election fraud, the four are George M. Crane, attorney; James Creed, former personal bailiff to Judge Joseph Graber and now superintendent of city dumps; John Howe, discharged state policeman, and Orlando, a Democratic precinct captain in the 11th ward.

Woman Friend on Jury.

Olson's story unfolded under questioning by Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright. Olson testified he became interested in the Vinci case when a woman friend, Mrs. Martha Aumond, was chosen as a member of the jury.

"On Dec. 8, the day testimony was to start, I talked to Bailiff Creed outside the courtroom," Olson testified. "I told him a lady friend of mine was on the jury and he asked if she would stand up and go along with the defense. He said it was a pretty tough case for the defense."

That night he met Mrs. Aumond and Mrs. Conners in a tavern, he continued. Afterward, he visited Creed at 18th ward Democratic headquarters and was told the defense was prepared to spend $1,000 on the jury.

Mentions the Syndicate.

"After that I went back to the tavern and told the women," Olson went on. "Mrs. Conners asked if, by money, I meant a $5 bill. I said no. The women both said they needed money and would go along."

During the days that followed, Olson asserted, Creed appeared anxious and requested repeated reassurances that the women would not back out. On Dec. 11, the bailiff told him that the syndicate was assisting the defense. Olson told prosecutors he inferred the Capone syndicate was meant.

The witness then testified that on Dec. 13 he, Attorney Crane, and the two women met in a saloon at 79th street and Cottage Grove avenue. With the trial at its height, Olson said, he warned Crane it was dangerous for attorneys to meet jurors in public places.

Tells of Saloon Meeting.

"But Crane came into the tavern and bought a drink," the testimony continued. "He said the case was red hot and that it meant a lot to him to win it. He told me to tell the women they would get $100 apiece. He said Jimmy Creed would take care of me thru the organization.

"He gave me $50 and told me to give it to Mrs. Conners for her services in a gambling case the week before. Crane also gave me $20 and told me to entertain the women."

Olson testified he then took the women on a tour of cabarets and succeeded in stealing from Mrs. Conners the $50 he had given her previously.

Preceded by Woman Juror.

The witness, whose criminal career began when he was a boy, served two of his three prison terms for robbery. He was preceded on the stand by Mrs. Conners.

She testified she had known Attorney Crane since he defended her six years ago in a fraud case in which she pleaded guilty and was given probation. When seated as a juror in the Orlando-Vinci case she did not disclose her previous relationship with Crane, she stated. Her story was similar in many respects to Olson's.

Mrs. Aumond is expected to testify today after Olson has been cross-examined by William Scott Stewart, Harold Levy, and Charles Bellows, defense attorneys.

Tons of Army TNT Reported Sold to Britain

Gallup, N. M., July 1 [Special].—Shipment of 8,500,000 pounds of TNT, stored since the world war in the United States ordnance depot at Fort Wingate just east of here, has been made within the last 10 days over the Santa Fe railway.

While secrecy surrounded the movement, it was learned that 132 carloads of the explosive were shipped, and it is believed the destination was New Orleans, La. The shipments were believed to be destined for trans-shipment to England. They were completed without mishap. It is understood that a commercial agency took over the explosive from the government.

One of Largest Depots.

The Fort Wingate ordnance depot is one of the two largest in the United States. It was established by the war department for safe storage of huge quantities of explosives left over after the world war.

Storage of the explosives is made in small units scattered over a large area in the military reservation to lessen danger, and there have never been any accidents in that connection.

[In Washington, D. C., the war department refused to discuss the report and the state department denied knowing anything about it.]

Guard New Orleans Port.

New Orleans, La., July 1 (AP).—Extraordinary precautionary regulations virtually closing the great, miles-long port of New Orleans to all except those with special written permission went into effect today, and 50 guards were assigned to the port to enforce the orders.

The precautions were decreed by the port commission last year, but had not been enforced. Dock board officials explained that the danger of fifth columnists and possible saboteurs now had reached the point that enforcement had become necessary.

Picture Taking Forbidden.

Hereafter, no one will be allowed along the wharves and docks of the second largest port in the United States without special written permission, to be granted only for cause. The Canal street plaza and wharf, location of the principal ferry crossing of the Mississippi river, is the only exception.

All photographing of cargo or ships in loading berths is banned, and no small craft will be permitted to operate within 200 feet of the public docks.

CHANGING A DIAPER SENDS A FATHER TO HOSPITAL FOR A DAY

George Lundgren, 29 years old, was recovering yesterday in St. Luke's hospital from putting a diaper on his daughter Florence Jane, 1 year old.

Lundgren, who lives at 730 New York street, Aurora, was holding an open safety pin in his mouth as he worked at his task Sunday morning. When the infant began squirming he cooed, fatherlike, to comfort her. The coo, however, was inbound rather than outbound, and the pin shot into his mouth and down his throat.

When Lundgren couldn't remove it he phoned an Aurora physician, who took him to St. Luke's. There an expert from the Illinois Research hospital removed the inch-long pin in an operation that took about three minutes. Lundgren will leave the hospital today.

Jailed for Doing as He Pleases with His Money

New York, July 1 [Special].—At 2:30 p. m. today in a restaurant in West 42d street, the air suddenly was filled with dollar bills, bank books, and certified checks. Walter Hamrick, 49 years old, just got fed up with having $5,000 savings and decided to chuck the whole thing—into the air. Magistrate Harry G. Andrews sent him to jail for a day "for your own protection."

Electra (He's an Eel) Sends Mrs. Roosevelt a Message

New York, July 1 (AP).—Electra, the powerful electric eel of the New York Zoölogical Society building at the world's fair, sent a telegram today to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Electrical energy given off by Electra was picked up by an electronic switch which in turn operated a telegraph transmitter.

Windsors Leave Madrid; Plan Air Trip to England

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 1.—Reports reaching London tonight from Madrid announced that the duke and duchess of Windsor left the Spanish capital by auto today bound for Lisbon, Portugal, from where they propose to fly to England.

British Warships on Guard Over French West Indies

SAN JUAN, July 1 (AP).—Reports reaching Puerto Rico from the islands of Martinique and Guadeloupe indicated tonight that British warships are remaining at Fort de France, capital of the French West Indies colony.

Pick Admiral to Head 'Free French' Navy

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—The story of a French vice admiral's spectacular flight with a warship and all the men he could rally in the face of the advancing Germans was revealed here today by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, head of the French national committee to continue the war. The French general announced that the naval officer's defiance now has been climaxed by his appointment as commander of "all free French naval forces."

Vice Admiral Muselier.

The new commander is Vice Admiral Emile Muselier, formerly in charge of government munitions factories in Bordeaux.

Muselier was in Bordeaux when news of the impending French armistice with Germany reached him. He went into action at once. He raced to Paris and, altho he arrived almost at the same time German troops occupied the city, he managed to destroy several secret plans in one of the national defense factories.

Escapes to Marseilles.

Then he escaped to Marseilles, where he rallied all the men possible, took over a French warship, and sailed to Gibraltar. The British brought him to London by plane.

Following his appointment today he issued an order of the day releasing French sailors from the obligation to follow the terms of the French government's armistice with Berlin and Rome.

"I order French warships and French merchant ships to assemble without delay at free, French, or allied bases nearest to them with a view to immediate operations against the enemy," the order continued.

Muselier's command, De Gaulle asserted, already includes several ships and air groups.

French Planes at Gibraltar.

CADIZ, Spain, July 1 (AP).—Nine French airplanes, flown by army aviators at odds with the government of Marshal Petain, were reported today to have landed at Gibraltar.

France Starts Refugees on Trek to Homes

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France, July 1.—The first serious steps were taken today by Marshal Henri Petain's government to start the 10,000,000 refugees in southern France back northward to their homes. The government established itself here yesterday.

Gasoline is getting scarcer, and because most of the refugees came in cars the problem is difficult. Issuance of gas practically has been stopped to all but public services. Many cars stand along the roads, without fuel.

Great efforts are being made to restore train service. Yesterday when the first train left Clermont-Ferrand for Paris it had 20 coaches packed with returning refugees.

In Noted Rubber Town.

The government is seated in France's noted rubber manufacturing town where centuries ago Vercingetorix made his desperate last stand against Caesar's legions. A long dusty caravan moved the government here from Bordeaux on a 250 mile trek from the banks of the Gironde river, which along with a 50 mile stretch of territory running north from the Pyrenees now is strongly occupied by German forces.

Clermont-Ferrand was in the hands of the Germans until Saturday morning. Even yesterday stray German officers were seen.

Still a Bit Dazed.

The long convoy of government cars passed thru Libourne, Periguex, and Tulle, arriving here over roads partly policed by the Germans. Sometimes they encountered German detachments going south to occupy French territory which has not seen foreign invaders since the Hundred Years' war with England and the days of the Black Prince.

Hundreds of persons packed the streets to watch the cabinet ministers who are established in buildings here and in the neighboring towns of Royat and Montferrand. The people still seem to be dazed by what has happened, even tho this city was occupied by the Germans for more than a week. The people say the Germans were courteous and correct in their conduct. In many places the Germans have enforced discipline and regulated prices.

Tells of Heavy Fighting.

Heavy fighting took place at a number of places north of here, but apart from a few bridges which are down the region suffered little damage.

This correspondent reached Clermont-Ferrand a few hours ahead of the government over the same road, passing many German detachments which offered no obstacle to travel. We passed at least 200 trucks and autos which had been smashed in collisions and accidents. The towns along the road are jammed with refugees, but still have plenty of food, which, however, is strictly rationed.

BRITAIN CALLS IN KEYNES TO GIVE TREASURY HELP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 1.—John Maynard Keynes, economist and author of the pamphlet, "How to Pay for the War," which caused a violent controversy in press and government circles, today was called in by Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood for help and advice. Keynes was appointed as a member of the treasury consultative council.

He has been urging a plan for forced savings now and a capital levy after this war on the fortunes of the rich. It has been greeted with derision by orthodox financiers and economists, as well as industrialists and even trades unions.

DELIVERY NOW SEEN AS MOVE TO HALT SOVIET

Magyar and Bulgar Attacks Bared.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 2, Tuesday (AP).—A large fleet of German built bombing planes arrived last night at Brasov military airport, strengthening belief in diplomatic quarters that Germany is backing Rumania in its stand to prevent Russia from making further advances.

The number of bombers reaching Brasov was not disclosed. Military observers said they were planes which had been purchased by Rumania, but delivery at this time was held to be highly significant.

The arrival of the planes in the center of Rumenia, at a corner of old Transylvania, also reinforced the belief that Germany feels assured of success in its attempt to bring a peaceful settlement of Hungarian and Bulgarian territorial claims on Rumania.

Aim to Halt Red Advance.

Hungary claims Transylvania and Bulgaria wants the return of southern Dobruja.

The possibility was seen that these two nations would coöperate in halting the Russian advance and in combating the spread of communist influences in southeastern Europe. Bucharest was under ominous tension. Guards were redoubled around public buildings and the royal palace. Defense squads appeared with full equipment.

The government redoubled its defense preparations in Dobruja and Transylvania in fear of imminent Hungarian and Bulgarian attacks if German pacification efforts should fail.

Reports Twin Attacks.

Incidents on the Hungarian and Bulgarian borders were held in some official circles to be forms of pressure intended to force Rumania to accept less attractive terms in mediation.

[Hungary, which was placed on a war footing yesterday, filed a protest in Bucharest concerning the incidents, warning of a "possible unpleasant consequence." The Hungarian protest asserted the Rumanians have penetrated into Hungary at Visk. It also was reported that three Hungarian civilians were killed by Rumanian troops.]

A confidential Rumanian diplomatic report issued Monday night said that apparently concerted Hungarian and Bulgarian attacks against Rumanian frontier posts occurred simultaneously Sunday night and Monday morning. The scenes of the attacks were not divulged.

The report said a number of frontier outposts were attacked with rifles, machine guns, and even artillery, and there were a number of casualties on both sides.

Attack Dobruja Army Posts.

During the same hours the Bulgarians were said to have attacked three Rumanian posts on the Dobruja frontier, where a number of casualties resulted.

The German bombing planes reached Brasov a few hours after the Rumanian cabinet had thrown out the old British and French guarantees of Rumanian territorial integrity and decided that Rumania hence forth must follow "the new orientations of Europe." Some diplomatic quarters interpreted this as strengthening the possibility that King Carol has a good chance of getting German guarantees against further soviet encroachments.

German Influence Gains.

The renunciation of British and French guarantees, given April 13, 1939, moved this Balkan country further under the German political wing and ended a quarter century of close association with the western powers. Several days ago Rumania took political and economic steps in line with Nazi policy generally.

[Well informed London circles described as "a curious gesture" the renunciation of a guarantee of Rumanian territorial integrity. "Rumania did not ask for the guarantee," these sources said. "It was given by Britain unilaterally, and if Britain wished to carry out her promise she would do so despite such a renunciation."]

The spike capped Russian troops who are taking over the provinces of Bessarabia and northern Bukovina, which Rumania reluctantly ceded to escape war, continued to arrive in increasing numbers in the wake of the retreating Rumanians.

[Tass, official soviet news agency, said in Moscow that the occupation is now complete. A radio report picked up in London from Lausanne, Switzerland, said Russian warships had entered Rumanian waters.]

More Red troops were landed from planes by parachute. Baby tanks landed by planes were lined up along the lower Danube. Their guns dominated this important water link between Germany and the east.

Further clashes were reported between Rumanian and Russian troops in the ceded provinces. At Herta a soviet tank opened fire on a Rumanian detachment, killing the commander, one lieutenant, two noncommissioned officers, and four soldiers, it was reported. Wounded Rumanian troops poured into Bucharest.

The cabinet fixed tomorrow [July 3] as a day of national mourning for Bessarabia and Bukovina.

Red Troops Withdraw.

JASSY, Rumania, July 1 (AP).—Red army withdrawal from positions over the Prut river into old Rumania was reported tonight in this heavily armed, refugee jammed provincial capital at the edge of soviet occupied Bessarabia.

Soviet sources had said the overstepping of the limits of ceded Bessarabia and northern Bukovina was only a misunderstanding, but it stirred fears in the Balkans that the Red tide might sweep on thru southeastern Europe.

The army of occupation still commands bridges across the Prut, but many of these are mined on the Rumanian side. Rumanian troops stand ready to enforce their claim to the southwest bank.

CHICAGO BUYERS SHOULDER ARMS (TAX) FOR NATION

Consumers began to pay the new federal "defense taxes" yesterday and, in many cases, additional increases which retailers said comprise overhead and profit on their increased investment in stock. Leading items carrying the new taxes showed the following typical price boosts:

Cigarets: From 14 cents to 15 cents; two packages from 27 to 28 cents; 15 cent brands from 15 to 16 cents; cartons from $1.29 to $1.35.

Liquor: Whisky from $2.45 to $2.85 a quart. The actual tax is 18.8 cents more per quart but price increases usually were about 40 cents. Many bars were charging 5 cents more for some whisky drinks. Beer prices were unchanged, with brewers absorbing the extra $1 a barrel tax.

Movies: [new tax starts at 21 cents] From 25 to 28 cents, from 30 to 33 cents; from 35 to 39 cents; from 40 to 44 cents.

Other tax increases are: Automobiles, from 3 to 3¼ per cent; radios, from 5 to 5½ per cent; toilet preparations, from 10 to 11 per cent; gasoline, 1 to 1½ cents per gallon; lubricating oil, 4 to 4½ cents a gallon.

WHEELER FEARS ACT THAT MIGHT BRING ON A WAR

A warning that the President, as commander of the army and navy, could bring about a provocative act that might force congress to declare war, was given last night by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], speaking in the Evanston Township High school at a meeting sponsored by the north shore let's keep out of war citizens' committee.

Senator Wheeler said congress has stayed on the job to see that the executive department does nothing to get us into war, "and they're going to stay there."

He added that the belief that America must get into the war was a "defeatist attitude," and said that this country is the final outpost of civilization and Christianity.

HOUSE PASSES BILL AFFECTING BUND AND REDS

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—The house passed without debate and sent to the senate today legislation which the judiciary committee said would subject the communist party and the German-American bund to registration with and close scrutiny by the justice department.

The measure would require the registration of organizations subject to foreign control which engage in political activity; organizations which engage both in civilian military activity and in political activity; organizations subject to foreign control which engage in civilian military activity, and organizations any of whose purpose or aim is the establishment, control, conduct, seizure, or overthrow of a government by the use of force, violence, military measures, or threats.

HUNGARY ON WAR FOOTING; ARMY MOVES TO STRIKE

Troops Await Order to Enter Transylvania.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 1 (AP).—Hungary was on a war footing tonight and the dispatch of troops into Transylvania—which Hungary lost to Rumania in 1918—was expected momentarily.

Excitement was whipped to fever pitch when the government, protesting to Bucharest against incidents on the Hungarian - Rumanian frontier, warned Rumania of "unpleasant consequences" and called up more troops.

Officialdom reemphasized the "mission" of thousand year old Hungary as an outpost against attacks from the east.

"For centuries," said foreign office document, "Hungary has fought and bled for the western Latin culture."

See Rumanian Collapse.

Officials let it be known that Rumania—which has just surrendered part of its territory to the Red army—appeared to be "on the threshold of collapse."

Responsible quarters said Germany and Italy still were striving to maintain peace in southeastern Europe, but the feeling was widespread that military action was imminent.

General mobilization was believed near after an "incident" on the frontier, in which three civilians were reported killed. Officials also reported civilians were shot at by Rumanian troops in Fekete-Gyabarat, south of Ant.

The foreign office admitted Hungary is "preparing for all eventualities."

Official reports alleged Rumanian troops had penetrated Hungarian territory at Visk, but were driven back after an exchange of shots. Immediate quickening of military preparations followed.

Corps Advances to Border.

Reservists flocked to mobilization centers. A full army corps was advancing toward the Rumanian border, officials confirmed.

Restrictions were placed on the sale of alcoholic drinks and on railway travel, because of "unforeseen technical reasons." Tomorrow Budapest's buses will be off the streets, apparently because they are needed for troop transport.

In its reports from Transylvania [half Hungarian in population, according to Budapest] the semiofficial Hungarian news agency spoke of urgently needed protection for Magyars. Thousands of Hungarian-born Rumanian soldiers in Transylvania are refusing to fight for Rumania, the dispatches added, and the number of deserters was growing hourly.

Red Invasion Stirs Alarm.

The government has reiterated often that a Rumanian collapse would call for immediate entry of the Hungarian army into Transylvania to protect the Magyar minority of 2,000,000.

It was no secret here that the Russian army's overstepping of the line of demarcation fixed in the Moscow ultimatum to Rumania is causing considerable worry for Hungarian officials as well as their German and Italian friends.

In official circles it long has been emphasized that Hungary would be forced to seize the Carpathian mountain barrier in Transylvania for "self-protection" should the Red army persist in advancing towards the Danube basin. Support of the Rome-Berlin axis was claimed in this plan.

The official Hungarian news agency said the Russians already have gone beyond the agreed limits.

The agency declared "impossible confusion" from the increasing number of refugees endangers the safety of Magyars.

EASY FOR PLANES TO CARRY TANKS, EXPERTS ASSERT

Can Be Lashed to Racks Used for Bombs.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Military experts, surmising on how the Russians were able to land tanks in Rumania by airplane, said today it would be easy to carry light tanks under the fuselage of ordinary large planes or to lash them to bomb containers of bombing ships.

They recalled that commercial planes had carried automobiles in this manner in the United States as a stunt. Tanks carried in this way, however, would lower a plane's center of gravity and offer considerable air resistance.

Dispatches from Bucharest said the tanks were suspended between the wheels of big transport ships.

Planes Can Lift 10 Tons.

The military men said that giant bombers could carry as much as five to 10 tons of bombs and that they would have no difficulty lifting tanks of similar weight. They suggested that the operation was easier for the Russians if they had specially designed planes, but expressed the opinion that even if they did not it was possible to get light tanks of five or seven tons well up into the bomb bays, where they would not interfere with take-offs or landings.

The United States army air corps has made no attempt to carry tanks by plane, officials said.

The 350 tanks now owned by the United States army range from 10 to 20 tons and are classed as light and medium. The army has taken steps to procure 900 more light and medium tanks and has an additional $75,000,000 available for further orders.

May Get 30 Ton Tanks.

Officials said that light tanks cost about $25,000 each and medium ones about $45,000. How many will be obtained with the additional funds depends to some extent on the army's decision as to how large tanks should be.

Some experts said 30 ton tanks probably would be ordered, but that road and bridge difficulties made it unlikely that this country would match the 80 ton monsters reported to have operated in Europe.

GERMAN POSITION DANGEROUS, SAYS BRITISH OFFICIAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 1.—Richard Butler, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, tonight spoke optimistically of England's war prospects in a special conference with American correspondents.

He gave figures which show, he said, that Britain's foreign trade continues in normal volume despite the war. Far from mentioning a possible blockade of England by its enemies, he predicted that the British blockade of Germany will remain "100 per cent efficient." He said Britain would not think of cutting off the Burma road which is supplying Gen. Chiang Kai-shek in China's war.

Butler denied that Britain contemplated starting peace negotiations, and even cited what he termed the dangers of Germany's position. If Germany attacks in the west, it must face the power of Britain and an increasing world struggle, Butler declared. If it advances in the east it will find itself in a wasteful and costly entanglement with Russia, and if the Germans do not advance they must submit to the British blockade, he declared.

This may be the moment, Butler concluded, for Germany to initiate peace proposals.

NAZI SOLDIERS SEIZE FIRST BIT OF ENGLISH SOIL

Make History with Grab of Channel Isles.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 1.—England's channel islands of Jersey and Guernsey have been seized, the Germans announced today. This is the first time in history that German soldiers have set foot on English soil as conquerors. The islands are small, but the Germans see in the occupation a good omen for the offensive against England that they expect "in the nearest future."

The two islands lie like stepping stones between the French coast, now in German hands, and Britain. They are closer to France than to Britain.

The high command said Guernsey was occupied on Sunday and Jersey today, and hinted that troops had been landed on both islands by airplanes.

British Admit Isles' Loss.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—The ministry of information tonight stated:

"As has already been announced, the Channel Islands have been demilitarized. It is now learned that enemy landings have been made on Jersey and Guernsey. Telegraphic and telephonic communications have been cut and no further information is at present available."

British officials had said the position of the islands, with the French coast in German hands, made them virtually indefensible.

HOMES OF FAMED CATTLE.

Guernsey and Jersey, little Channel Islands occupied by the Germans, have given their names to world famous breeds of dairy cattle.

They are in a group that lies in a shallow, rectangular bay formed by the west coast of Manche department and the north coast of Brittany, France.

Other principal islands of the group are Alderney, also the home of a famous strain of cattle, and Sark. An indication that they, too, may have been occupied was seen in a Western Union announcement that telegraphic communication with them had been cut.

American Is King.

Sark has been ruled by an American-born king, Bob Hathaway. He became the sovereign, or seigneur, when in 1930 he married the widowed Mrs. Sibyl Collings Beaumont, whose ancestors had ruled the islands since 1852 under a grant issued in 1565. Hathaway's kingdom is 3½ miles long and 1½ miles wide, and an army of 40 guards it. Hathaway, 53 years old, is a native of East Orange, N. J., and was educated at Yale.

Herd Books Jealously Guarded.

On the islands a race of hardy farmer-fishermen has lived for centuries, tilling their rocky fields under a Norman system of land tenure and jealously guarding the herd books of their famous cattle.

No cattle from abroad are permitted to come alive into Jersey or Guernsey. Jersey cattle may not be brought alive into Guernsey. Guernsey cattle are prohibited from Jersey. The rule applies to the Alderney strain.

War from the air hit the islands last Friday night, 29 persons being killed by bombing and machine gunning German planes.

Many of the valuable Guernsey and Jersey herds were shipped to England, along with everything of food value the Germans might seize.

The total population of the islands is about 150,000, and their total area is about 75 square miles. The official language is French.

YANK USES NAZI ARMY TO GET OUT OF TOUGH SPOTS

BILBAO, Spain, July 1 (AP).—Karl M. Richards, a native of Salt Lake City, Utah, and an employé of the United States treasury department in Paris, depends on the German army itself to get him out of tough spots.

Richards was one of five Americans trapped at Calais, but assisted thru German lines and safely to Switzerland by German officers. Then Richards went to Paris, but managed to leave before the Germans arrived. The Nazis caught up with him at Bordeaux, however, and helped him out of there. But he encountered a gasoline shortage at Biarritz because all of the gasoline had been requisitioned. When attendants at a gas station refused to sell him gas Richards appealed to a German commander, who ordered the tank filled up, and then refused any money for the gas, saying, "This is on the German army."

Richards is one of 18 United States treasury men to cross the border in the last few days.

MEXICAN ARMY HOLDS A TRUMP CARD IN POLITICS

Rivals for President Woo Soldiers.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, July 1.—Mexico's army, as in the past, appears to hold trump cards in the presidential election to be held next Sunday. A stronger fighting unit than ever before, it also is the nation's most patent political factor and can swing the election either for President Lazaro Cardenas' radicals or for the conservatives massed against him.

Neither side can win, in fact, without army support. Cardenas and his leftist candidate, Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, must have the army with them even tho they may win at the polls. For they might face a revolt to prevent continuation of their socialistic policies.

On the other hand Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, the nominee of the nation's allied conservative groups, also has great need of army support. For without the army he cannot hope to be declared the winner in the election, even tho his followers roll up a commanding lead in votes for him.

Controls Counting of Votes.

The reason: President Cardenas and the latter's powerful Mexican revolutionary party have final and absolute control of the nation's election machinery and of the official counting of votes. Thus, as Almazan already charges, the Mexican Revolutionary party may be able to "impose" its candidate on the country.

Both sides have been wooing the military group. At the moment Cardenas and Camacho appear to have the inside track. Cardenas, himself a former general, has placed his most loyal supporters in the army's key posts.

Gen. Camacho, too, has had a long army career. He resigned as war minister in Cardenas' cabinet a year ago to run for office and still has much personal influence in army circles.

The army's loyalty is claimed by Gen. Almazan. He is the army's senior general and one of the most popular officers with the troops. He has a long record as a fighter and is a tough soldier's soldier, a "man on horseback" of the type that always has appealed to Mexicans.

Says Army Backs Camacho.

Gen. Juan Felipe Rico, chief of staff of the army, is one of Cardenas' most loyal followers. Gen. Rico has said that the army will "obey the will of the people in the election by staying loyal to whatever government is seated in Mexico City." This is equivalent to saying that the army is behind Cardenas and Camacho.

The particular turn of phrase was used, according to observers, because Almazanistas [Almazan supporters] have been threatening that if they lose the election they will set up a rump government at Monterrey. This is the capital of the wealthy Neuvo Leon military zone that has been commanded by Almazan for years.

The Almazanistas say that in case they are convinced Camacho has been "imposed" on the country, they will declare their own government the legal one.

Many Favor Almazan.

Despite Gen. Rico's loyalty to Cardenas there are many officers and men in the army who would like to see Almazan win. Many army officers as well as private citizens look with disfavor upon Cardenas' agrarian program, the expropriation of the railroads and mines, and the latitude given by the president to rampant labor leaders.

They favor Almazan's pleas for "saner" applications of the ideals of the 1910 revolution which overthrew Porfirio Diaz who had held the presidency of the republic for more than 30 years. They also like Almazan's promises that he would, as president, settle the oil expropriation and rail expropriation problems in such a way that foreign capital again would be attracted to Mexico.

Much of Almazan's popularity arises from reforms he instituted while commanding the Neuvo Leon district. At Monterrey he developed what is generally regarded as Mexico's model military garrison.

Built Modern Barracks.

With his troops he built modern barracks, created coöperative societies thru which enlisted men were able to purchase foods and supplies at low prices—there is no commissary corps in the Mexican army—and fostered advanced educational and social programs.

Cardenas and Gen. Rico for six years have been working to mould the army into a unit that is primarily military.

In the old days Mexico's soldiers blindly followed their leaders—Carranza, Villa, Calles, Obregon, Huerta—most of the great revolutionary figures. This is the precedent Cardenas and Rico have been trying to break down.

TWO TOWS BRING LAKE NAVIGATOR SAFELY TO PORT

Oren W. Winters, head of a motor transport company, always wanted a boat. He got her Sunday and set sail from Muskegon, Mich., for Burnham park harbor, accompanied by six friends. Winters doesn't know much about boats, but he had a new captain's hat.

Came 5 a. m., an hour before they had expected to dock, and they ran out of gas. Five hours later they still wer drifting when the Joseph P. Block, a lake freighter, arrived. It was with some surprise that the folks on the Beverly III., Winters' 32 foot cabin cruiser, learned they were 18 miles off Waukegan. They thought the smudge of land they saw was Chicago.

The freighter towed them to Indiana Harbor and a coast guard boat under Archie La Rue, chief boatswain's mate, towed them to Burnham park. They arrived at 6 p. m. Winters, who lives at 5135 Kenwood avenue, says it was a nice trip, albeit, a little zigzag.

NAZI BOMBERS BLAST HOUSES IN SCOTTISH TOWN

British Deny Any German Parachutists Land.

LONDON, July 2, Tuesday (AP).—Twilight and midnight raids by German bombers killed 12 persons and injured at least 22 in Scotland, Wales, and southwestern England, but the ministry of home security declared today that damage to military objectives was slight.

The heaviest toll was in northeastern Scotland, where a high explosive bomb shattered a row of houses. Bombs dropped in the Bristol channel area between Wales and southwestern England, injured four persons, but did little material damage.

British antiaircraft fire and pursuit planes downed two bombers and drove others back to sea.

Three explosions were heard in another raid over northeast England, but no planes were seen or heard by the residents, indicating they flew at great height.

Act to Foil Parachutist Landings.

Yesterday the British ministry of information announced:

"Reports that German troops have landed on the British coast by parachute are untrue."

Informed sources earlier had said the sporadic, nightly bombing raids might be a cloak for the landing of advance parachutists and that precautions have been taken to foil such a plan.

Reporting on the German raids yesterday and last night on the coasts of Scotland, England, and Wales, the air ministry said that two men died of shock during a bombing raid on Wales. Most of the raids were beaten off with little damage, the air ministry said. One German bomber was sent crashing into the sea off northeast England.

Meet Strong Defenses.

German raiders met heavy defensive fire from fighter planes and antiaircraft batteries. Some fires were started by incendiary bombs in eastern Scotland.

The Germans made their first daylight attack on a southwest coastal town yesterday, it was reported, but the three planes in the Nazi formation were driven away after five bombs were dropped.

British bombers hit oil storage tanks at Hamburg "and left them burning" in further raids on military objectives in Germany Sunday night, the air ministry announced. A communique said in part:

"In the Darmstadt area several targets were attacked, causing fire and explosions. Railroad switching yards at Osnabruck and Hamm were again bombed and large fires resulted.

"At the railway junction at Duilmen, east of Wesel, an explosion followed the release of a salvo of bombs.

"The airdromes on the Isle of Norderney and those at Huntlosen [west of Bremen] and Dortmund were also attacked.

"All our aircraft returned safely."

Air Action Over France.

British planes shot down five German Messerschmitt planes over France yesterday and "probably" destroyed another seven, it was officially reported.

A British colonial air fleet of 40 heavy bombers "capable of dropping 100 tons of high explosives on Germany every day" and 160 Spitfire fighters is now ready to take the air. An official statement said the fleet was built with funds subscribed in the colonies and will be manned by colonial commanders, pilots, and gunners.

Heavy Raid on Rotterdam.

BERLIN, July 1 (AP).—British air attacks over the Netherlands last night were particularly heavy, DNB, the official German news agency said tonight. Nonmilitary objectives bore the brunt, DNB declared in announcing 13 persons were killed and many injured.

The agency said Rotterdam harbor presumably was the object of the attack but many explosives struck recently rebuilt dwellings.

Foreign newspaper men are being taken to Muenster and northern parts of the Rhineland to view private houses which the Germans assert were destroyed by British bombs.

The German radio announced that 23 British planes were shot down in air fights yesterday over France, Germany, and England, while only one German plane was reported missing. The Germans claimed they successfully bombed ports on Scotland's eastern and the English eastern and western coasts.

A British cruiser of the Orion class was reported sunk near Brest, France. Ships of this type are 7,215 ton warships normally carrying 550 men. Two of them are the Ajax and the Achilles, which fought the German pocket battleship Graf Spee off Uruguay.

70 Drown, 10 Missing When Jap Motorboat Capsizes

ENGLAND WARNS FOES SHE WILL PROTECT SYRIA

Explains Stand as French End Hostilities.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 1.—The British government today warned Germany and Italy not to attempt to use French mandated Syria as a base of operations. Any move to set up a base for an attack in any near east country to which Britain has promised protection, it said, will be met by any measure considered necessary.

The statement evidently refers to Iraq, Transjordan, Palestine, and Egypt, which the British have promised to aid. England also has given Turkey a provisional pledge of assistance. Iraq, because of its rich oilfields, is considered a possible objective of Italo-German military action in that area. The danger of attack toward Mosul, which might deprive the British fleet of vast oil reserves and endanger supplies in the Persian gulf, is viewed as real.

Fear Italian Flanking Move.

Italy's reported plans to drive from Libya across Egypt seem not to be materializing on the scale anticipated, and the possibility that an attempt may be made to land forces in Syria, thus outflanking the British troops in Palestine, must be reckoned with.

Britain's warning statement, issued thru the foreign news department of the foreign office, follows:

"His majesty's government in the United Kingdom understand that Gen. Mittelhauser, the commander in chief of the French forces in the Levant, has stated that hostilities have ceased in Syria.

Fight by French Possible.

"His majesty's government assume that this does not mean that if Germany or Italy sought to occupy Syria or the Lebanon and were to try to do so in the face of British command of the sea, no attempt would be made by the French forces to oppose them.

"In order, however, to set at rest doubts which may be felt in any quarter, his majesty's government declare that they could not allow Syria or the Lebanon to be occupied by any hostile power, or to be used as a base for attacks upon those countries in the middle east [near east] which they are pledged to defend, or to become the scene of such disorder as to constitute a danger to those countries.

Respects French Rights.

"They, therefore, hold themselves free to take whatever measures they may in such circumstances consider necessary in their own interests. Any action which they may hereafter be obliged to take in fulfilment of this declaration will be entirely without prejudice to the future status of the territories now under French mandate."

Assassins Kill Pro-Chinese News Director in Shanghai

SHANGHAI, July 1 (AP).—Unidentified assassins shot and killed Shao Shu-pei, director of the Ta Kwang news agency in Shanghai's French concession tonight. The agency supports the Chinese government at Chungking. At Tientsin two allegedly pro-Japanese Chinese were shot fatally in the British concession. The killings there resulted in a renewed campaign by the Japanese controled Tientsin press for elimination of that city's foreign areas.

Australia Builds Warships at Top Speed for Britain

Conducted by County

Camp Reinberg, near Palatine, yesterday welcomed its first company of vacationers — 350 underprivileged children and mothers from Chicago and Cook county. Last summer, operating in six periods, the camp provided 10 day outings for 2,229 persons. The North Western railway each year gives the Reinberg vacationers free transportation. The camp is conducted by the county bureau of public welfare.

SEE U. S. BACKING FAR EAST POLICY; FLEET IN HAWAII

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Return of the main body of the United States fleet to Hawaii gave physical support today to a belief held in informed quarters that the administration was standing pat on its announced policy against any change in the status quo in the far east.

In these circles the week's mystery cruise of the fleet was linked with formulation of the "Asiatic Monroe doctrine" announced Saturday by Japanese Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita. It coincided, too, with increasing concern over the possibility of a Japanese thrust into French Indo-China or other European possessions in the far east.

During the fleet's absence from Hawaii officials were silent on far eastern policy. Reports that it was headed for the Panama canal caused speculation that the United States might be altering its policy in favor of the status quo in the orient in order to meet possible dangers in the western hemisphere.

RUSSIA SEEKS HUGE LOAN TO PAY FOR ARMS

MOSCOW, July 1 (AP).—The Russian government announced today it would issue a 20-year, 4 per cent 3,000,000,000 ruble loan, part of which will be used for defense costs.

Tass, official soviet Russian news agency, said the loan was approved to "attract the savings of the population for the purposes of economic and cultural development under the third five-year-plan . . . and for the consolidation of the defense of the country."

Nominally, the ruble has a value of 19 cents in foreign trade, but special conditions pertaining to its purchase power make accurate conversions into dollars impossible.

BRITISH GIRL, 25, GETS TERM FOR CHUTIST RUMOR

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—Maureen Jacques, 25 years old, a member of the women's auxiliary air force employed as a telephone operator, was sent to jail for three months today for repeating a rumor that parachutists had landed in an English town.

Louisa Ingram, 42 year old German wife of a Royal Air Force sergeant, pleaded innocent today to charges of spying for Germany, but told the court she would like to see Germany win the war. William Swift, an employé in the Portsmouth naval dockyard, and Archibald Watts, district leader of the Fascist British Union, accused with her of "fifth column" activities for Germany, also pleaded innocent.

Asked by the prosecutor whether she was "anxious for Germany to be successful in the war," Mrs. Ingram, a domestic in a naval officer's home, said she "would not like to see anything happen to England," but admitted she would like to see Germany victorious, and said Adolf Hitler "has done much for Germany."

TURKISH TROOPS SHIFT RAPIDLY; EYE BULGARIANS

Prepare for New Trouble in the Balkans.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALEPPO, Syria, July 1.—Turkey is shifting troops rapidly in order to be prepared for any trouble in the Balkans as she waits to see whether Hungary and Bulgaria will try to follow the Russian lead and continue the dismemberment of Rumania.

An unconfirmed rumor was circulated in Turkey Saturday that 200 Bulgarians were killed in a frontier clash with Turks Friday night.

As I traveled southward thru Anatolia yesterday trainloads of troops and requisitioned farm carts and horses moved north. On Saturday a regiment of cavalry passed thru Ankara and that night a long trainload of soldiers moved thru Ankara westbound.

1,000,000 Under Arms.

Turkey already was reported to have had more than 500,000 men under arms, and nearly half of those were in Thrace. Three recently summoned classes brought the total to about 1,000,000.

The Turkish attitude, as outlined by a prominent Turk Friday, is that the Turks have made all possible efforts to conciliate the Bulgarians, as shown by numerous and publicized visits to Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, but the Bulgarians "want too much from too many neighbors."

The Turks, so they say, want no trouble, but fear a Bulgarian incursion into European Turkey. They admit they are in a tight spot because they are anxious to avoid provoking Russia, even tho they suspect Russia would be behind any offensive by the Bulgarians. But the Turks insist they will not permit any nation to meddle with the area around the Dardanelles, strategic gateway between the Black sea and the Mediterranean.

Bulgaria, it is said, could mobilize a maximum of about 500,000 men, but probably could not equip them properly. Many would be without previous military training. Bulgaria has about 300,000 men ready for use with modern equipment—made in Germany.

100,000 Troops in Peacetime.

In peacetime she has 100,000 well equipped soldiers. Reconstitution of the Bulgarian army dates only from July, 1938. Bulgaria is not an industrial country and cannot make her own equipment. Men between the ages of 17 and 65 can be mobilized, but many would be worthless as soldiers, chiefly because of the lack of arms.

Turkey, with a population of 18,000,000, could mobilize about 2,500,000 men. Bulgaria alone, it is acknowledged, would be no match for her.

That is just what worries the Turks—if Bulgaria moves it means she has powerful backing and none of Turkey's allies is in any position to support her, particularly with the Syrian forces of France observing the armistice.

GREEK TROOPS STAND GUARD WITH BAYONETS ON NORTHERN BORDER

ATHENS, Greece, July 1 (AP).—Greek troops stood guard with bayonets tonight on the northern frontier to back the government's determination that, come what may of revisionist fever in the Balkans, Greece will brook no attempts to cut off eastern Macedonia and Thrace.

The Greek press declared this territory, atop the Aegean sea and across the Rhodope mountains from Bulgaria, an "undetachable part of the fatherland."

The press played up the athletic games being held in Thrace as underlining the "pure Greek" character of these districts, particularly since the exchange of populations with Bulgaria and Turkey after the world war. Special importance was given to ceremonies celebrating the liberation of Thrace from the Bulgarians after the world war. Speakers said these populations were deeply attached to the Greek fatherland.

JAP ADMIRAL, 8 AIDS, ARE KILLED 'IN LINE OF DUTY'

TOKIO, July 1 (AP).—Rear Admiral Eizo Matsui and eight other men of the staff of the Ominato naval base in northern Japan "met with a fatal accident in line of duty in the strait of Tsugaru," Domei [Japanese news agency] said in a broadcast today.

Two captains, one lieutenant, and five enlisted men perished with the admiral. No other details were given.

The Strait of Tsugaru separates Honshu, the main island of Japan, from the northern island of Hokkaido.

GERMANS BRAND CHAMBERLAIN AS A WAR 'SNIPER'

BERLIN, July 1 (AP).—Neville Chamberlain has earned the title of "sniper" by his radio address last night, so far as Germany is concerned, authorized sources said today.

"We certainly are going to remember his assertion that the civilian population constitutes a part of Britain's armed force," these sources said.

They asserted Chamberlain had spoken of people shooting from their houses at German troops. The answer to the former prime minister, they said, soon will be given by German arms.

Britons Told: Do Not Heed Nazi Radio Posing as BBC

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—The ministry of information warned Britons today to disregard the advice of a "self-styled new British broadcasting company" to flee their homes in the event of bombardment. The ministry said the broadcaster is a German short wave station operating from Germany. Its advice, the ministry added, is "directly opposite to the government's direction to civilians to 'stay put.'"

WRITER ANALYZES REASONS BEHIND FRENCH COLLAPSE

Blames Lack of Men, Guns and War Enthusiasm.

BY TAYLOR HENRY.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, July 1 (AP).—France went to war against Germany last September without adequate equipment, without adequate man power, and—it can now be said frankly—without adequate enthusiasm.

Result: Utter defeat in a month long blitzkrieg, casualties estimated at 1,500,000 killed, wounded, or missing; a stunned nation only now beginning to realize what happened, a stunned leadership grimly groping toward the future.

This is the picture of France as I saw it, broken under the wheels of total war.

Ammunition for but 3 Days.

Two months ago the French army still was considered the most efficient military machine in the world. Yet, on June 12, when France took the tragic decision to sue for peace, Generalissimo Maxime Weygand is reported to have told the French cabinet that the army had ammunition enough to last only three more days; that the advancing Germans were "slaughtering men who no longer have the means to defend themselves."

The cabinet members wept, but only now is the country at large beginning to realize the magnitude of the catastrophe.

Veteran Marshal Henri Petain and other leaders admit now that the principal reasons for the collapse were:

1. Lack of equipment.
2. Lack of man power.
3. Lack of determination.

Air Superiority 6 to 1.

In a radio speech to the nation, Petain admitted German air superiority was six to one. Time and again I saw three or four French pursuit ships rise to attack massed squadrons of 60 to 80 German bombers protected by 40 to 60 chasers.

The Germans organized their attack aviation so as to make simultaneous use of dive bombers and machine gunning hedge hoppers. They were able to hurl 300 and 400 planes against a five mile sector of the French front.

When the blitzkrieg started with a German attack against the Netherlands and Belgium, the entire French attack aviation numbered only 510 planes. It was only in November, two months after the European war started, that the French began training attack aviation crews for the highly specialized types of aerial warfare.

French Have 2,500 Tanks.

The Germans apparently used 12 Panzer [armored] divisions in the battle of France, each numbering at least 500 tanks. The most optimistic estimate of the French tanks was about 2,500, and many of these were far from modern. In Gen. Andre Corap's 9th army, which was along the Meuse in the Germans' first main break thru, I saw tanks of 1918 vintage in action.

While the Germans concentrated their tank divisions against narrow sectors to gain maximum effect, the French dispersed theirs all along the front.

Lines Are Lightly Held.

The lack of communication and transport equipment in Corap's army was so pronounced that a member of his general staff told me two days before it was captured by the Nazis that there was only the flimsiest of liaison between army headquarters and the general staff.

Many French divisions were incompletely equipped with antitank defenses.

The allied armies' lack of man power meant that the Somme-Aisne lines had to be lightly held. In some sectors German troops outnumbered the French as much as five to one.

The allied lack of man power was due in part to the difference between 10 British divisions fighting in France in 1940 as against 85 in the critical phases of the last war, and also to Italy's entry into the war on Germany's side.

The basic reason for the lack of man power, however, must be sought in the difference in populations: France 40,000,000, Germany 80,000,000.

Didn't Understand Reasons.

French lack of determination to fight completes the picture of collapse.

Marshal Petain himself painted the best picture of this fatal flaw when he said that Frenchmen in 1939 failed to march to the colors with the same enthusiasm as in 1914 because they did not understand the reasons for the war.

Equally important was the feeling among Frenchmen that they were bearing the brunt of the fighting, with men of 48 in the front line while Britain had not yet mobilized her men of 28.

That is no reflection on the bravery of the French soldier. When the time came, he took terrific punishment and died in his tracks. The long months of waiting, coupled with lack of men and equipment, however, had its effect on the quality of French resistance. All along, the French soldier much rather would have been at home, tilling his fields or working in a factory.

Mrs. Woodring and the three towheaded youngsters, Melissa, Cooper, and Marcus, are newcomers to Kansas, which, Woodring said, "will be our home forever."

CANADA INTERNS FIRST PRISONERS TAKEN BY BRITISH

Sent Over from England to Remove Danger.

QUEBEC, July 1 (AP).—A motley shipload of Britain's prisoners of war, the first sent to the western hemisphere lest they be set free to fight by invading parachute troops or fifth columnists in England, have landed in Canada for internment.

They landed over the week-end after a heavily guarded voyage on which one prisoner dived thru a porthole and was lost at sea.

One ship's officer said the captive German army men gave little trouble but the Nazi airmen "called us swine nearly every chance they got on the way over."

The number of prisoners was not disclosed.

Some prisoners were smiling and others were glowering as they stepped ashore. They carried varied personal belongings including tenhis racquets, musical instruments, and kitchen utensils.

"We slept about two nights in seven," a British officer said of the 250 British officers and soldiers who guarded the prisoners.

Some Carried to Montreal.

Some of the prisoners, who included German land, sea and air soldiers and interned aliens, were kept on board their prison ship for debarkation at Montreal.

They marched thru long lines of Canadian bayonets, hailing one another jocularly and here and there clasping hands as they recognized friends in other groups.

A German in brown fatigue jacket, identified by an English lieutenant as a submarine commander, was the first prisoner ashore. Speaking fluent English, he superintended checking the baggage of his fellow prisoners.

The prisoners included army officers and men in green uniforms, blue clad aviators, U-boat and tank crews, and even parachute troops in black leather trousers and jackets.

Many Wear Decorations.

Officer prisoners received the military consideration due their rank. Last off the ship, they were immediately preceded by a fatigue party of their own noncommissioned officers and privates to gather their baggage and carry it to waiting trains. Many wore decorations, one flying officer the Iron Cross.

One complained:

"You English have no system whatever. We should have been off this ship hours ago."

British officers said the prisoners had been captured in France, the Low Countries, and in Norway, and added that some had expressed themselves as "quite pleased" to leave Europe.

BRITISH MARGARINE PRODUCERS TO POOL RESOURCES, BRANDS

LONDON, July 1.—All margarine and compound cooking fat manufacturers will pool their resources, sink their individual identities, and give up their brand names for the duration of the war, it was announced today. Only two brands of margarine will be manufactured—a special brand selling at 9 pence [about 14 cents] a pound, and a standard brand at 5 pence [about 8 cents]. The margarine industry will operate as one company under the name "Marcom, Ltd."

The food ministry is planning to reduce sugar rations to cake and confectionary manufacturers. Cakes with sugar icing, with the exception of wedding cakes, are expected to disappear from the shops.

As part of the campaign to reclaim derelict land the government has taken over 600 acres of heavy clay soil at Drayton to experiment for the best means of converting it into good grazing land.

GRAZIANI TAKES BALBO'S POST AS LEADER IN LIBYA

New Chief a Veteran of War in Ethiopia.

ROME, July 1 (AP).—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, tough veteran of Italy's colonial wars, returned tonight to Libya, scene of his earlier triumphs, to succeed the late Air Marshal Italo Balbo as commander of North African forces.

Marshal Graziani.

His mission was to save from British invasion the territory which, between 1921 and 1929, he reclaimed from native rebels.

While Marshal Balbo's body began its long journey back to Italy, the circumstances of his death remained somewhat obscure.

The Rome radio announced that Balbo's plane crashed when it was caught between the fire of ground batteries and British bombers on Friday.

The Tobruk correspondent of the newspaper Corriere de la Sera reported Balbo's plane encountered a "group of eleven English planes" which had bombed the airfield.

Pulled Into Combat.

Balbo, piloting his own plane, the correspondent said, was unavoidably pulled into the concluding phase of this aerial fight. Witnesses reported Balbo's plane zoomed upward as a tongue of flame licked from between the wings. Then the plane banked and plunged, burning, to the earth east of Tobruk.

[In London, however, the British foreign office recalled the coolness of Premier Mussolini toward the marshal; declared "no British aircraft was involved in the fatal crash.]

Graziani is chief of staff of the Italian army and commander of the army of the Po. He is expected to retain the staff assignment, but drop the army command. With the capitulation of France, the importance of the army of the Po as defender of northern Italy became secondary to that of the forces fighting the British in North Africa.

Best Desert Fighter.

No Italian officer has wider experience in desert warfare than Graziani. His early career was in Eritrea and Libya. After the world war, in which he served on the Austrian front and was twice wounded, he was sent to Libya to reassert Italian sovereignty over territory which native forces occupied while the Italians were busy elsewhere.

Graziani earned a reputation for vigorous methods and tactical skill. At the start of the Ethiopian war he was placed in command of Italian armies in Somaliland. In this arid, inhospitable expanse, where temperatures rose to 150 degrees at mid-day and troops had scorpions for bedfellows, Graziani's mixed Italian and native army saw som of the bloodiest fighting of the war.

With Ethiopia conquered, but only half-pacified, Graziani was entrusted with the task of consolidating the victory. He accomplished his mission, but came back to Italy with his body riddled with fragments of a bomb thrown at him in Addis Ababa by a native rebel.

Capture of several British positions along the Libyan-Egyptian border was claimed by the high command today, which also said that an Italian torpedo boat had sunk a British submarine. It reported at least eight British planes were shot down.

It acknowledged the loss of the destroyer Espero, a 1,073 ton warship with a normal complement of 143. The Espero, it said, failed to return to its base after battling three British cruisers and several destroyers.

In sharp fighting on the Egyptian frontier, the high command said, Fascist forces put tanks and armored cars out of action.

"Our air formations effectively bombarded a group of armored cars, automobiles, depots, and troops between Sollum and Sisi Omar and at Sidi Barrani," the communique said.

"In East Africa our bombing planes carried out effective night action on the station of Et-Teb. The air naval bases at Aden and Port Sudan were bombed. One of our planes did not return. The enemy bombed the city of Harrar."

British Attack in Desert.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 1 (AP).—British general headquarters issued the following communique tonight:

"R. A. F. bombers attacked troop concentrations near Serderat, Italian East Africa, scoring direct hits. Accico also was raided by a strong force of our aircraft.

"Malta experienced further air raids yesterday, two formations of four enemy bombers each dropping 42 bombs. The damage was slight; two civilians were killed and four wounded."

Attack British Moyale.

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, July 2, Tuesday (AP).—British Moyale, on the Ethiopian border, was twice attacked yesterday by Italian forces, but both attacks were checked, according to a British communique issued here. The announcement said the first attack was preceded by a heavy artillery bombardment. British casualties were reported slight. The communique added that British aircraft bombed two enemy guns and disorganized a motor convoy.

Planes Battle Convoy.

ATHENS, July 1 (AP).—A battle between a British naval convoy and Italian aircraft Saturday off the northeast coast of Crete was reported here today. The convoy was believed to be moving from the Dardenelles. The battle was too far off shore for coast observers to determine the result.

June Milk Prices Lower for Chicago Area Farmers

Dairy farmers in the Chicago milk shed got about 0.03 of a cent per hundred pounds [46.5 quarts] less for all classes of milk in June than for May deliveries, A. W. Colebank, acting market administrator, reported today. The blended price, that which the farmers actually are paid for all milk delivered, has not been announced. Class 1 milk brought $1.68 a hundred in June, class 2 brought $1.48, and class 3 brought $1.23.

BRITISH REFUGEES JAM CONSULATE FOR VISAS TO U. S.

Take Over Hotel Banquet Hall for Children.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 1.—Thru donations of Americans in London, the banquet room of the Grosvenor House today became a glorified day nursery and an adjunct to the American consular offices in handling applications for immigration to the United States. Altho the consular offices are the most spacious in Europe, they have been crowded from morning to night by men, women, and children seeking passports to America.

Consular officers, headed by James E. Parks, took over the new offices. Twenty secretaries paid for by the American committee for the evacuation of children aided in sorting applications for the youngsters. Arrangements were being made to allow the mothers of some of the children to go to America with them.

To Handle German Visas.

Refugees from all parts of Europe crowded into the regular consular offices from 9 a. m. to midnight. They were seeking to qualify under the new quota system which went into effect today.

Consul General John George Erhardt told THE TRIBUNE that about four-fifths of the German quota, among others, will be handled by the London office. Staff duties are so heavy, he said, that he has called in consuls from all parts of England to assist in the work. The German quota provides for 2,000 American visas here monthly.

New Quarters for Children.

Visas for the children coming under the British quota are being prepared exclusively in the Grosvenor House branch. Tonight, 582 applications had been taken care of. The British quota is around 65,000 yearly, and all but 10 per cent of the applications are handled thru the London office.

So far no provision has been made for the extension of this quota, but if, as reported here, the United States is planning to receive 100,000 refugees from England, a change in the immigration law will be necessary.

The American committee here is composed of a group of business men. By providing new air cooled offices they have shortened the time for preparing the necessary papers and have given mothers and children comfortable surroundings.

1,000 BATHERS OPEN 'LINER' BEACH HOUSE

A crowd of about 1,000 bathers were the first to use the new "ocean liner" beach house which opened yesterday at North avenue beach. Temperatures in the low 70's kept crowds at all city beaches at average or below average figures. The beachhouse is one of the best equipped in the country, providing accommodations for 2,880 bathers. It is built in the form of an ocean liner 440 feet long, 70 feet wide, and 30 feet high. Sun decks have been provided as well as dressing rooms, check rooms, showers, and concession booths.

BILL FOR REFORM IN U. S. CRIMINAL TRIALS IS SIGNED

Washington, D. C., July 1 [Special].—Uniform procedure in criminal trials in federal courts is assured by a bill signed today by President Roosevelt while he described it as a far reaching and important step in law reform.

The Supreme court was authorized to make rules for uniform procedure in civil trials in the federal courts six years ago. The measure signed today permits the court to do the same thing with respect to criminal trials.

"It is hoped that this grant of power [to the Supreme court]," said the President, "will result in introducing uniformity and simplicity in the administration of criminal justice in the federal courts and eliminate some of the archaic technicalities."

NAZIS ORDER U. S. DIPLOMATS OUT OF FOUR LANDS

Shut Norse, Dutch, Belgian, Luxemburg Doors.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 1.—Germany today asked the United States and other countries to withdraw their diplomatic staffs from Norway, the Netherlands, Belgium, and Luxemburg since the governments to which they were accredited no longer exist.

The United States received the request in a note the Germans handed to Donald Heath, acting chargé d'affairs in Berlin. It was regarded as notice from Germany that America must take into consideration the changes in Europe's map and her balance of power.

Consular Staffs May Stay.

It was stated that any diplomatic questions arising in the four countries can be taken up by the American embassy in Berlin. The American consular staffs can remain de facto until further notice, but the diplomatic staffs must leave by July 15.

This places the American embassy in Berlin in charge of American interests in seven countries, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Norway, Holland, Belgium, and Luxemburg, besides Germany.

Called Economic Move.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—A German order for American and other diplomatic missions to get out of four occupied countries by July 15 was interpreted in informed quarters tonight as a further step in the creation of a broader Nazi economic system in Europe.

The official attitude of this government toward the order, which applies to Belgium, the Netherlands, Norway, and Luxemburg, was not disclosed. In the case of Poland, a more sweeping order applying to consular as well as diplomatic missions was complied with under protest.

Embassy and legation staffs, with the exception of Ambassador John Cudahy at Brussels and Minister George A. Gordon at The Hague, apparently could remain in their status as consular officials. The Oslo legation is under a chargé d'affaires, Raymond E. Cox. Ambassador Cudahy is in charge at Luxemburg.

Bullitt Returns to French.

The state department announced that William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, had left German occupied Paris for the new temporary capital, Clermont-Ferrand, to resume relations with the French government which were broken when the former Reynaud ministry fled from Paris to Bordeaux.

Behind the German plan to clear occupied territories of foreign diplomatic missions, it was said in well informed quarters, was probably a desire to push economic reorganization and control without close foreign scrutiny.

New U. S. Trade System.

The state department, preparing for new efforts and methods to meet the German economic challenge, substituted a new expanded commercial division for the old trade agreements division which had carried out Secretary Cordell Hull's reciprocal trade treaty program.

With this program now greatly hampered by the war, the new division was charged with formulating, negotiating, and administering all commercial treaties and agreements, as well as assisting in charting foreign trade policies generally.

Baby Burned by Skyrocket

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

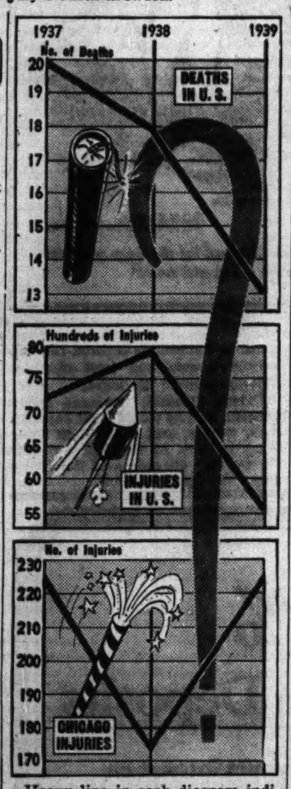
Yvonne Tapp, 11 months, in hospital bed yesterday after she was seared by flames from a premature July Fourth firework.

Strikes Inside Room

Seattle, Wash, July 1 (AP).—Yvonne Tapp, 11 months old, was lying on a bed in Mrs. Daisy Early's apartment. A skyrocket zoomed into the bedroom.

"I was bending over the bed to pick up the baby when the rocket shot into the room," Mrs. Early said. "I don't know whether it hit her or not. All I could see was flames on her right side and around her ear. I beat out the flames."

Yvonne is in King county hospital, her hands tied down to keep her from tearing the bandages off her seared flesh.



Heavy line in each diagram indicates the number of deaths and injuries in the United States and the injuries in Chicago for the last three years from fireworks. What the toll will be this year is the big question mark.

It was estimated yesterday that the 4th of July holiday will bring painful and perhaps permanent injury to 5,000 or more persons scattered thruout the United States. To a dozen—or perhaps a score—the 4th of July will bring death.

Last year 13 persons died and 5,560 were injured by fireworks, according to the American Medical association. In Chicago 226 persons were injured.

ENGLAND URGED BY HORE-BELISHA TO UNITE IRELAND

Asks Defense Plan to Keep Out Hitler.

DEVONPORT, England, July 1 (AP).—Leslie Hore-Belisha, former war secretary, urged the British government today to strive for a "united defense policy" in Ireland to make both Ulster and Ireland impregnable against German attacks.

"The question may be who is to get the ports of Ireland first," said Hore-Belisha at a political meeting. "Is it to be Hitler? This can be prevented only by a united policy in Ireland. Surely, in such circumstances, a united policy in Ireland is not beyond the wit of the government to achieve."

Predicts U. S. Reaction.

He added that a diplomatic success in Ireland would have a profound effect in the United States. He did not define what he meant by a "united policy."

The former war secretary, who was ousted by former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, urged the calling up of more men, the training of citizens to shoot, keeping the French fleet out of the enemy's grasp, and maintaining a virile and vocal parliament.

40 I. R. A. Suspects Seized.

SEEK 5 BILLIONS MORE FOR ARMY TANKS AND GUNS

Navy Orders 45 More Warcraft Built.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—The administration, it was learned today, is drafting a vast new program to provide the army with more artillery, tanks, and other mechanized equipment at an estimated cost of 5 billion dollars.

William S. Knudsen.

National defense legislation so far passed embraces appropriations and authorizations aggregating more than 5 billions. Pending in the senate is the house bill providing a two ocean navy at a cost of 4 billions in the next seven years. With the additional 5 billion army program now being framed the total cost of strengthening the national defense, exclusive of maintenance after 1941, will reach 14 billions.

The new supplemental army plan was the subject of a conference in the White House today. Participants were President Roosevelt, William S. Knudsen, the member of the defense advisory commission charged with production of material; Louis Johnson, acting secretary of war; Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of the army general staff, and Budget Director Harold Smith. Study of the plan is to be continued tomorrow.

Ready for Congress Soon.

Johnson said that the project will be submitted to congress in the near future, probably in a special message by the President.

The plan, jointly produced by the war department and the advisory commission, involves a vast mobilization of industry for the production of the materials of national defense for which undertaking Knudsen, expert on automobile production, was called from the presidency of General Motors corporation to the aid of the government. It is aimed at building a tremendous reserve manufacturing capacity for the production of the thousands of complex items required for mechanized and motorized warfare.

The project is understood to include a 1 billion dollar expansion of industrial plant capacity to be financed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The new program is expected to be divided about equally between requests for appropriations and authorizations. A tremendous amount of material would be acquired if the plan is put into law, altho the main purpose is to provide the factory space and equipment, so that production can be expanded just as fast as army personnel could be under war conditions.

War Time Use Is High.

It is recalled, for instance, that while vast quantities of munitions might be manufactured and stored by the government, the rate of use during actual warfare is so fast that capacity is needed for production far greater than would be useable during peace time. The same thing is true of aircraft production. The air corps might have no use for more than a few thousand airplanes within the next year or so, but tremendous production facilities would be needed immediately if this country got into war.

In other cases, production facilities have to be created for the first time for such essential war products as smokeless powder, armor plate, fuses, gas, and other material.

On the procurement side, the main items that would be purchased under the new program would be tanks, antiaircraft and antitank guns, listening devices for air raid warnings, field artillery, combat cars, and various other units of mechanized forces.

Order 45 Warships.

Lewis Compton, acting secretary of the navy, today announced award of the largest single group of contracts for warships in the nation's history—414 million dollars for 45 new ships. Compton gave the go-ahead order within two hours after President Roosevelt signed legislation designed to speed up ship construction.

The additions to the fast-growing fleet include submarines, cruisers, destroyers, and one seaplane tender. Last week the navy let contracts covering 19 submarines and destroyers for construction in navy shipyards.

The work involved today is to be done in private shipyards and the contracts, under terms of the new ship speedup bill, were negotiated. The navy said that by this short cut—avoiding time involved in advertising for competitive bids—work would get under way many weeks earlier and that the government would save from 16 to 17 million dollars.

The contracts announced today start work on all except five warships in the 11 per cent naval increase bill passed by this session of congress. Contracts remain to be let on three aircraft carriers and two cruisers under that authorization.

193,000 Tons for Combat.

Today's contracts involved 193,000 tons of combat craft. They do not cover armament, armor, and ammunition nor propelling machinery for the submarines. All of that is supplied by the government. These items will increase the final cost by 25 per cent, it was said.

[Details of the new navy contracts will be found on page 25.]

The speed up bill signed by the President is designed to expedite ship construction by permitting negotiation of contracts without competitive building and by advancing 30 per cent of contract prices for plant expansion.

The measure also prohibits sale or transfer of navy and army supplies to the allies or any foreign government unless the chiefs of the two services certify to congress that the materials are surpluses not essential to national defense.

Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] introduced a resolution which would express the sentiment of the senate that industrial plants holding military and naval contracts should work as many shifts as possible in order to speed production and spread employment.

"It seems to me," Connally said, "that aircraft manufacturers, shipbuilding plants, and all others having or to have contracts with the government for the production of material for the national defense should work more than one shift. Plenty of labor is available. The program affords an excellent opportunity to train semiskilled labor into the highest character of skilled labor. I want America to arm and to arm quickly. Industry and labor must do their part."

HERE ARE 4 WAYS TO MAKE JULY 4 SAFER AND SANER

Four rules for a safe Fourth of July were issued yesterday by officials of the National Safety council. They are:

1. Don't use fireworks.
2. Take it easy on the road. Don't speed or take chances on curves or hills.
3. Don't overdo in exercise, eating, exposure to the sun.
4. Don't go in swimming alone or when overheated; wait an hour after eating and know the depth of the water.

Mrs. Anna Matusek, 25 years old, was fined $25 yesterday by Judge N. J. Bonelli in Women's court for selling firecrackers in her grocery store at 2833 Clybourn avenue to Donald Dubis, 13 years old. The boy, who lives at 2946 Clybourn avenue, was injured by one of the firecrackers.

PEDESTRIAN KILLED BY CAR.

ANNENBERG GETS 3 YEARS IN PRISON FOR TAX EVASION

Publisher Files Appeal for Probation.

In thousands of smoke filled rooms during the days of M. L. Annenberg's domination of a racing news empire, men nervously awaited the voice from the loudspeaker provided by Nationwide News Service which would tell them who won and at what odds.

The scene was a little different yesterday, but in its elements it was the same. Tall, graying, 63 years old, Annenberg himself sat in the courtroom of Federal Judge James Wilkerson and waited for the verdict.

The government had charged him with evading income tax of $5,548,384, including penalties and interest, from 1933 thru 1936. Annenberg had acknowledged the charge with a plea of guilty to one count in the indictment, evasion of $1,217,296 for the year 1936.

Plea for Leniency Fails.

Altho he pleaded guilty, and agreed to pay the government $9,500,000 in the next seven years to settle all tax claims against him since 1923, Annenberg thru his attorney, asked leniency. It was admitted that he had resorted to certain technicalities which reduced his aggregate tax, but the attorneys argued that he had done so on the advice of professional tax consultants.

The plea continued: Annenberg's business had grown big, and maybe his bookkeeping hadn't kept pace with it. He had a family, and he was passionately devoted to them. He had credited members of that family with some of the earnings of his 70 companies, and altho that might have reduced the tax due from him, no one who knew Annenberg would say that it wasn't also a legitimate index of his generosity.

Once he was an immigrant boy from Germany who peddled newspapers on the streets of Chicago. His father had been a peddler first and then a junk dealer. Annenberg himself had come a long way from that beginning, and, as he waited for Judge Wilkerson to ascend the bench, it must have all come back to him—

From Newsboy to Publisher.

How from newsboy he had become a newspaper circulation expert. How that led to a publisher's chair in Milwaukee. And that to the ownership of his own paper, the 108 year old Philadelphia Inquirer, one of the oldest of the nation's newspapers. How the editorial column of that paper permitted a man of his humble origin to become a sharp and severe critic of the New Deal, and how finally the attention of the government was directed toward him.

The grand jury investigation conducted here by William J. Campbell, United States attorney, brought out many other phases of Annenberg's genius for organization and for adding dollar to dollar until he was in the multimillionaire bracket.

He was the master of a racing news service which operated in 34 states and three Canadian provinces—200 cities in all. He owned a vast wire network which carried his service over 180,000 miles of wire every day. Telegraph tolls alone amounted to $550,000 annually. This service he had voluntarily suspended months ago.

Crowded Courtroom Tense.

All this might have been in his mind, but Judge Wilkerson was mounting the bench. The courtroom was crowded. Annenberg had arrived with his son, Walter, and during the wait for the judge he had shifted chairs several times. Walter sat with his head in his hands. Annenberg looked straight ahead.

Judge Wilkerson began to read. His opinion ran on for 11 typewritten pages. Slowly the sense of his argument began to reach the defendant.

"The conclusion is inescapable that the network of corporations was used by the defendant as a device by which he sought to split up income which was really his own and thereby escape taxes."

As the judge read these words several lawyers around the defense table sighed audibly. Annenberg's nervousness was betrayed by twitching fingers.

"Spread" Saved Him Million.

"The defendant must have known that if he returned the income as his own, most of it would go to the government," the judge continued. "If it was spread around his family and his corporations he would save most of it for himself.

"It is inconceivable that he did not know that if he paid his tax in accordance with his claims of ownership and control he would have been more than a million dollars worse off than if he had spread the income around."

Annenberg's expression never changed.

"It is urged that the defendant should not be molested in his business, so that he may pay the government the eight million dollars, with interest [the total to be paid will reach $9,500,000], which he has agreed to pay during the coming years. With the payment of that money this court is not concerned."

Annenberg and every one knew what must come next. But the judge was not finished yet.

Flays Tax Evaders.

"Tax evaders"—and the judge's words were harsh—"should understand that they may not make a compromise with the treasury department and then receive from the courts consideration in criminal cases which the executive officers of the United States will not assume the responsibility of granting.

"The court is without authority either to compromise or to pardon. It has a larger duty to the public. The main object of criminal punishment is to prevent further crime. To grant the plea of the defendant in this case is to say to business men: You may organize your affairs in a network of corporations, and avoid the payment of your just taxes, and when called to account by the government for what you really owe, nothing worse will happen to you than to be compelled to pay what you should have paid long ago."

Slumps When Sentenced.

The sentence followed: Three years in federal prison. Annenberg might have been sentenced to a maximum of five years and fined $10,000, but even so his shoulders slumped perceptibly. His son quickly threw his arm around his father's shoulders, and they sat that way as Judge Wilkerson disposed of the case of a minor defendant, Joseph Hafner, an accountant, who had pleaded guilty with his employer. Hafner was sentenced to five months in jail.

Judge Wilkerson, on motion of Weymouth Kirkland, counsel for Annenberg, granted a stay of execution until July 22. Annenberg is then to surrender and start sentence. The only thing that can still save him is favorable consideration by the court of a motion for probation submitted by Kirkland. The judge promised to rule on this motion and a similar one in behalf of Hafner between now and the expiration of the stay.

Can't Serve Less than Third.

If probation is denied, Annenberg would have to serve at least one-third of his sentence before he would become eligible for parole. In the event that he is not granted parole, he is entitled to a reduction of seven days per month in his sentence for good behavior. With full good behavior allowance, he would be out of prison in two years and 113 days. Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, under federal law, selects the institution in which Annenberg will be imprisoned.

After the decision was read and the courtroom began to clear, Annenberg, stoop shouldered and smiling wryly, rose and walked with his son to a window. He looked down on the streets where he got his start.

Gets Prison Sentence

(Story in adjoining column.)

M. L. Annenberg leaving Federal Judge Wilkerson's court yesterday after hearing sentence for income tax evasion.

HISTORY OF THE CASE

The government's investigation of M. L. Annenberg's income began more than five years ago. The vastness of his enterprises complicated the work of federal agents, however, and the case was not ready for grand jury action until the middle of last year.

The final chapters in the long inquiry were written by two federal grand juries sitting simultaneously last July and August.

At its inception, the Annenberg case was supposed to be purely an income tax matter. But the grand jurors were led by William J. Campbell, United States attorney, and his aids into making an exhaustive survey of numerous other phases of Annenberg's operations.

Once Annenberg had been a penniless immigrant boy from Germany who hawked newspapers on Chicago street corners. Two decades or so later he had become the master of a mighty publishing and business domain. He is now 63 and a multimillionaire.

He also had become the nation's dominant figure in the dissemination of race track information.

To one of the Annenberg grand juries, District Attorney Campbell assigned the task of determining whether the wealthy publisher's extensive control over horse race information constituted a monopoly in violation of the Sherman act.

The other grand jury heard evidence compiled by 45 special agents on Annenberg's alleged evasion of income taxes.

Indict 20 Individuals.

Ten indictments naming 20 individuals and five Annenberg corporations were returned late in August. The individuals included Annenberg; his only son, Walter, and other top officials of Annenberg enterprises.

Six of the indictments charged income tax evasion and named 17 individuals and two corporations.

Of the other four indictments, two charged violations of the lottery laws thru misuse of [1] the mails and [2] interstate wires. Another indictment charged Annenberg and several co-defendants with conspiracy to influence a grand jury witness. The remaining indictment charged an Annenberg employé with committing perjury before the grand jury.

Deal Second Crushing Blow.

In less than a month the government aimed another crushing blow at Annenberg. Prosecutor Campbell threatened the telephone and telegraph companies with indictment if they continued to supply service to Annenberg's Nationwide News service which served thousands of bookies.

In November Annenberg suddenly announced his voluntary dissolution of this company.

The defense counsel told Judge Wilkerson during recent hearings that Annenberg pleaded guilty to save his son from the disgrace of a long trial.

Prosecutor Campbell has announced that the government will dismiss all charges against Walter Annenberg, 11 other individual defendants, and four corporations as a result of Annenberg's agreement to pay $9,500,000 in tax claims.

Eight tax evasion indictments are now left, naming 5 individuals and one corporation. Trial of the first of these has been set for Sept. 3. It charges officials of the Consensus Publishing company of St. Louis with defrauding the government of $137,720 in income taxes.

SENTENCING OF 41 IN TILE INDUSTRY CASE SET JULY 10

Federal Judge Michael I. Igoe yesterday postponed until July 10 the imposition of sentences upon 41 individuals and organizations charged with alleged monopolistic practices in the tile industry. The defendants, who were indicted Jan. 15 for violation of the Sherman antitrust law, entered pleas of nolo contendere [in effect a plea of guilty] on June 17.

Included are ten tile companies, the Bricklayers', Masons', and Plasterers' International Union of America, and the Tile Contractors' Association of America. Six of the companies, the union and the contractors' association, have signed consent decrees enjoining them from conspiracy to restrict the sale of tile, circulate blacklists, withhold labor, intimidate contractors, require terms of one person not required of another and impose penalties to keep prices up.

SPEED UP PLANS FOR DUTCH EAST INDIES DEFENSE

Natives to Get Training in Naval Warfare.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, July 1 (AP).—The Netherlands East Indies government went briskly ahead today with preparations for national defense.

Officials shunned comment on Japanese Prime Minister Hachiro Arita's reference last week to Japan as a "stabilizing force for peace and prosperity" in East Asia and the South Seas.

Typical of defense measures was the opening of naval ranks to enlistment of selected natives, recall of pensioned noncommissioned officers for military duty and the initiating of after-office-hours military training for "white collar" workers.

Strengthen Singapore.

SINGAPORE, India, July 1 (AP).—The defenses of Singapore, Britain's great far eastern naval base, and of British Malaya generally are being placed "in a higher pre-arranged state of preparedness" because of the general situation in the orient, a British communique said today.

Japs Seal Indo-China Border.

SHANGHAI, China, July 1 (AP).—Capture of Lungchow, important walled city close to northeastern French Indo-China, was reported tonight by Japanese military sources, who said it "means the entire border is now sealed." Lungchow, they said, was the last stronghold of Generalissimo Chiang Kia-shek's forces on China's frontier with Indo-China and was taken by Japanese forces in a drive to close the border.

Begin Hongkong Exodus.

HONGKONG, July 1 (AP).—A gray coated Canadian Pacific liner, carrying the vanguard of some 4,500 British women and children being removed from this colony, nosed out of Hongkong harbor with a naval escort this afternoon bound for Manila.

The American liner President Coolidge left Hongkong late tonight with hundreds of refugees. The liner had been ordered to return to pick up the additional passengers.

The exodus, authoritative sources said, is a precaution against possible Japanese enforcement of a land and sea blockade of the colony to enforce demands for the closing of the Burma route to the embattled Chinese government.

The unidentified Canadian Pacific liner was expected to reach Manila on July 3 and return immediately for further refugees. There are 3,000 more British women and children who are to leave by July 6.

Norwegian, French, and Dutch consular authorities ordered their nationals—a combined total of about 370—to prepare to leave.

Katsuo Okazaki, Japanese consul general, said he would "tell Japanese men, women, and children in Hongkong to stay, as there is no cause for worry." He estimated there were about 700 Japanese here.

6,541 File Claims for Back Pay from Republic Steel

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Labor board statisticians compiling workers' back pay claims against Republic Steel company, Cleveland, as a result of the 1937 steel strike, reported today—the deadline for filing—that 6,541 claims had been submitted. Board officials said many of the claims were for reinstatement only.

Does Your Breath Shout 'FALSE TEETH'?
Stera-Kleen Prevents False Teeth Odor—Cleans Without Brushing
"False teeth odor" is the curse of denture wearers. Ordinary brushing or antiseptics often will not remove scum and food particles that collect on your plate or bridge. This uncleanliness gives off the most offensive of breath odors — you do not know if you have it — but others do.
Prevent this odor by using STERA-KLEEN and make sure of absolute cleanliness. STERA-KLEEN dissolves scum and food particles from the tiny crevices of your plate that brushing does not reach. It is safe—economical—easy to use.
Place your bridge or plate in water, add a little STERA-KLEEN, leave for a few minutes or overnight—can't harm. Rinse, and it is purified and clean, ready for use without brushing. Daily use prevents "false teeth odor." Get STERA-KLEEN today. Only 35c a package at any drug store.

My living depends on the MILEAGE PROVED TO YOUR OWN EYES BY YOUR CONOCO MILE-DIAL...FREE

BESIDES LIKING THIS TOWN as if it was part of me, I'm in business here, and I want to keep going. I'm out to make progress, so I've got plenty at stake in asking you to come here for one of the Conoco Mile-Dials I'll give you absolutely free.

YOU'LL SEE right away why your Mile-Dial can't lie about the real mileage you get from my Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline. I bank on the straight true mileage figures you'll register for yourself on this Mile-Dial I've got here for you free as air.

IT'S ANOTHER KNOCKOUT of an invention by Conoco. Looks keen and up-to-date. I'll put it on the dash in half a second, or wherever you want it—never making a mark, either. Instead of being any work it's quite a sport, as my customers say, to let the Mile-Dial keep close tabs on their Conoco Bronz-z-z mileage. They say they like to do it, even when they've always been so satisfied they never bothered before.

YOU OUGHT TO HEAR them tell how they can now compare their city and country mileage on Conoco Bronz-z-z and how they can keep checking Bronz-z-z under all other different conditions, to get their honest average, and no mistakes.

YOU CAN KEEP RIGHT ON CHECKING Bronz-z-z on your free Conoco Mile-Dial, till you've got the plainest answer anybody could get about gasoline mileage. Not just a lot of words I might say, because with your Mile-Dial you get actual mileage figures to see.

YOU'D SAY GASOLINE IS TOO CHEMICAL for the average consumer to take apart, but you've got to admit that the Conoco Mile-Dial comes out with the answer that really counts, which is mileage. And what's going to be more fun than dialing your Conoco Bronz-z-z mileage on any Fourth of July trip you're taking? So drive in to my station today, before I might run short, and let me put on your Conoco Mile-Dial—ALL FREE.

NOT SO NERVY I don't ask you to hang my ad out on your car. Your Conoco Mile-Dial is private. Goes on the dash. Reports your Bronz-z-z mileage strictly to you.

TRUCK OWNERS are going big for the Mile-Dial, because they've got to have economy proof.

WILLKIE RESIGNS UTILITIES JOB TO START CAMPAIGN

Returns to N. Y., Rested by Week-End Yacht Trip.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

New York, July 1.—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for President, returned to his home in New York today to prepare for his campaign, which will begin the latter part of this month when he makes his acceptance speech from the steps of his old high school in Elwood, Ind.

After two days and nights of rest on a seagoing yacht which landed him this morning at the World's Fair basin, Willkie was brimming over with confidence in the outcome of the campaign. He "renewed his hopes" that the Democrats will renominate President Roosevelt in Chicago.

"Why do you hope this?" he was asked at a press reception at the offices of his company, the Commonwealth and Southern Utilities corporation, at 20 Pine street.

"Because I'd love to beat him," Willkie replied promptly.

He said it with a grin and a flash of his remarkable eyes, which have a courageous, fighting quality as well as humor, and seem to send forth bluish electric sparks when he talks.

Enjoys Capital Reaction.

Asked about Democratic comment in Washington on his nomination, he said:

"The statements of these fellows in Washington make me feel wonderful. I think they must have the jitters. It is like the opposition in Philadelphia—every time they made statements I got more votes."

Willkie seems to feel that his campaign for the presidency is going to have the same course and result that his spectacular convention campaign had—a slow start, perhaps; a lot of political hurdles to make, and a rapidly building public sentiment which will give him overwhelming victory.

He was cautious today about committing himself on any matters of policy, saying that he needed a few days to get things straightened up. On national and international policy he will talk in his acceptance speech, he said, interpreting the Republican platform as he views it. There was no suggestion of a distinction here, but he emphasized that then he will state his views and "interpret the platform."

Quits $75,000 Job.

Willkie's first action after returning to the city was to call a meeting of the board of directors of the Commonwealth and Southern to present his resignation as president. It becomes effective July 10. Thus he gave up a $75,000 a year job, which had been his since 1933. He said he will resign from the boards of several other utilities and banking corporations, too.

"I intend to devote all my time to the campaign," he said, "and I feel it is not fair to these corporate interests to remain in office."

His investments in utilities are not large, about $25,000, and he has a fortune estimated at about half a million dollars.

Willkie expects to leave New York on Wednesday or Thursday for an undisclosed vacation spot. Wisconsin and Minnesota are under consideration, it was reported. He said he is not much of a fisherman, but wants to sleep late.

At noon the candidate had luncheon in his office with Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, his convention floor manager. They discussed the management of the campaign, and the possibility presented itself that Stassen might be asked to lead the campaign, as national committee chairman or personal manager. Stassen is to remain over another day for conferences with the nominee.

Willkie said he hoped to meet with the special committee of the national committee some time this week. This committee was named to decide the chairmanship and all other campaign matters.

Asked if there was any good guess about whether John D. M. Hamilton of Kansas, the present chairman, will be reelected, Willkie said he would not guess on the subject.

Hamilton faces the opposition of political leaders from his own state, including former Gov. Alf Landon. The suggestion was made to Willkie today that he should get new blood in the Republican leadership, all the way from chairman down.

Saves Five, Dies

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
MRS. VIRGINIA WATKINS.

MEXICO CITY, July 1 (AP).—Mrs. Virginia Rios Watkins, 32 years old, of Oklahoma City, lost her life but saved five others by driving her automobile deliberately into a mountainside to avoid going over a precipice.

Her son, 10, her mother and three guests escaped when the brakes on their car failed to hold on a steep slope near Tamazunchale last Friday. Word of the accident reached the American consulate today.

Just before the crash, Mrs. Watkins turned to her mother and said: "Take care of my boy." Then, warning the others to prepare for an accident, she drove into the mountain. The son, Charles, was bruised; his grandmother, Mrs. Mario Rios of Mexico City, and the three guests were cut and bruised.

NEW DEAL VOICE OPENS DRIVE TO SMEAR WILLKIE

Senators Scorn Attack by Claude Pepper.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—Today's brief session of the United States senate, the first since June 22, was devoted to a postmortem on last week's Republican National convention.

The members commiserated Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, and Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, the senate's two most prominent defeated candidates for the presidential nomination and congratulated Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, minority leader of the senate and Republican nominee for Vice President.

Pepper Opens Smear Campaign.

Then they heard Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] in a preview of the New Deal smear campaign against Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for President. Pepper, a New Deal shock trooper who commonly serves as the senate mouthpiece of pillars of the Roosevelt administration, charged that Willkie seized the Republican nomination by Hitler blitzkrieg methods. He intimated that Willkie, if elected president, would set up something of a Hitler regime in this country.

Altho he sought by innuendo to smear Willkie as an advocate of Hitler methods, Pepper's chief complaint was that the Republican candidate would favor national unity "so that private enterprise may write the ticket instead of the government telling private enterprise" what to do.

Pepper asked whether Willkie would "encourage or discourage industrial leaders like Henry Ford, who says, 'I will have a foreign policy of my own. I will make planes for whomsoever I choose to make them.'

Echoes Farley Views.

"Is Mr. Willkie going to believe in that kind of unity, or is he going to mean to the nation the kind of unity that comes from asking and demanding that every phase of our economy put itself as a willing servant at the command of the duly constituted government of the American people? If the government cracks on the head some recalcitrant industrialist, because he does not obey the government's command, is he going to believe in a policy of unity that would appease and soothe that disgruntled man?"

Pepper's sentiments had a familiar ring, for less than 24 hours after Willkie's nomination last week Postmaster General James A. Farley and Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead were talking about the "somewhat foreign" methods which they attributed to the Republican candidate.

Ignored by Colleagues.

Democrats and Republicans ignored Pepper's speech and such a hubbub of conversation arose that Senator Theodore G. Bilbo [D., Miss.], a friend of the Florida New Dealer, appealed to the chair to restore order.

Republican senators, recalling the pre-convention opposition to Willkie on the ground that he looked with too much favor upon the Roosevelt interventionist foreign policy, said he could not have received a better political break than the Pepper blast. Pepper is the senate's foremost interventionist.

Most of the members strolled over to shake hands with Senators McNary, Taft, and Vandenberg. Taft and Vandenberg smiled good naturedly and did not betray any disappointment they may have felt.

McNary Stays on Job.

Senator McNary, immaculately dressed in a lightweight blue suit and wearing a maroon bow tie, came in late and withdrew shyly. Then he returned to receive the congratulations of his friends and later posed for pictures with Vice President John N. Garner.

McNary announced that he would not take an active part in the campaign. He said he would make a few radio speeches and some personal appearances, but that the main burden of the campaign would be Willkie's. He will stay right on the job so long as the senate is in session, and he hopes that will be thruout the summer, McNary said.

The candidate for Vice President will go out to his home at Salem, Ore., for the official notification and acceptance ceremony, the date for which has not been arranged, he said. He would like to have it on his farm "if they would not run over my trees."

McNary never has met the presidential nominee. He expects to see him within a few days here in Washington.

"I can't go to New York to see Mr. Willkie because I'm too busy with public business," he said.

FLYING PRIEST INJURED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

The Rev. Vincent E. Schwartz, 28 years old, of Schofield, Wis., was injured yesterday when his two-seater cabin plane crashed 50 feet to a field of the Clarence Shoger farm on route 34, one mile west of Naperville. Father Schwartz's cousin, Joseph Eggerman, who runs a gasoline station nearby, saw the accident and took the injured priest to St. Charles hospital in Aurora. Physicians said his injuries were not serious. Father Schwartz, who formerly lived in Naperville, was on his way to visit relatives there. He is pastor of the St. Therese of the Child Jesus church in Schofield.

Toledo Gets a Law to Let Citizens Cool Off for 15c

Toledo, O., July 1 [Special].—The city council today approved legislation suggested by the Community Traction company, whereby a patron, by paying 15 cents, can have unlimited transportation on street cars and buses on any night from 7 p. m. to 1 a. m. The traction company says the legislation is designed to permit Toledoans to "cool off" during the hot summer months.

ATTRACTIVE EARNINGS AWAIT YOUR SAVINGS
AT A MUTUALLY OPERATED
Federal Savings and Loan Association

Have you wondered why, in the face of general reduction in the rates of return on many "gilt edge" types of investments today, Federal Savings and Loan Associations can still continue to pay a consistently attractive return—and provide insurance for safety (up to $5,000.00), too—on savings dollars?

It's a reasonable question. The answer lies in the mutual type of operation under which every investor shares alike in the earnings of a Federal Savings and Loan Association, after reserves and operating expenses are provided. Then, the single, highly specialized type of lending service performed for people desiring to buy, build, modernize, and refinance homes, serves further to offer a growing outlet for funds. Yes, business is good with those institutions!

The very fundamental soundness of the carefully developed, modern home loan lending procedures of Federal Savings and Loan Associations provides basic security. This combined with safety insurance to $5,000.00 by the F. S. & L. I. C. makes it possible to place your accumulated funds and systematic savings in these institutions, knowing full well that these savings will be earning mighty attractive returns with safety as the months go by.

NOW IS THE TIME TO OPEN AN ACCOUNT!

978% GROWTH SINCE 1934!

Public acceptance proves the soundness of these institutions! Nearly 60 million dollars was saved and invested in Federal Savings and Loan Associations in Cook County between December 31, 1934, and December 31, 1939!

LEGAL for TRUST FUNDS

Under Illinois law, trustees and guardians are permitted to invest funds entrusted to their supervision in Federal Savings and Loan Associations—evidence of the safe principles upon which these institutions operate.

PRIDEFUL ELWOOD DUSTS OFF PAST; THERE'S WILLKIE!

Boyhood Memories Take On Brand New Luster.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Elwood, Ind., July 1.—Not since William McKinley came here to dedicate the tin plate mill in the 1890s has Elwood been as excited as it is today.

Not that "our boy Wendell," as the signs here all term Wendell Willkie, will be here any time very soon. He won't. But he will be here in absentia tomorrow night at the biggest torchlight parade and speech-making seen in these parts in the 20th century.

Already relics of his youth here are taking on an aspect of holiness. A barber has produced the board on which Willkie used to sit, a tousle haired child, to have his hair cut. A woman accountant has unearthed the program for a 1909 school dinner at which he was toastmaster. The program is full of quotations from Shakespeare, ending with the familiar two lines from "Julius Cæsar":

"If we do meet again, why, I shall smile;
If not, why then this parting was well made."

Library Points with Pride.

The local library points out that only a few months ago Willkie gave it a copy of "The Young Melbourne." "Just think," some one comments in awe, "he reviewed that very copy."

Happy Blair, hotel clerk, throbs with surprised delight to learn that for 25 years he lived in the house in which Willkie was born. "And I didn't know it until last week."

Middle aged men, who for 35 years have been shamefacedly silent about their boyish pranks, now acknowledge them with gusto. If their leader, Willkie, can recall them without disquietude, so can they, and with pride. Now they solve all the town mysteries of the early century, such as the farm wagon pulled into the school door on Halloween. Who did it? "Wendell and the gang." Or the disconnected telephone lines, the mysterious cabbage and corn throwing done on evil, dark nights.

King of Beasts Recalled.

Proudest of all are men who once were members of the mysterious K. O. B. This was a club, King of the Beasts, which Willkie organized in defiance to the snobbishness of a high school fraternity known as Beta Phi Sigma. He was a member of Beta Phi Sigma, too, but rebelled when it scorned some of his friends. The K. O. B.s, a saucy, sprightly lot, met in basements, had dances and sleigh rides.

Three stories of his romance flourish. One is that pretty Edith Wilk, working here for three months in the fall of 1916 as assistant librarian at $65 a month, met Wendell when he strolled into the library to borrow a book. Another is that he addressed a Democratic rally across the street and stopped, spellbound, in the middle of a sentence when he saw her listening. A third, the one she now tells, is that she met him at a wedding here.

His Classmates Remember.

Willkie finished high school here at midterm, 1910, a few weeks before his 18th birthday, in a class of five girls and three other boys. Five of those classmates will be guests of honor at the rally tomorrow night. All now are full of memories.

"That boy wasn't worth a damn until his second year in high school," Calvin Sizelove, silver haired Republican city treasurer, recalls.

"He was quick. Where I had to ponder, he'd just glance at a book and know the answer, but he didn't work. It was a little redheaded Irishman, Prof. Pat Bing, that fixed that boy up. He started preaching to Wendell to get to work. Well, you know, from then on that kid went to town."

Two members of his class, Katharine Henze, now a plump, gray haired accountant, and Eunice Carter Gregg, a housewife, are very gleeful in retrospect. They once defeated Willkie in a debate on "Immigration." Mrs. Gregg still can repeat her opening declamation.

Words of 32 Years Ago.

"When we know that laziness, crime, pauperism, and idleness are largely due to the people of other countries who have nothing to lose by coming here," she says with fine flourish and bouncing syllables, "you cannot help but exclaim, 'Close the doors to these unwelcome visitors.'"

"That was the way mine began," she recalls, "and that was 32 years ago. We were so thrilled to beat him because he was so good——"

"It was a unanimous decision," Miss Henze recalls. "The girls beat the boys——"

"Wendell always liked to be on top," interrupted J. Roscoe Proctor, another classmate, who now, on his 150 acre farm near here, is happier, he says, "than if I were President."

"Especially because we were girls," Miss Henze added.

He Knew All the Answers.

"In class he'd always blurt out the answer," Proctor continued.

"We usually waited for him, too," said Mrs. Gregg. "He was so smart. He could answer things no one else ever knew."

Mrs. Frances Hartman, also a classmate, altho she did not graduate with him, recalls how good he was at Shakespeare. Somewhere recently she read that he quotes it at random today, and she thought to herself, she says, "No wonder. I can too. It was those thousands of lines we had to memorize."

"'We know what we are,'" she began, rushing into a bit of "Hamlet," "'But we know not what we may be.'"

Tribute to a Father.

"Intellectually, tho," she adds, "he was head and shoulders ahead of us all. It was because he had such a fine library at home, I think, and then the fact that his father always stopped to explain anything he wanted to know."

Mrs. Hartman thinks that may be why old Mr. Willkie's tombstone in the cemetery here bears the inscription: "He dedicated his life to his children."

"He told me once he spent $30,000 on their education," a fat, old farmer commented. "Gave them all he had until his money ran out. All done well, too. All of them."

They seem to have, at that. Julia, the eldest daughter, is analyst for a winery in St. Catharine's, Ont. Fred is vice president of Seagram's distillery. Bob is his assistant. Ed, who lives in La Grange, Ill., is vice president of Libby, McNeil & Libby, and Charlotte, the youngest, now is Mrs. Paul Edward Pihl, wife of an American lieutenant commander who is naval attaché at the American embassy in Berlin.

But it is for Wendell, the absent honoree, that the torches will burn red tomorrow night.

LANA TURNER.

Hollywood, Cal., July 1 (AP).—Lana Turner, film actress, disclosed today she has separated from Artie Shaw, the bandman she married in an elopement last February. But confusing the issue was Shaw's statement: "There's nothing to it." Lana, tearful, said she had moved out of their big new home in the Hollywood hills and had taken an apartment.

PUBLIC HEARINGS INDORSE COUNTY ZONING PROGRAM

Approval of the proposed new Cook county zoning ordinance was expressed yesterday at the first of a series of public hearings in the north and west sections of the county. Robert Kingery, chairman, and Howard R. Olson, secretary of the commission which drew up the zone plan, are conducting the hearings for the next two weeks in unincorporated areas in 25 townships.

Robert Kingery.

Yesterday's hearings were held in the Winnetka village hall, New Trier township; Morton Grove village hall, Niles township; Union Ridge school, Wilson and Oak Park avenue in Norwood Park township, and Mannheim school, Grand avenue and La Grange road in Leyden township.

The proposed ordinance, which was completed recently after 11 months' preparation, would affect 500 square miles of unincorporated area in Cook county outside the limits of cities, villages, and incorporated towns.

An 18 Month Old Girl Is Strangled by a Bean

Harrisburg, Ill., July 1 (AP).—Wanda Rider, 18 month old daughter of Ed Rider of Shawneetown, died of strangulation at a hospital here today, two hours after a bean lodged in her throat and efforts to remove it failed.

CHARGE CHILDREN TIE THEIR FATHER AND LET HIM DIE

Officers Find Victim's Body on Desert.

Shoshone, Idaho, July 1 (AP).—Three youths and a girl were arrested today, charged with the "exposure" murder of Charles Sanders, 48 years old, of Burley, the father of three of them.

The quartet was arrested a few hours after the body of Sanders, the hands and feet lashed with rope, was found Saturday in the desert, six miles from nearby Kimima.

The four arrested a few hours after Sanders' body was found are George Sanders, 16; Joseph Sanders, 20; Mrs. Florence Phillips, children of the victim and the girl's husband, Chester Phillips, 22.

Enticed Into Rumble Seat.

As Sheriff F. M. Brown described it, the four enticed Sanders into the rumble seat of an automobile on June 21, slammed down the top and sped out over the sagebrush.

"We tied him [Sanders] up so he would not come back," the sheriff quoted Phillips as saying.

When the housekeeper reported her employer missing, Deputy Sheriff George Gray questioned the sons, George and Joseph; their sister, and her husband. George Sanders finally "told all about it," the sheriff said. George Sanders sat on top of the rumble seat as they drove into the desert. "He yelled like hell," Gray quoted the youth as saying.

Desperate Fight for Life.

Gray and Deputy Clyde Craig who found the body declared there was evidence that Sanders had made a desperate effort to free himself from his bonds.

Officers said the young people complained that Sanders mistreated them. One grievance was that money belonging to one of them was missing.

Tonight George Sanders and his sister were under a physician's care. "I should have had better sense," the girl cried.

South Side Woman Dies; Lived in Chicago 60 Years

Mrs. Elizabeth Wyrobek, for 60 years a Chicago resident, died yesterday at her home, 8731 Colfax avenue. She was 83 years old. Born in Poland, Mrs. Wyrobek came to America at the age of 20 and lived three years in La Salle, Ill., before moving here. Surviving are 3 sons, 2 daughters, 23 grandchildren, and 4 great-grandchildren. Her husband, Frank, died 23 years ago. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Friday at St. Bronislava's church, South Chicago.

INDIANA U. OFFERS ITS STADIUM FOR WILLKIE'S SPEECH

Bloomington, Ind., July 1 (AP).—Trustees of Indiana university, alma mater of Wendel Willkie, offered him the school's memorial stadium today for the formal notification of his Republican nomination for President. The stadium seats 35,000. Willkie already has promised Elwood, Ind., his birthplace, to deliver his acceptance speech there. The trustees said they recognized Willkie might prefer to have the notification ceremonies at Elwood but wanted him to know that the university "was ready to afford him all courtesies."

MR. WILLKIE'S STRENGTH.

Mr. Willkie must turn his eyes westward. He has already made great progress in the east, as his early support in the convention showed. The west was slower in coming around. Needless to say, a national election cannot be won in New England and the middle Atlantic states alone. Beyond the Alleghanies, and particularly in the middle west, the campaign of 1940 will be won or lost.

Mr. Willkie starts this campaign with many points in his favor. He is a Hoosier by birth and speaks with a prairie accent. He made his own way. He is an ordinary man in the sense that he enjoyed none of the advantages which go with inherited wealth and social position; and he is an extraordinary man in the sense that thru his own effort and understanding he has reached the top against the stiffest kind of competition. He is the kind of man which the middle west has frequently produced and always delights to honor because such men testify to the world that our way of life is good.

Perhaps the word "always" should be struck from that sentence. As long as these extraordinary ordinary men remain true to themselves and their background we delight to honor them. Sometimes, and especially when they go social as Long Island understands the term, they lose prestige here as they gain it there. Fortunately, Mr. Willkie has shown no inclination to go that way. He remains in mind and heart a son of the middle border.

He will now be faced with blandishments such as he has not experienced hitherto. The socially elect will swarm about him and, if he lets them, will insulate him. Mr. Willkie must be on his guard against the throng of cookie-pushers and cake eaters who will seek to monopolize his time and thought. Good men have succumbed to this kind of thing before to their injury. It is to be hoped that Mr. Willkie and his advisers will not forget that the good opinion of the people of the county seats will be far more important to the candidate than the support of the Long Island aristocracy.

The fact must be recognized that the county seats want to stay out of the European war and Long Island wants to get into it. The county seats wrote their foreign policy into the Republican platform. The Republican candidate, therefore, starts with a great advantage. It is an advantage which he can hold provided he does not lose touch with the common people of this country. They are well disposed toward him now and their loyalty to him will grow as he demonstrates his loyalty to them and their creed.

FRAGMENTS OF THREE ERAS.

A recent London report said that Alexander Kerensky, the head of the Russian revolutionary government overthrown by Lenin in 1917, had been admitted to Great Britain with the understanding that he was proceeding on to the United States. The mention of this refugee calls to mind the many others and the scope of events their plight represents. The upheavals and convulsions of 22 years have tossed out strangely incongruous elements as scrap and débris.

The Russian grand dukes preceded the Russian social democrats and liberals in flight. Trotsky, who helped make Kerensky a man without a country, is himself one. The old kaiser was found by the German army at Doorn about the time the queen who had given him asylum was escaping as a refugee herself to England. Spanish refugees include the king and such Spanish revolutionaries—republicans, Reds, and anarchists—as could escape Franco.

There are fleeing members of the French government which had chased out or imprisoned the French communists who had authority under Blum. The Hapsburgs made a happier escape from Austria than Schuschnigg, who disappeared in Hitler's protective custody. Three weeks in September made Poland untenable for the officials of the Polish government, and three weeks in June took away their French asylum. Haile Selassie, Lion of Judah, may be the near neighbor of Haakon of Norway. And the fragmentation may be only beginning.

CRIME AND POLITICS IN INDIANA.

Indiana has had but one senator for the last six years. Its Democratic convention has voted to continue this legislative peonage by renominating the state's senatorial cipher, Sherman Minton. Minton sits in the senate but is not a senator. He has boasted to his colleagues that he is a rubber stamp for President Roosevelt.

With the exception of Louisiana, no state in the Union has been more thoroly exploited by the alliance between the collectivists of Washington and local political gangsters. Favored politicians were granted the privilege of extorting tolls on all the beer and liquor sent into the state. The shakedown of state employés for political campaign funds was legalized. The Democratic convention that renominated Minton also indorsed and defended this legalized extortion.

It was a coincidence, but a significant one, that, while the Democrats were whooping it up in Indianapolis for Minton and 2 per cent, a convict murderer who had escaped from one of Indiana's paper prisons and was recaptured by the officers of another state made a second escape from the prison guards who had him in custody. Crime and politics will continue their misrule of the state until the Republicans come to its rescue.

RED JOSEF IN RUMANIA.

From certain Nazi expressions the conclusion has been drawn that Stalin in forcing the surrender of Bessarabia and part of Bukovina from Rumania has exceeded what Herr Hitler regards as proper compensation for the agreement which pacified Russia while Germany went to war. This is a plausible conjecture, altho it lacks any confirmation in Berlin.

Whatever else the present rulers of continental Europe may think of their treaties and understandings with each other, they know that the chief ingredient, the largest potential, is bad faith contained in them as explicitly as if it were one of the written articles. It probably was not Hitler's idea that Comrade Stalin should force himself into Rumania and it undoubtedly was Stalin's opinion that this was precisely the time to do it.

It has been remarked of Stalin, and it would seem to be a wise remark, that he anticipated a long and exhausting war between Germany and France and Great Britain. He made the war possible by deserting France, turning down Great Britain, making his treaty with Hitler, and releasing the German armies. An exhausting war which wounded the winning almost as badly as the losing side would be one which soviet Russia could turn to its own advantage. Hitler, moreover, would be required to pay an immediate price. He would be obliged, as he was, to share Poland with the communists, to allow the Baltic provinces to be taken, to support the war against Finland, and permit the Reds—whom he had described as the scum of the earth—to extend and strengthen their frontiers and fortifications at his expense.

The Nazis could figure, and probably did, that if Hitler won, as he has thus far, the Russian problem would be taken up in its turn. The stakes in these two gambles are fairly clear. Stalin was safe with Hitler if the war was long and devastating; Hitler was safe with Stalin if it was short and not costly. Neither was safe if his expectations failed him. Stalin may have been among the misinformed who did not anticipate the swift collapse of French resistance. If that collapse should be followed by the success of Nazi arms against Britain or even by a peace which left things as they are now, Stalin may have made a very bad guess and the bad faith of the soviet-Nazi shocker of last August may be expected to appear.

It is one idea of Stalin's present maneuvers that they represent a change of plan based upon new and to him unpleasant conditions, presenting a Germany stronger than ever. Within a few months Hitler might be able to turn on soviet Russia with greater resources than it had in September, and with a veteran and experienced army, in the full stride of its successful use of the greatest military force the world has known. This is a disquieting alternative to the hoped for outcome which would be a western Europe wrecked by its long struggle and seething with revolutionary spirit.

Instead of there being peoples all over the war stricken land revolting against all the governments that had brought these miseries upon them, Stalin would be facing Hitler in a subjugated Europe, docile under the Nazi policemen and armed forces. That is a thing of vastly different portent. It has been assumed, therefore, that Stalin might have come to the conclusion that he had better put more pressure on Hitler while there is still time to do so and make as much of his opportunities while he can strengthen himself. It would be difficult to believe that Nazi Germany views the control of the Danube outlet by the Reds with any complacency. Something startling in the nature of developments is not excluded from nearby prospects.

It is to be considered that if Germany could really be distracted from its present military objectives and if its tenure in the west could be really shaken, France might be almost immediately involved in a bloody revolution. The French communist party, now proscribed and hunted underground, may still be the best organized fighting minority in the country. In its relation to distracted France it undoubtely is stronger than the bolshevists were in Russia in 1917. Its leaders have been driven out of the country or jailed, but their resistance gives some proof that they are still determined.

Thirty-six of them, it will be remembered, all members of the chamber of deputies from the revolutionary districts of France, were sentenced to five years' imprisonment and loss of civil rights, last April. What may be dangled in front of Stalin's eyes is the tantalizing idea that if he dared to strike now he would have all of subjugated Europe in flames started by its communists. The Reds have not permitted themselves to have the poor opinion of their great army which military experts hold, and the commissars probably wouldn't dare admit to themselves that it would be suicide for them to put on their big push now when it would seem to be now or never.

Editorial of the Day

RADICALS AND THE WAR.

[St. Paul Dispatch.]

Minnesota Farmer-Laborites, who met Monday evening to honor the memory of Floyd B. Olson heard speeches the central theme of which was that the bankers of Wall street are backing the giving of aid to the allies with the purpose of getting America into the war.

This is typical radical speechifying, but it overlooks the fact that the one person who more than any other in this country is responsible for the policy of giving aid to the allies is President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the acclaimed champion and hero of the Farmer-Labor party, and its partner in the seven year war against the bankers of Wall street and elsewhere.

Modern war makes every one poor. This is the least of its horrors, but it does reduce to rubbish such superficial political shouting as some of the Farmer-Laborites allowed themselves Monday. If they wish to make a contribution to American peace they should go deeper into realities. Are they attempting to argue that President Roosevelt is trying to enrich big business and big bankers?

As a matter of fact, with France on the verge of surrender, the danger of our seeing American doughboys on the battlefields of Europe is reduced to practically nothing. The land phase of this war is about to end, unless Russia takes it up in eastern Europe, in which case some of our radicals would become the loudest demanders for our going in. When France has surrendered the war will become one of sea and air fighting against Great Britain; and what England will need to come thru will be airplanes and ships. President Roosevelt is committed to giving them such aid to the full extent of our ability. Farmer-Laborites have a right to oppose it, but they should register their complaint at the right window.

A NAME TO CONJURE WITH.

Wendell Willkie will have, among other things, alliteration's artful aid. Note the duplicated initial letters and the double "L's." It's a name that rolls easily on the tongue.

* * *

Some Republicans who are more given to epigram than reverence are calling their nominee "A Lincoln with a shave." . . . And the Emancipator was also a double "L" man.

* * *

Numerologists may call attention to the fact that in each of Willkie's names there are seven letters. There is probably a mystic spell here.

* * *

In the matter of social reforms Willkie might say, if he hasn't done so already, "I stand for Evolution without the R—as in Roosevelt."

* * *

The Republican candidate closed an article in the Saturday Evening Post several weeks ago with the words: "It is getting late. In fact, it is just about five minutes to midnight." The hands of the clock were about in that position when his nomination became a certainty.

"TRAILING CLOUDS OF GLORY."

[William Wordsworth, 1770-1850.]

I think the sounding beauty of his words
Has power to build an abbey in the woods
Beyond my window where the view affords
A sunset Tintern for reflective moods.
There in the sky the storied walls arise,
Whereby in soothing magic flows the Wye,
And there the quickened vision may surmise
The solitary poet standing nigh.
In seasoned fervor now his language flings
Upon the landscape music steeped in thought,
Whose haunting and impressive echoings
Recapture still to us what he had caught.
How brave a wine he drew from nature's store
To toast the mother that we all adore!

The backwardness of spring and summer has permitted Chicago's flowering trees and shrubs to come into bloom serially instead of en masse, and the result has been the finest floral display of years. The catalpa tree, neglected by poets, but the Linemaster's favorite, is now putting on a brave show of white blossoms.

DIETARY ESSENTIALS IN PREGNANCY.

THE prospective mother must be offered every possible safeguard. We wish to make certain that a healthy infant will be born—one able to face the battle of life. But we cannot allow the mother to be left prostrated and weak lest some lurking disease pounce upon her debilitated system. For this reason diet is of the utmost importance, for deficiencies may have a most disturbing effect.

The average adult woman requires approximately 2,500 calories per day, and for the first four months little or no increase will be called for. During the later period, however, the total should be approximately 20 per cent higher, with not more than a 15 per cent gain in weight. The same balance is desired as tho pregnancy did not exist; but more energy foods will be needed, as well as additional protein, calcium, phosphorus, iron, and vitamins.

The basic daily intake may include milk [a little more than a quart]; about four ounces of lean meat, fish, or poultry; one egg; a tablespoonful of cheese or three times this amount of cottage cheese; a green salad with two helpings of leafy vegetables [which may be cooked], about eight ounces of potatoes [preferably baked]; a tablespoonful of cod liver oil; one small dish of peas or beans, and one orange. Since this catalog may not furnish adequate fuel units, whole wheat bread or cereals and a reasonable quota of sugar and butter should be taken. Such a régime is slightly in excess of the normal ration and may be decreased as appetite dictates.

As has been pointed out frequently, should nausea or vomiting be encountered, it may be well to divide the usual three meals into five or six portions, washing the stomach thoroly with a full glass of water a half hour before each serving. When the symptoms are persistent we have a positive sign that vitamin B is lacking. Furthermore, this element must be available in ample proportions if we would utilize fully the starches and sugars that are eaten.

Cod liver oil takes care of the vitamin D requirement, but K [known to prevent bleeding] can be supplied best by spinach. It is when vitamin E is missing that labor may come on before term, and if this substance is grossly absent abortion is likely to occur. But the routine balanced menu—particularly the wheat germ of whole wheat bread, milk, and most vegetable oils—will provide the proper ratio.

The question of minerals must be emphasized also. As the mother must supply the fetus with nearly an ounce of calcium plus one-half ounce of phosphorus from about the 28th week onward, this means that the milk allotment may be boosted by one pint. Green vegetables taken generously will yield enough phosphorus. But—regardless of the volume of bone-builders that are ingested—they cannot be assimilated unless ample vitamins A and D are present. When these conditions are met, however, not only will the babe have excellent teeth and a firm skeleton but the mother will be able to preserve her "ivories" intact.

Iron also is essential if we would avoid the appearance of infantile anemia. Only when there is plenty of this ingredient in the maternal circulation will the infant be able to store a reserve within the liver. Anemia among pregnant and nursing women is all too common and wrong eating habits are to blame. Artificial administration is a wise procedure. We must recall that only about one-half of the iron content of cereals can be absorbed and the most useful form is contained in fruits and vegetables, meats, and egg yolk.

We must realize that nutrition is vital because when the time of delivery approaches we wish the mother to be in the "pink"—possessed of even more than normal resistance. She should be able to respond to the temporary drain upon her health and insure her offspring all the essentials—at least for the first few months.

BREATHLESS AFTER RUNNING.

M. B. writes: Should a man of 25 become breathless after running a block or two?

REPLY.

Yes, if he is not used to it. Whenever we use up energy we require more air [oxygen]. Sprinting is only for those who are in training.

PHLEGM.

T. C. writes: Why does milk cause phlegm in the throat?

REPLY.

It doesn't. Phlegm is already there. It may seem to appear suddenly because of the swallowing process.

BURNING.

S. S. writes: What causes burning on urination after an abdominal operation?

REPLY.

Some infection within or pressure on the bladder. This condition should be corrected without delay.

COMPOSITION.

B. D. writes: What substances are the teeth and the finger nails composed of?

REPLY.

Teeth are made up of bone and enamel. Nails are outgrowths of the skin, containing chiefly a sulfur compound known as keratin.

PEOPLE AGAINST WAR.

Chicago, July 1.—On June 7 Senator Burton K. Wheeler spoke on "Keep Out of War" at a massmeeting in Washington. Within 14 days thereafter he received a total of 14,114 communications as a result of that speech. Of this total only 413 writers disagreed with his stand, and of this total only 53 actually came out for declaring war now to aid the allies. He received mail from every state in the Union, from Alaska, Panama Canal, Puerto Rico, Mexico, and Canada. The largest amount of mail came from New York state, California second, Texas third, and Illinois fourth.

Incidentally, on June 21 and 22 Mr. Wheeler received 71 telegrams and 91 letters on the cabinet appointment of Knox and Stimson and all opposed the nominees. This tabulation does not contain the 500 communications he received from his own state—Montana. Of these fewer than one-half of 1 per cent disagreed with the stand he had taken.

This constitutes a cross section of what America is thinking relating to our intervention in the European war.

Republican presidential nominee Wendell L. Willkie has dared Roosevelt to run for a third term on his record. We wish he would. He'd finally get what's been coming to him for a long time. Roosevelt is today America's greatest menace. C. A. MORRISON.

LEARNING TO SHOOT.

Chicago, June 27.—Newspaper headlines recently stated that congress looks upon the Swiss system of military training with favor. That is, every citizen has a military rifle and knows how to use it and keeps in trim by shooting often. Rifle shooting is the national sport in Switzerland. It should also be the national sport in the United States. If we are attacked by a well trained and organized enemy, which would be the more important, a knowledge of baseball or a knowledge of firearms? We all know the answer.

Contrary to general belief that rifle shooting is dangerous, it is the safest sport, and not only the safest but also the most important. Of course shooting in order to be safe requires properly constructed rifle ranges, well managed by trained supervisors.

Expert rifle shooters have distinguished themselves in all our wars. History tells us how the expert riflemen, organized as Minute Men, gave a good account of themselves at Concord and Lexington in 1775. In the war of 1812 it was the hunters and riflemen that won the battle of New Orleans for Gen. Jackson. If you want to know what they did in the world war read the book "A Rifleman Went to War," by McBride.

Shooting can be enjoyed by girls as well as boys. Let us make rifle shooting the national game and teach all our boys and girls to become expert rifle shots.

COMES FROM GOOD STOCK.

Chicago, June 30.—May I say hurrah for Wendell L. Willkie and God bless him. He is not a pretender; he is real. I once lived in the home of his parents, Herman and Henrietta Tush Willkie. They were wonderful people; both lawyers [but used common sense as well].

My husband and I in later years were happy to have them for our special neighbors. Mr. Willkie was our Sunday school superintendent and she a class teacher. Both of the Willkies and my husband have gone to their reward. Mrs. Willkie died about 3 months ago. I am sure she would be proud of the honor to her son, but not surprised, because he comes from good stock and had good home training.

TODAY IN HISTORY

July 2, 1776

Resolutions by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia declaring that "these united colonies are, and of right ought to be free and independent states," adopted by congress, to be followed shortly afterward by the Declaration of Independence. The resolutions also advocated severance of all ties with England, formation of foreign alliances and making plans for a confederation of the colonies. Lee had advocated independence as early as 1768.

EVERYBODY'S HAPPY NOW.

Chicago, June 25.—On Tuesday, May 23, your columns carried an article titled "A Short Wave Nuisance," and a few days later another titled "Short Waves." Both of these hit very close to home, as the writer is chairman of the Chicago Area Radio club council.

On May 27 the writer received a letter from the woman who had written the original letter "A Short Wave Nuisance." She stated that you had given her the name of the council. Frank McDonnell, W9YUC, 7106 N. Washtenaw avenue, contacted several persons in the "afflicted" building. After talking to these various people he determined and proved to those present that the interference of which they complained was in no way caused by either a transmitter or receiver, but was due to defective operation of the oil stoker, the operation of a bell system thruout the building, and to electrical appliances, such as electric razors, heating pads, etc. One person who was moving out of the building at the time because of the interference was shown that a heating pad possessed by her caused much of the trouble.

We of the council want to express our thanks to you for the opportunity of checking into this particular case and of proving once more that all of the trouble broadcast listeners have with reception is not due to radio amateurs and amateur stations. If all of the complaints could be checked into thoroly it would be found that comparatively few would be traced to the "shack" of the licensed amateur and those few that were traceable to him could be cleared up quickly and easily and more than willingly.

The council stands ready to do anything at all to help the broadcast listener get and keep perfect reception and to promote better and closer understanding between the public and the licensed amateur. Please feel free to call on us at any time; we are always ready.

M. WARREN CLARK, W9YDV,
Chairman, Chicago Area Radio club council.

THE SOUTH SIDE'S LIBRARIES.

Chicago, June 30. — Perhaps the ex-member of the Chicago Public Library staff who complained about the south side having more than its share of library buildings forgot that transportation has passed us by and the south sider needs his books to read on his long, slow rides to the loop. He has no modern subways, buses, or Madison street cars to whisk him to other cultural centers.

We, too, pay taxes. Please don't begrudge us our one civic pride.

The irony of this complaint is not that the south side has more than its share of buildings but that Chicago itself is almost the lowest of the 14 largest cities in our country in library income, yet it is second in circulation. CHICAGO LAWN.

ENCOURAGING WORDS.

Chicago, July 1.—In 1932 THE TRIBUNE boosted Hoover over Roosevelt. Roosevelt won decisively.

In 1936 you vigorously assailed the New Deal. Roosevelt won by a landslide.

In 1940 you're unleashing all your fury on Roosevelt and F. D. R. will again win in a walk.

Keep up the good work. AL.

AMERICA'S MISSION.

Knightstown, Ind., June 28.—I think it is our work as Americans to demonstrate to the world that all nations can love, and work, and play together in America.

PULLMAN PORTERS PLEASED.

Chicago, June 29.—The entire membership of the Pullman Porters and Maids' Protective association greatly appreciate the assistance you rendered us by printing in your column a few days ago the article under the caption "Pullman Porter's Appeal."

The support that your public gave to our cause is exemplified in the fact that the measure has been withdrawn from the house. We are assured by Senators McNary and Minton that the bill will not receive their support. Also Senator Lucas writes that he will not support such a measure.

Truly here was exemplified the faith in American freedom and American principles by the American people regardless of race, color, and creed.

DISCLAIMER OF AUTHORSHIP.

Park Ridge, Ill., June 28.—The letter "Hitler and the Law of Nations," written by one Arthur Jensen, and appearing in today's TRIBUNE, has been called to my attention by numerous persons, all believing me to be the author. I have at no time expressed my opinions on any subject in the Voice of the People or any other column. ARTHUR E. JENSEN.

A SOLDIER NOMINEE.

Chicago, June 29.—Thank God, one of our political parties has named a SOLDIER for the nomination for President of the United States.

The millions of veterans in the United States should rally around the candidacy of Comrade Willkie so that we will not be troubled with any more vetoes from the White House in Washington.

CITIZENSHIP ADVICE.

Chicago, June 27 [Legal Friend of the People].—"A" entered the United States in 1923 from Canada, paid head tax as a student, and applied for a declaration of intention [first paper] the same year. "A" felt he had an embarrassing middle name, so he changed it. First and last names were correct on papers. Later "A" was informed this was illegal and consequently he allowed papers to lapse.

1. Is it illegal, and will it affect his status if he applies now under correct middle name?

2. Can he apply now and still get papers in spite of time lapsed?

3. Should he apply under name used first time or under his correct middle name? A. S.

1. It will be necessary to have all the facts in the case before the subject may be appropriately advised. It is suggested, therefore, that he may write to this office, furnishing the file number of his case, if possible, or call at this office for a personal interview.

2. If he filed a declaration of intention and the same is now over seven years old, the procedure for him to follow now, in order to become a citizen, is to file a new declaration of intention and when the same is at least two and not over seven years old, apply for final papers.

3. Application should be made in his true and correct name. If he desires, he may, at the time of his final naturalization, request a change of name by order of the court.

HOTELS BOOKED NEAR CAPACITY BY DEMOCRATS

Only One Has Much Room; It's a G. O. P. Haunt.

All of Chicago's large downtown hotels, with one notable exception, are reserved to capacity for the Democratic national convention, opening July 15.

The one exception is the La Salle. Not a single delegation has as yet been registered there, and 400 rooms yawn for convention visitors.

"It looks like a freeze-out for us," said an official of the hotel. "We've worked hard and have done our share to attract the convention people, but the reservations have gone elsewhere. The reason? We don't know but we have an idea. The La Salle is known as a 'Republican' hotel."

Expect Overflow Business.

With more than 100,000 convention visitors, official and unofficial, expected, the La Salle probably will get some overflow business, it was said.

Elsewhere the reports were a cheerful "filled to capacity." The Stevens, official headquarters of the Democrats, was sold out long ago with the bulk of its 3,000 rooms reserved for convention business.

The Palmer House also was reserved to capacity long ago, with 2,000 rooms available for the convention people. The Auditorium, with 360 rooms for permanent guests, had 200 rooms open for the convention and these were quickly reserved. The Congress hotel, traditionally the Democratic headquarters for years, turned 700 rooms over to convention business, and the Morrison hotel made available the better part of 1,500 rooms.

The Bismarck, with 600 rooms, announced reservations had nearly reached capacity, and the Chicagoan said its 500 rooms were 98 per cent reserved.

Some Have Few Rooms Left.

All of the Blackstone's 300 available rooms are taken. At the Drake it was announced that reservations are almost complete, but a few rooms are available at present. The Sherman's 850 rooms were "about filled up" with reservations from 48 states.

All of the hotels, of course, are holding rooms for regular guests not connected with convention business.

The influx of thousands of convention visitors in addition to the normal run of vacationists is not expected to be felt among residential hotels. According to R. L. Vanderslice, secretary of the Chicago Residential Hotel association, only a small percentage of convention visitors check in at the residential hotels.

MRS. BRAND WINS DIVORCE; SHARES COIN COLLECTION

The domestic troubles of the Horace Brands ended yesterday when Judge Rudolph Desort granted Mrs. Brand a divorce and approved a settlement giving her between a half and three-quarters of a million dollars in rare coins and real estate.

Mrs. Brand.

Months of litigation were concluded by the agreement. Mrs. Brand was awarded the divorce on a charge of desertion. The Brands were married in 1924 and separated June 3, 1938. It was Brand's second marriage.

Under the settlement Brand, a former publisher who inherited half of the $3,000,000 coin collection of his brother, Virgil, will give Mrs. Brand his collection of French coins and one-fifth of the remainder of the collection. In addition Mrs. Brand will receive the home at 37 Cedar street and three other parcels of real estate.

Brand originally brought suit for divorce, charging cruelty. His wife countered with a suit for separate maintenance. Brand is 71 years old. Mrs. Brand is 48.

SEIZE YOUTHS AS ROBBERS.

Police last night seized two fleeing youths and charged them with robbing Henry Goldstein, 48 years old, of $15 in his drug store at 1500 West Van Buren street. They are Charles Curry, 16, of 1400 West Madison street, and Robert McGruthers, 21, of 1743 Warren boulevard.

★ TODAY IS POST DAY

There's a new light in their eyes

THE OTHER DAY a parade swung down the street. The band was playing "The Stars and Stripes Forever." And as the colors passed, we thought we saw a new light in people's eyes as they stood at attention.

Maybe you've noticed it, too. We figured it's because people feel a new pride in the flag nowadays, and the things it stands for. Democracy. Freedom of speech. Racial equality. A lot of things which seemed kind of abstract to some of us a few years back are now suddenly terribly real.

That's probably why more and more people are looking at their United States with new eyes today. Going to Mount Vernon and Washington. Driving to the national parks. Reviewing American history. Reading the lives of great Americans like Jefferson and Lincoln and Franklin. Keeping in touch with the real America—its ideals, its struggles and its triumphs.

This Fourth of July seems more important to us who publish the Post than any holiday we can remember. And we believe that everybody in these United States feels the same way.

FIRE INSURANCE PATROL TO THRILL CROWDS AT SHOW

Save Lives First, Then Goods, Their Motto.

The busiest firemen of them all—the fire insurance patrol—will streak into Soldiers' field in their speedy trucks at the third annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show July 14. If they can spare the time from their job of saving life and property, they'll show you how they do their work. And they'll streak out again, for they always have work to do.

You can see the insurance patrol firemen racing to fires almost any day. The patrol has only seven companies, but those companies are responsible for the protection of the same territory that all of the regular city fire fighters serve. And so each company of the patrol must respond to more alarms than individual companies of the regular fire department do. The insurance patrol trucks do not carry hose.

Saving Lives Their Big Job.

The patrol's No. 1 job is saving life. The patrol trucks therefore carry 250 foot electric connections that will enable the patrol to light up smoke filled rooms in their search for trapped victims. They carry collapsible stretchers on which the burned and injured may be taken to safety. They carry medical supplies, and splints, and equipment to spray with tannic acid those who are burned. This relieves the pain of the victims.

Great tarpaulins are stored in the patrol trucks. These are to cover household goods or stocks of merchandise for protection against water damage. But with those tarpaulins are poles. In case of a major disaster, the men of the patrol can transform each tarpaulin into an emergency stretcher with a pair of the poles.

Once they are certain that no one is trapped in a burning building, the patrol crews begin covering goods that might be damaged by water. If the water gets too deep on the floor, they get their axes, improvise a chute, and chop a hole thru the floor, drawing the water off by means of the chute to reduce damage.

They Do the Mopping Up.

After the fire is over, the patrol mops up the water that is left, boards up broken windows, makes repairs necessary to prevent further damage—and then hurries off to another fire.

Chief Frank C. McAuliffe heads the fire insurance patrol, which was formed a week before the Chicago fire of 1871. Altho its maintenance is paid from a state tax upon fire insurance companies writing insurance in Chicago, it serves insured and uninsured fire victims alike.

The police and fire thrill show is sponsored by the Chicago police and fire departments and the Chicago park district, in coöperation with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

RELIEFER FACES COURT TODAY FOR BEATING WOMAN

Teacher's Bond Offer Causes Uproar.

Michael Brcek, a relief client who is alleged to have struck a woman worker in a relief office at 1312 Newberry avenue a week ago, will be arraigned today in the Jury court of Municipal Judge Joseph B. Hermes on a charge of disorderly conduct.

His appearance before Judge Thomas A. Green in the Desplaines street court last week brought forth criticism by the judge of a high school teacher for attempting to free Brcek on bonds.

Mrs. Gertrude Exarhos, 3410 North Oak Park avenue, a teacher of zoölogy at Steinmetz High school, aroused Judge Green's ire when she testified that the International Labor Defense, a communist organization, had requested her to put up the bond.

Bid As Surety Rejected.

Judge Green denied her request to act as surety when William Dolan, deputy Municipal court clerk, said she had not been released from bonds she had given for eight persons arrested in May, 1937, on charges of rioting near the Republic Steel company. Mrs. Exarhos put up those bonds also at the request of the International Labor Defense. Two of the eight persons for whom she had gone bond then are listed by police as communists.

Records show Mrs. Exarhos purchased the building in which she lives, and which she gave as surety on the bonds, in 1935 for $8,800. Her husband is Gregory Exarhos, who is licensed by the city to manage a tavern at 1949 Fullerton avenue.

School Teacher Since 1919.

Mrs. Exarhos has been a public school teacher since 1919 and a high school teacher since 1927. She was born in Chicago. Her husband, in his application for the city license, said he was born in Albania and obtained his citizenship papers in 1927. Neighbors say meetings frequently are held in the back yard of the Exarhos' residence.

Brcek was arrested on the complaint of Miss Florence Zabanski, who said he struck her while he was filing a complaint in the relief office. Agents for the Chicago relief administration told Judge Green he had struck several other relief workers in the last year and a half. His bonds were fixed at $100 cash or $200 in real estate. Brcek is 47 years old and lives at 1157 17th street.

THE NEW SAFETY JUDGE SWEEPS 3 DRIVERS TO JAIL

In his first day on the bench of Safety court, Judge Gibson E. Gorman sentenced three motorists to jail yesterday on charges of drunken driving and fined a fourth $100 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident.

John R. Goudie, 24 years old, 4431 Ellis avenue, who was arrested last Saturday for driving while intoxicated, was sent to the county jail for 10 days and his driving privileges were suspended for 30 days. A similar sentence was imposed upon Joseph Judy, 37, of 4247 South Campbell avenue, who was seized last Friday on the same charge.

Robert Canning, 36, 8402 Escanaba avenue, also was sent to the county jail for 10 days. He was arrested last Friday by police who charged that he drove thru a stoplight while intoxicated.

The $100 fine was imposed upon Thomas Cotton, 26, colored, of 1850 Lake street.

SCHOOLS READY TO TURN OUT U. S. DEFENSE CORPS

Milwaukee, Wis., July 2 [Special].—Vocational and technical schools and colleges can turn out 1,250,000 trained workers annually for national defense, if funds are available so they can make greater use of their plant and equipment, the American Association of School Administrators said in a statement today at the opening of the National Educational association convention.

The administrators' group hopes that federal funds for increased vocational education will be spent thru established national, state and local educational agencies. Its statement explained that there already is an investment of a billion and a quarter dollars in 1,200 American vocational and technical schools and colleges, with experienced administrative organization and 35,000 skilled teachers.

"The facilities for defense training now provided by these schools and colleges could not be duplicated in many years," its statement said.

Six thousand members of the association opened their convention at Milwaukee Auditorium by pledging allegiance to the American flag and the republic of the United States.

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America," they recited after Arthur E. Fricker of Milwaukee Solomon Juneau High school, with right hands uplifted to the flag, "and to the republic for which it stands—one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

IDENTIFY WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO ON SOUTH SIDE

A woman who was fatally injured by an automobile Sunday night at 59th and Halsted streets was identified yesterday as Miss Sabina Tague, 50 years old, 7613 Aberdeen street. She died in the Englewood hospital. Police said the driver, Gerald Ruble, 6224 Dorchester avenue, will be arraigned today in Felony court on a charge of manslaughter.

Stephen Wagner, 25, of Big Rock, Kane county, was exonerated by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Donald Leroy Baumez, 13, who was knocked from his bicycle and injured fatally by Wagner's car Sunday near his home at Sugar Grove. Wagner testified that the boy rode into the highway from a side road without stopping.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 422 persons had been killed in traffic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 330 were killed in Chicago, where 11,132 persons were injured in the same period.

Seek to Examine Records in Electrical Bill Plea

Attorneys for eight Chicago apartment dwellers who are seeking a reduction in their electric bills yesterday asked the Illinois commerce commission for permission to examine all correspondence and records filed with the commission by the Commonwealth Edison company. Warren Henry, commission examiner, instructed the attorneys, Charles Leibman and Bernard Yedor, to put their request in writing and file it with the commission by July 10. The hearing was continued until then.

Power for the "flagship" fleet

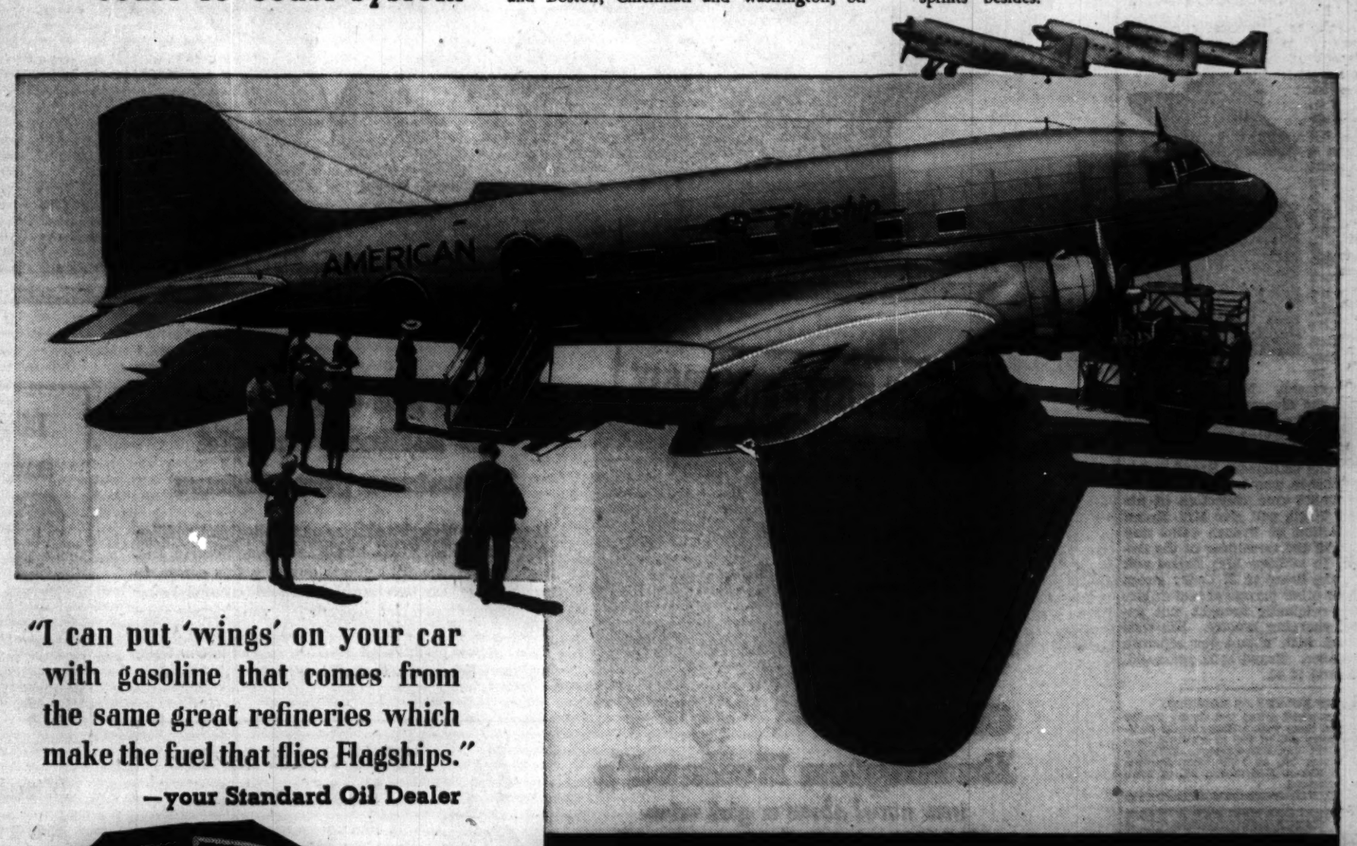
American Airlines, Inc. contracts for 3,200,000 gallons of Standard Gasoline for use at Chicago and Detroit on the airline's coast-to-coast system

Again this year, American Airlines, Inc. says, "Fill 'er up with Standard!" And it takes a powerful lot of fuel to feed a flock of "Flagships." For this year American Airlines is flying the largest fleet of Flagships in the United States on its 73,000 scheduled miles per day.

Down they swoop to the busy airports of Detroit and Chicago. And up they soar again with truckloads of Standard Gasoline stored away in the wings, bound for Buffalo, New York and Boston; Cincinnati and Washington; St. Louis, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Dallas and Ft. Worth.

Fueled by Standard, these mighty "Flagships" eat better than 200 miles of space an hour, while passengers in easy chairs get an eagle's eyeful of this grand and glorious country. American Airlines, Inc. carried more than 30% of those who flew in the United States during 1939.

Fueled by Standard, your own car steps high, wide and handsome, too! For every gallon is loaded with thrifty miles and has pep for the "sprints" besides.



"I can put 'wings' on your car with gasoline that comes from the same great refineries which make the fuel that flies Flagships."

COURT UPHOLDS BAR UNION FIGHT ON GANG RULE

Appointment of Receiver Indicated by Judge.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

George B. McLane, business agent of the Bartenders and Beverage Dispensers' union, won a significant victory yesterday in his court fight to rid the organization of officials whom he accuses of being agents of Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, reputed gangster chief. McLane's suit against Louis Romano, union president, and other officials of the union was held valid by Judge Robert J. Dunne in the Circuit court.

George McLane.

Judge Dunne also indicated he was willing to appoint a receiver for the union, as McLane requested in his suit. After discussion with lawyers, however, the appointment was deferred pending the filing by Romano of an answer to McLane's charges. The answer is to be filed in 20 days.

"I want to do whatever is necessary to conserve the funds of the union," Judge Dunne said while the receivership was being discussed.

Orders Banking of Dues.

He finally ordered that dues collected from the 4,400 members of the union—$3 a month from each member—be banked within 24 hours of their receipt.

McLane had asked the court to order an accounting of union funds and an explanation of all money spent or withdrawn in the last year. He also asked the court to order an election of union officers under court protection and supervision.

Romano filed technical objections to McLane's petition, and a motion to dismiss it was argued for three days. Judge Dunne then took the case under advisement, and the principals assembled in his courtroom yesterday to hear his decision.

"The motion to dismiss the case is denied," the judge announced. "Have you any recommendation to make as to the appointment of a receiver?"

Immediate Action Protested.

Attorney A. C. Lewis, who represented McLane, said he had no names to submit and would accept any one the court appointed. Harold Levy and Grenville Beardsley, attorneys for Romano and his fellow defendants, protested the immediate appointment of a receiver.

"Maybe after you hear our answer you will decide a receiver is not necessary," Levy suggested. "A receivership might be a needless expense to the union. The union's money is all on deposit in banks, and we can't spend any of it if we want to.

"The bank's lawyers refused to honor a check drawn to Attorney William Scott Stewart, saying we first must get permission from the court."

Attorney Cites Precedents.

Attorney Lewis cited precedents where unions had been placed in receivership for the benefit of the membership. Lewis also said McLane had been intimidated and terrorized for a number of years by the Nitti gang. McLane said the gang wanted to obtain control of the union.

The court was informed Romano first was put on the union pay roll as an organizer as a concession to Nitti and Murray Humphreys, leaders of the old Capone syndicate, which owned numerous places employing nonunion bartenders. Then, according to McLane, the Nitti group began boring from within and eventually ordered Romano's appointment as president.

McLane, who has been business agent of the union since the days before prohibition, kept a skeleton local of the union alive during the 14 dry years. The court was told that a year ago the Nitti-Humphreys group had built up Romano's influence in the union to a point where McLane's authority was taken from him, and most of the other officials were dominated by Romano.

OPEN SUMMER FLOWER SHOWS IN TWO PARKS

The park district's annual summer flower show opened yesterday in the conservatories of Garfield and Lincoln parks. Well-known and little-known plants also are on display as an educational feature at the entrance to the Garfield park canservatory. Each plant bears a label containing its common and its botanical name.

The display includes the white yarrow, or Achilles pearl, the Shasta daisy Alaska, the red Maltese cross, the blanket flower, the speedwell, the evening primrose, and the shaded blue, gold medal hybrid delphinium.

Across from this educational exhibit is a solid bank of orchids.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

PROTECT YOURSELF AGAINST "PACKED" PRICES

You can see the value in the car. The wall chart shows all items in the price. Thus you can better judge what you get for your money.

TAKE a careful look at this "plainview" price chart that we General Motors dealers are displaying in our showrooms.

It helps you see the money difference a new car will cost you. It's the best protection against price "packing" that you can have.

For it spotlights all of the charges that occasion the difference between delivered-at-the-factory prices and the delivered prices you pay here in your home town.

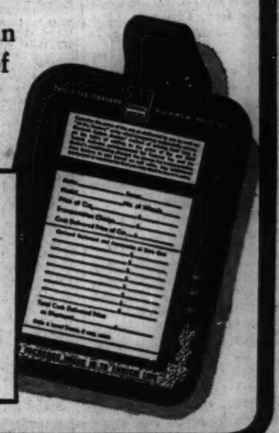
It shows how much you are charged for the car itself—how much for transportation of the car from factory to you, based on rail rates—how much for any extra equipment or accessories that you may elect to buy.

These are the items that make up the final delivered prices.

Thus we avoid unexplained items which might be a "pack"—that is, an added amount slipped in to give higher trade-in allowances, which may not reduce the money difference you actually pay out.

We General Motors dealers use this wall chart and the "plainview" price tag so you can buy on real value instead of on trade-in allowances.

They show you all items in the final delivered price of the car. Come in and learn more about them.



This is the standard price tag used by General Motors dealers to show what makes up the prices of new cars delivered to customers. "PRICE OF CAR" means the price we charge for the car itself, including reimbursement for Federal Tax and conditioning—"TRANSPORTATION CHARGE" means a charge for transportation from factory to you, based on rail rates—"OPTIONAL EQUIPMENT AND ACCESSORIES" means the charge for any extra equipment or accessories you elect to buy.

MRS. E. J. BAKER OF ST. CHARLES IS DEAD AT 73

Wife of Sportsman and Civic Benefactor.

Mrs. Harriet Rockwell Baker, 73 years old, wife of Col. Edward J. Baker, multimillionaire St. Charles sportsman, died of a heart attack yesterday in her home at 413 East Main street, St. Charles. Col. Baker is in the Geneva Community hospital, recuperating from a recent operation.

Mrs. Baker was born in St. Charles, the daughter of Henry T. and Mary Stone Rockwell, members of pioneer families. Mrs. Baker, a former school teacher, married Col. Baker in 1889. Their only son, Henry Rockwell Baker, died in 1914 after a bridle path accident.

Donate Civic Improvements.

It was in his memory that Col. and Mrs. Baker gave to the city the $100,000 Henry R. Baker Memorial Community center about 15 years ago. Since that time, with Lester J. and Dellora Angell Norris, they have given a new city hall and many other civic improvements to St. Charles.

Mrs. Norris is a niece of Col. Baker and, with him, heir to the millions left by John W. [Bet a Million] Gates. Gates was Col. Baker's brother-in-law and an uncle of Mrs. Norris.

Three Nephews and Cousin Survive.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Baker leaves three nephews, James H., Van, and Louis Rockwell, and a cousin, Dr. G. A. Norton, all of St. Charles. Louis Rockwell is Kane county treasurer.

Funeral services for Mrs. Baker will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Baker Memorial Community center with the Rev. Omer T. Canfield officiating. Burial will be in Union cemetery.

TURPIN, WHO GOT RICH BY CROSSING HIS EYES, IS DEAD

Hollywood, Cal., July 1 (AP).—Ben Turpin, old time screen star famous for his crossed eyes, died today. He had been ill for some time. He was born in New Orleans, La., 65 years ago, according to screen files, but his own biography says he was born Sept. 16, 1869, which would make him almost 71.

Ben Turpin.

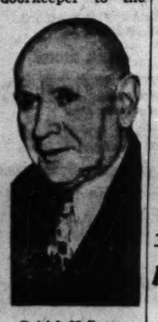
Turpin was one of the screen's first slapstick comedians. He made scores of one and two reelers in the old days. He topped off his career with "Swing High" in 1930, came back in 1935 for an educational short, then made an appearance last year in "Hollywood Cavalcade."

Turpin retired in the early days of talking pictures, reputedly with a fortune.

He acquired his cross-eyes about the turn of the century. Doing an imitation of the then popular comic character, Happy Hooligan, Turpin accidentally crossed them during a stage show. It brought down the house. He repeated it after that, and soon the change was permanent.

PATRICK M'KENNA IS DEAD; VETERAN WHITE HOUSE AID

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Patrick McKenna, doorkeeper to the President, died today of a kidney affliction, 37 years to the day after he came to the White House. McKenna, who was 65, was the friend of diplomats, statesmen, and politicians whom he had been ushering into the President's office since the Theodore Roosevelt administration. His widow survives.



Patrick McKenna. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

McKenna was born in Monaghan county, Ireland, and came to this country when a boy. Possessed of a memory like the index of "Who's Who," he knew by face and name more prominent Americans, diplomats, and foreign notables than probably any one else in Washington.

Said President Roosevelt: "Nobody can ever quite replace him."

R. F. WALTER, 67, U.S. RECLAMATION ENGINEER, IS DEAD

Fresno, Cal., July 1 (AP).—Raymond F. Walter, 67 years old, chief engineer of the Federal Bureau of Reclamation in the far western states, died yesterday. He was a native of Illinois.

Walter directed construction of the Boulder dam, Grand Coulee dam, and some 20 other reclamation and power projects. He was project engineer in charge of the Belle Fourche, S. D., irrigation project from 1903 to 1908, and supervising engineer in charge of construction of Bureau of Reclamation projects in Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, Oklahoma, and South Dakota from 1908 to 1915. He became the bureau's chief engineer in the west in 1924.

Successor Is Named.

Washington, D. C., July 1. (AP).—The department of the interior today designated Sinclair O. Harper as acting chief engineer of the reclamation bureau today in place of the late Raymond F. Walter.

Darrow Fulton, President of Coal Company, Dies

Darrow Bruce Fulton, president of the Zeigler Coal and Coke company and a well known clubman, died yesterday of a heart attack in his home at 1318 North Ritchie street. He was 45 years old. Mr. Fulton was a trustee of the Levi Z. Leiter estate and a member of numerous clubs, including Edgewater Golf, Old Elm, Racquet, and Saddle and Cycle clubs. His widow, Mrs. Anna Wrenn Fulton; two daughters, Nancy and Leslie, and a son, Everts, survive.

OBITUARIES

Paul D. Cravath.

Locust Valley, N. Y., July 1 (AP).—Paul D. Cravath, 78 years old, chairman of the board of the Metropolitan Opera company and for many years one of New York's outstanding corporation lawyers, died today. Cravath's firm for years represented J. P. Morgan & Co. and other important banking and business corporations. Charles Evans Hughes was one of his associates in his early legal career. His later firm of Cravath, De Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood acted in the reorganization of a number of railroads, among them the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Missouri Pacific. In 1917 President Wilson made him a member of the mission headed by Col. E. M. House, sent abroad to represent this country at an interallied conference regarding the conduct of the war.

Joseph H. Prior.

Joseph H. Prior, for the last 15 years chief architectural engineer for the board of education, died yesterday in his home at 5021 Drexel boulevard. He was 63 years old. Prior to his position with the school board he was chief designing engineer for the Milwaukee railroad. He also was a member of the state examining board for structural engineers and a member of the board of directors of the aviation division of the Catholic Youth organization. A sister, Mrs. Charles H. Byrne, survives. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in St. Ambrose's church, 47th street and Ellis avenue. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Melville H. Bloomer.

New York, July 1 [Special].—The death today in Halifax, N. S., of Melville H. Bloomer, 48 years old, coinventer of the cable plow and captain of the Western Union cable ship Lord Kelvin, was announced here tonight by the Western Union Telegraph company. Capt. Bloomer, English-born, had been an officer of a sailing ship when the world war broke out, and he began four years of sweeping up German mines. Then he entered the employ of the Western Union as navigating officer of the cable ship Minia. Later, when the new cable ship Cyrus Field was commissioned, he received command of it, transferring later to the Lord Kelvin.

Joseph Gabriel Straus.

Joseph Gabriel Straus, an attorney in Chicago for more than 40 years, died yesterday in Michael Reese hospital. He was 69 years old and lived at the Chicago Beach hotel. Mr. Straus was admitted to the bar in 1892. From 1900 until 1934 he was general counsel for the Greenebaum Sons' Investment company. He had been retired the last six years. He was a member of the Ravisloe Country club. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Ella Straus; two daughters, Mrs. Alma Rothschild and Mrs. Carrye Adler, and a son, Joseph G. Straus Jr.

John L. Erdall.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 1 (AP).—John L. Erdall, 77 years old, general counsel for the Soo Line railroad and former assistant attorney general of Wisconsin, died yesterday at Rochester, Minn.

J. Barbour Gray.

J. Barbour Gray died last evening at his home, 1021 Judson avenue, Evanston. He was about 70 years old. Mr. Gray retired last year as treasurer and general manager of the Uniform Printing and Supply company, 201 North Wells street, which he founded 24 years ago. It was thru his efforts that uniformity was adopted in the forms and papers used by fire insurance companies. Mr. Gray, who was born and educated in Louisville, Ky., was a member of the Union League club here. Surviving are his widow and a son. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Norbert Haslem.

Policeman Norbert Haslem, 43 years old, a member of the force since 1926, died yesterday in the Little Company of Mary hospital after a two months' illness. He had been assigned to the Gresham station since 1936, and in his years on the force won three creditable mentions. His widow, Loretta, of 1235 West 95th place, survives. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Friday in the chapel at 2123 West 95th street.

Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Foley.

Private funeral services for Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Foley, 75 years old, widow of John Burton Foley, patent medicine manufacturer who died in 1925, will be held today in the Rosehill cemetery chapel. Mrs. Foley died Sunday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Florence Foley Beggs, in Williams Bay, Wis. Also surviving are another daughter, Mrs. Virginia Hall, and three sons, Garrett R., Loyal L., and Burton Foley.

W-G-N TO START NEW SERIES WITH JULY 4TH DRAMA

"Man With a Country," a play written for the occasion, will be broadcast on W-G-N and the Mutual broadcasting system from 9:30 to 10 p. m. Thursday as a special Fourth of July feature. The play was written by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan, a magazine and movie writer. It is his first radio script.

The play, which tells the story of a man's fight for citizenship in America, will be the first presentation of "Chicago Tonight," a new series of programs on W-G-N and Mutual. Dramatizations of timely subjects will be presented on each of these broadcasts and a nationally known speaker will be heard. The guest speaker for the July 4 broadcast will be announced later.

Brennan has written many novels and short stories. He started his writing career on a St. Louis newspaper. Recently he has been writing scenarios in Hollywood.

PETRILLO CALLS STRIKE AGAINST CBS PROGRAMS

New York, July 1 (AP).—The American Federation of Musicians [A. F. of L.] tonight instructed hotel and night club band affiliates not to appear on Columbia Broadcasting company remote control programs, CBS announced. The bands were called off the air in support of a strike by a musician's local at station WRVA in Richmond, Va.

CBS said that James C. Petrillo, president of the federation, "attempted to order CBS to cease feeding sustaining remote dance bands to WRVA. Columbia refused to quit serving the station and Petrillo thereupon forbade all dance bands to play on remote control pickups for CBS."

A similar situation has prevailed on the National Broadcasting company network since June 28, when the musician's union called members off NBC remote control programs to support a musician's strike at station KSTP, St. Paul, Minn. Petrillo met today with Mark Woods, NBC vice president, to discuss a settlement.

Debut Parties to Make Week of Fourth a Festive Period

BY JUDITH CASS.

CHICAGO has been rather slow to follow the east's lead in early summer debut parties until this year. The present week finds three young Chicagoans entering adult society and a program of festivities that sounds comfortingly gay to young business men and young marrieds still on debut invitation lists. The gayety will more than make up for the midweek arrival of July 4, which has spoiled house party plans for so many young people.

The Laird Bells' Winnetka home will ring with merriment tonight at a dance Mr. and Mrs. Bell are giving to introduce their youngest daughter, Nathalie. Miss Bell is a student at Bryn Mawr college. Some of her close friends have been invited to dinner before the dancing starts.

Miss Lois Warner, who was Miss Bell's roommate at Milton academy, has come from her home in Salisbury, Conn., to attend the party. Another out of town guest is Miss Phoebe Cates of New York City. She is visiting Miss Margaret Bell and her sister, Mrs. Gilbert H. Osgood, the former Frances Bell, and will be among their dinner guests at the Indian Hill club. They will join the debutante group for the dance. The Bells will be departing shortly for their cabin at the Huron Mountain club on Lake Superior.

Harriet Bermingham Making Debut Tomorrow.

Debutante gayety tomorrow night will be centered in Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bermingham's hospitable Lake Forest house, where they will be giving a dance for their daughter, Harriet. Mr. and Mrs. Bermingham gave up plans for a tea during the afternoon, but they have invited some of Miss Bermingham's contemporaries to dinner. Two former school friends of the edubtante are guests of the Berminghams, Miss Katherine Jane Bretherton of Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Miss Helena Tate of Greenwich, Conn. Also here for the party will be Miss Bermingham's cousins, Rutledge Bermingham Jr. and his sister, Miss Pamela of Rye, N. Y., and Frank Sladen of Detroit. The dancing will be out of doors if the weather is favorable.

Miss Bermingham is among the many young people who will be going to Moline for a dance on Friday night which Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Wiman of Chicago and Moline will give for their elder daughter, Miss Mary Jane Deere Wiman. Miss Wiman will have a Chicago debut on Dec. 26.

Saturday night will bring another debut party, a dinner-dance Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hale will give at home in Winnetka for their younger daughter, Eunice, who always is called "Ruddy" because of the lovely color of her hair. Ruddy and her parents are hoping for good weather, as the party will be an outdoor one if it is pleasant. Miss Hale was just graduated from Milton academy. She expects some eastern friends to visit her later this summer.

Marjorie Lindsay to Be Introduced Sept. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lindsay of Winnetka have decided to introduce their debutante daughter, Marjorie, at a tea-dance on the afternoon of Sept. 6 at the Indian Hill club. Miss Lindsay, a graduate of the Baldwin school, will return to Vassar for her sophomore year in the fall. The Lindsay family will divide the summer as usual between Winnetka and their summer home in Pine Lake, Wis.

Two engagement announcements make interesting news today. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nelson Crawford of 1236 Astor street and Delevan Lake, Wis., are revealing the engagement of their daughter, Suzette, to Norman L. Cavedo, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cavedo of Richmond, Va.

Miss Crawford, a granddaughter of the late John G. Garibaldi, early Chicago merchant, and of the late Mrs. Garibaldi, was educated at the Sacred Heart convent in Lake Forest, at Noroton-on-the-Sound, and at Manhattanville college. She is a niece of Count and Countess Giulio Bolognesi of Chicago and Wisconsin.

Mr. Cavedo, who recently was a guest of the Crawfords at their summer home, attended the Benedictine preparatory school and was graduated from the Virginia Military institute. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Miss Josephine Barber's Troth Being Announced.

At their summer home in Edgartown, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Courtenay Barber of Chicago today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Josephine, to the Rev. John Thorn Golding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thorn Golding of Brookline, Mass. The marriage will take place on Aug. 30 in St. Andrew's church, Edgartown.

Miss Barber attended the Walnut Hill school, the Wheelock school in Boston, and Northwestern university. Mr. Golding was graduated from Haverford college in 1931 and attended the Episcopal Theological school in Cambridge and the Union and General Theological seminaries in New York. He is rector of the Episcopal parish on Martha's Vineyard, and was formerly on the staff of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George Voevodsky will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Nicolai Malko and Albert Spalding at supper at their home in Lake Forest next Saturday night following the concert in Ravinia park. Mr. Malko is to be the guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra during the current week of the Ravinia festival season, taking the place of Artur Rodzinski, who is ill.

Mr. Malko's appearance in the park tonight will be his first in the middle west. He and Mr. Voevodsky, who is a member of the Ravinia festival committee, were friends in Russia. The Malkos and their 4 year old son have taken an apartment in Chicago. Mr. Spalding, noted violinist, will play for the first time in the park next Saturday and again on July 20.

Three Pretty Bridesmaids

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Putting last minute touches to their bridesmaids' costumes in the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, are pictured the three pretty young women who attended Miss Adele Proxmire when she became Mrs. John E. Baker Jr. last Saturday night. The attendants were Mrs. George Gary, standing, and Miss Josephine Dawes, center, of New York, and Miss Allene Withers of Pasadena, Cal. Miss Withers formerly lived in Winnetka. Mr. Baker and his bride departed for a honeymoon in Canada following the gay reception her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Theodore S. Proxmire of Lake Forest, gave at the Onwentsia club.

North Shore Women Join Protest Against War Participation

Two hundred women met yesterday at the Winnetka Community house to organize north shore participation in the Roll Call of American Women.

Miss Harriet Vittum, president of this organization to prevent the sending of American men to fight in the European war, told the group: "There are hundreds of thousands of women who want to have their boys live for their country rather than die for nothing over there.

"I wish I could place the shattered men I saw the other day at Hines hospital on trucks and take them thru the streets for every one to see. They are the bitter fruit of the last war we fought to save democracy. This time we must stay out of war to keep democracy safe in America."

More than 40,000 persons from every state in the Union, Miss Vittum said, have signified their desire to join the organization since it was formed less than a month ago.

Miss Jessamine Hoagland, executive vice president, emphasized that "if 45 million women say our men cannot be sent abroad, the congressmen wouldn't dare send them."

Those enrolled in the organization, Miss Hoagland said, already have written their congressmen urging nonintervention in the war abroad, and have supported the Republican leaders who were instrumental in having the peace plank written into the party platform. Similar efforts will be made to have a peace plank included in the Democratic platform. A giant petition, to be taken to Washington, D. C., and a massmeeting are among other plans which the Roll Call has in prospect.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 1.—"You would," said a misty-eyed press department, "get a good interview out of Wayne Morris and his wife, Bubbles. He's a sort of bull in a baby shop—a big husky guy in this lovely home. He married a rich woman, you know. Get him to show the nursery."

So I said okay, I'd like to see Wayne and Bubbles at home if it could be fixed. Particularly because of the story about when they moved into the new place. The bath towels had "Wayne" and "Bubbles" embroidered on them as autographs. When Wayne saw them he noted that Mrs. Norris' towels also had embroidered bubbles on them, while his had nothing but his signature.

"Why couldn't you have thought up something for me?" he asked the former Leonora Schinasi. She explained she couldn't think up anything cute and symbolic like bubbles. "You could have had stars," said Morris.

Well, a couple of days went by and no word about the date for an interview with the happy couple, so I called up a contact man. "I can't find Wayne," he said, "but as soon as I do I'll let you know." Next day the story broke about the separation and Morris' living in an apartment. Which goes to show how things happen out here. And which goes to show that the next time they tell me a man can't be found I'm going to come right back and demand if he's on the lam from the little woman.

That sort of thing occurs quite often. Recently the Frank Borzages had their twenty-fourth wedding anniversary and threw a big party. This was duck soup for the Metro publicity department. Think of it! People married a couple dozen years! Still men were dispatched to shoot the party from all angles and a fine layout of pictures was planted with the society editor of a local paper for a big Sunday spread.

This Sunday section went to press Thursday—and just about deadline time came word that the Borzages had separated. All those nice wedding anniversary captions had to be ripped out at the last minute and something a little more newsy substituted.

The Beverly Hills hotel is being redecorated, even to putting new faces and new locks on the doors. This naturally means a lot of stuff with painters, carpenters, and paper hangers, and the other afternoon Simone Simon let out a yelp from her quarters. She was trying to rest and she couldn't rest with all that going on, and it would have to stop immediately until she finished resting. So they stopped it—just at a time when Luise Rainer's door, down the hall, had been taken off the hinges for a quick face lifting. Poor Miss Rainer had to get along with no door on her place until Simone S. had got thru being tired.

Preston Sturges had a double celebration late Sattidy. He finished shooting the Dick Powell-Ellen Drew comedy, variously called "A Cup of Coffee" and "The New Yorkers," and he threw a preopening party at his new restaurant, the Players. The place is on Sunset strip and he wanted it called Monoxide inn, but people wouldn't let him.

Want to Watch Cubs? You'll Have to Hurry

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Thursday, July 11, is going to be an important day in the lives of 100 boys and girls. When the umpire yells, "Play ball," out at Wrigley field that afternoon, a part of the audience will be the youngsters who've won invitations to see the Chicago Cubs play Boston.

I don't know whom they will be, altho the mailman brought lots of mail yesterday, because any boy or girl who'd like an invitation to this party still has time to try for it. The deadline is tomorrow, so if you hurry like everything you still have time to get in your bid.

If you're a dyed-in-the-wool Cub fan and you'd just love to come to this party, get a paper and pencil and tell me all about it. I'm going to try to select as my guests the boys and girls who'll be made happiest with invitations—and I can't tell how much you would like to see this game unless you write in and tell me.

Be sure when you write that letter that you don't get so enthusiastic that you forget to tell me your full name and address and your age.

Don't worry about spelling or crooked lines. All I want to know is why you think you'd have a good time if you came to this party. No one else may write your letter for you, and you may not win an invitation for any one else. If you know and love your baseball and the Cubs, you have a pretty good chance of seeing your name listed with the winners in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. So hurry, hurry and get that letter off to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Seeing.

The Oriental institute of the University of Chicago, of which youthful Dr. John A. Wilson is director, sent several pieces of sculpture to the fine exhibition of Persian art which closed recently after a ten weeks' showing in New York. Helen Keller visited the exhibition and with her fingers "saw" these pieces from the time of Darius and Xerxes. Her reaction to the head of a Persian emperor: "What a noble and grand personality—so powerful and yet so tranquil."

Comic Relief.

Cellophane mittens to wear while eating barbecued spareribs have made their appearance at the Jolly Chef barbecue on Sheridan road. Just dig right in to food that's pure, and give no care 'bout your manicure is printed in red letters on the mittens.

Recorded Approbation.

A forthcoming Flagstad-Melchior record album offers a novelty in that the conductor, Edwin McArthur, became so excited at Miss Flagstad's artistry in a difficult passage of Wagner that he cried, "Bravo! Bravo!" distinctly audible at the close. Rather than risk another recording, engineers decided to allow the applause to remain for posterity.

Conductor McArthur's recorded approbation brings to mind that home made record in our own collection, made one night after the theater, when Judith Anderson recorded a dramatic scene from Eugene O'Neill's Mourning Becomes Electra. She paused in the midst of one of her tragic utterances, and voices of listeners in the background are plainly audible on the record: "Go on, Judy, that's swell."

On the back of that record, made the same night, is a recording made by Dorothy Day, now Mrs. Nathan Wendell Jr. of Chicago, who then was appearing in Counsellor-at-Law. It is the famous telephone operator's one-sided conversation beginning, Hello, Gracie. That same evening Otto Kruger made a record, too, we recall—an imitation of David Belasco, a wonderful piece of mimicry. And Carl Bricken, now head of the University of Wisconsin school of music, recorded some improvised variations on Handel. Ah, me, that was long ago, in another world when one did something evenings beside read war news and listen to radio news bulletins.

Bulletin from Camp.

Postcard received the other day from the 9 year old grandchild of one of Evanston's most aristocratic citizens after her first day at camp:

Camp is swell. Rained all day. Swept out the John and the horse barn. Camp is swell.

The Fate of the Darmenys

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright 1940 by News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

INSTALMENT XXXII.
ABSENTEE.

The fishing party had returned some time ago. Betsy had caught four perch which Mrs. Lemon put into the refrigerator and promised her for her breakfast.

Betsy's day had been sort of half and half. She hadn't hoped for a great deal from Leda, who spent most of the time sitting on a fallen log pretending to read. But she had expected her father to be more sociable than he was.

He said if they talked too much, it would scare the fish. Her father put on waders and cast for trout, but he hadn't caught a single one and was quite wrathy about it.

It was fun to have beaten him at his own game, even if they were only perch, but lunch was a failure, tho thru no fault of Mrs. Lemon's. Nobody but Betsy ate anything.

Having her bath and putting herself to bed with some slight assistance from Hilda, was a bore. Betsy had counted on Shirley for the last act, and Hilda said: "Miss Westall hasn't been here all day. She went home early."

And that was queer, because Aunt Madge had said distinctly that Shirley couldn't come fishing with them because she was needed here at Beechbourne.

If Shirley had come, it might have made all the hilarious difference, even if mummy was along.

Still it was fun to have caught all those fish. And learning to bait a hook with a live worm was thrilling, once you got over the horrid feeling of them squiggling.

"Did you ever put a worm on a hook, Hilda?"

"Ugh, Miss Betsy, I couldn't so much as touch the nasty thing!"

Hilda was a washout. Betsy yawned and climbed into bed to wait for her supper tray.

"I wonder if Auntie Madge has forgot my prayers?" she thought, suddenly stricken with self-pity.

Mrs. Darmeny drew her chased hunting case watch from the pocket of her bodice, looked at it and then rose.

It was time for her to go up to say goodnight to Betsy. The child would have finished her supper by now.

Madge was reluctant to leave the beautiful evening, but the glory of the trailing banners was fading fast and the folds of the downs had turned inky. Other stars were pricking timidly out of the sky to join their bold and brilliant sister.

With a sigh for all the beauty in this sadly troubled world, Madge Darmeny passed thru the drawing room, where Brett was putting a match to the log fire, and went on up to the nursery.

Betsy, eating her last mouthful of bread and milk, was slightly cheered at sight of her.

"I thought you would probably forget," she said.

Madge drew up a chair and sat down beside her.

"Do I ever?"

"No—but just once, you might."

Hilda came and took away the tray.

"And once before I thought you were going to." Betsy said lugubriously. "Did you ever put a live worm on a hook, Auntie Madge?"

"Dear me, I don't think so."

"Not even when you were a little girl? Of course you were a little girl once."

"Yes. I must have been. But it was only the boys who went fishing when I was young. I think you'd better start your prayers now."

Betsy shuffled on to her knees.

"Did Uncle Geoffry get his teeth fixed at the dentist's?" she asked.

"I expect so. He isn't back yet."

Madge was worried about Geoffry. Something had happened between him and Frank, and she wished she knew what it was. It was high time those two grew up.

"Maybe he'll never come back," Betsy said. "I heard mummy tell daddy he probably wouldn't, and daddy said——"

"Begin your prayers, Betsy."

"I'm just going to."

"I suppose I'd better say, 'God bless Uncle Geoffry, too'?"

"Why, of course!"

"All right, if you say so, 'And-God-bless-Uncle-Geoffry-too-amen.' But whatever it is, Auntie Madge, I'm on daddy's side."

Madge Darmeny did not challenge that last remark.

The silvery chime of the dinner gong gave her an excuse to ignore it. Gibson waylaid her in the hall.

"Excuse me, madam, but will Mr. Geoffry be dining tonight?"

"I have no idea," Mrs. Darmeny replied. "He hasn't telephoned, I take it?"

"No, Madam."

"Well, you'd better take away his place, and if he comes, you can put it back again."

"Very good, Madam."

The four of them met in the drawing room, Frank a moment late, owing to tie trouble.

The burden of conversation seemed to fall on Mrs. Darmeny.

Amelia, perched on the edge of a straight backed chair, wore the ruffled look of a broody hen. Her eyes darted hither and thither, and she even made little clucking noises in her throat.

Leda had the evening paper and a cigaret. She lounged with her shoulders against the mantelpiece.

"Get down on your knees, Frank, and I'll tie your tie properly," said Madge.

"I'd be glad if you would," he replied.

He felt young and guilty as he knelt before her. He knew she was worrying about Geoffry, and with all his heart and soul he wished he could set her mind at peace.

When she had put his tie right, she gave him a pat on the shoulder.

"It's all right, Frank," she said under her breath. "I understand."

As he got up, he bent over her hand and kissed it.

Leda glanced up from her paper at them in a cold, detached manner, and then emptied her sherry glass at a gulp.

"Dinner is served, Madam," said Gibson.

"Give me your arm, Frank," said Madge Darmeny.

Leda raised her eyebrows and made a little mouth for Amelia's benefit.

But Amelia, who had been potshotted in the woods and had more than a suspicion who had done it, wasn't hobnobbing with Leda behind Madge's back or anywhere else, and ignored the tacit overture.

They got thru the meal with the help of a bottle of the famous Chateau claret that General Darmeny had laid down and of which there were only a dozen or so left. It was the only wine Madge really liked.

"I'm afraid this isn't going to keep a great deal longer," she said as she lifted her glass and looked in Frank's direction. "Not long enough to celebrate your son's coming of age, anyway."

It seemed an odd thing to say, and Amelia was scandalized.

"What a hope!" sighed Leda.

"Betsy is a girl," Amelia reminded her cousin. Surely one glass of claret hadn't affected Madge; she had barely touched her sherry.

Mrs. Darmeny smiled serenely. "Yes, dear Amelia—but as Leda says, 'What a hope!' We can drink to that, can't we? For hope is a very fine and precious thing. Most of us live on it, in one way or another."

Frank covered what might have been an embarrassing silence by asking Amelia what raiment she had bought in Canterbury, and Amelia—feeling the wine rush to her weak head—began talking hard and fast about all the things she had not bought.

But any amount of talking did not cover the question that was in the mind of each of them: Where was Geoffry?

Be Generous to Own Needy, City Is Told

Generous giving has been America's response to the echo of millions of homeless feet wandering the roads of Europe. But, in their absorption in the distant war tragedy, citizens are cautioned by the United Charities, with other agencies, against losing sight of the suffering of the poor they have always with them in their own communities. It is the dictate of charity, the agencies remind, that the first line of service be maintained for the widow and the orphan, the ill housed and the hungry at home.

Summer brings into operation two of the United Charities' important health-guarding and even life-saving projects—Camp Algonquin and the Free Ice fund.

By the thousands Camp Algonquin, with its clean fresh air and hearty table, has restored undernourished children to rosy health and given worn and worried mothers rest and new courage. Tribune readers have been generous contributors to that charity for thirty years.

The season is now in full swing at Fox River vacation grounds. The second party of more than 200 campers will be installed, in two divisions, next Tuesday and Thursday. The United Charities can provide a two-week vacation at Algonquin for $10.

Cool weather has delayed the insistant pleas for ice. But with the first heat wave will come the deluge of requests.

One mother of a year-old baby already has drawn on the fund for ice to keep the child's milk fresh. An old man, 85 years old, who subsists chiefly on milk, also has asked for help. Ice tickets are being supplied to a motherless household where the father is caring for five children, all under school age. In another home where there are eight small children, the mother has just returned from the County hospital after a serious operation. Both she and the oldest child, a girl of 11, who recently has developed a cardiac disorder, are receiving the ice they must have thru the free ice fund.

Plea Made for Food and Cash for Camp of Underprivileged

A plea for contributions of funds and food was issued yesterday by Col. Hulday Smith of the Volunteers of America as the organization saw 100 mothers and children off on the S. S. Roosevelt, bound for camp near Benton Harbor, Mich. Representatives from the Volunteers' headquarters at 2841 West Washington boulevard [Kedzie 2363] will call for gifts of food upon request.

The Volunteers' camp is operated all summer in two-week vacation periods. Located 5 miles north of Benton Harbor, the vacation ground commands a 1,700-foot length of beach and 17 acres of woodland and meadows. There are 15 cottages, a recreation center, dining hall, and a large administration building.

It is the proud record of the camp cooks that, after two weeks of scientifically planned meals, generous in fresh vegetables, eggs and milk, children who came pale and languid from undernourishment are returned home pounds heavier and as lively as girls and boys should be.

Nothing Much to This Movie but the Actors

"SAFARI."
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Edward H. Griffith.
Based on story by Paul Hervey Fox.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST.

Jim Logan.....Douglas Fairbanks Jr.
Linda Stewart.....Madeleine Carroll
Baron de Courland.....Tullio Carminati
Kay Thorne.....Muriel Angelus
Jock McPhail.....Lynne Overman

Good Morning!

KIND: Drama staged in synthetic jungles. Hunter and safari manager love the same girl—who has accompanied party to arouse jealousy of hunter—a wealthy baron—by trifling with said safari boss. She THINKS she wants a life padded with chinchilla. . . . Safari boss shows her she'd got herself wrong. . . .

ACTING: I really couldn't say. Actors must need have something to work with, I'd think. Mr. Carminati as the hunter is heel-ish. Mr. Fairbanks is brave and strong and noble and adamant all over the place. Miss Carroll is beautiful and unconvincing. . . . Lynne Overman as a Scotch trader was the picture's one ray of sunshine to me.

DIRECTION: Better than the story.

TECHNICAL THIS, THAT, and T'OTHER: Okey.

DIALOG: Atrocious.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Couldn't find any. Looked at from any viewpoint, "Safari" is vurr, vurr' dull.

See you tomorrow.

On the House

A nation-wide survey by the Council for Paint Styling shows a yen among many people to paint their front door a different and colorful hue. . . . This focuses attention on the front door. . . . At the same time, if you wish to detract attention from some chimney that perhaps stands out a bit too prominently, paint it the same shade as the body color of the house. . . . As for roofs, they are staying medium to dark.

The busy housewife finds refrigerator rolls a joy. Kneading the dough for any bread or roll is the most difficult and time-taking part of the task, and if this can be done a day or so before the time the rolls are needed, what a saving of time and effort is accomplished!

The initial part of the mixing may be done with your electric mixer, if you like. Of course, only about half the flour could be mixed into the liquids and yeast with the mixer unless you have one of the heavy machines which can do the whole job of mixing for you. But the good beginning made by the beaters on the ordinary electric mixer can spare a little of that "elbow grease" which is required for a good job of kneading.

Butterflake Refrigerator Rolls.
[About 3 dozen]
2 cakes compressed yeast
¼ cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
2 eggs, beaten
About 5 cups flour

Crumble yeast into sugar and let stand until liquefied, about 15 or 20 minutes. Meanwhile, scald the milk and add salt and butter. Cool to lukewarm. Add beaten eggs and yeast to milk. Add half the flour and beat until smooth, on a mixer of using a wooden spoon. Add remaining flour and turn out onto a floured board. Knead the dough vigorously until it becomes smooth and elastic, and sticks neither to the hands nor to the board. You'll find this dough softer and stickier than usual, but be cautious about adding more flour, for a light textured roll of this kind can't be made from a stiff dough.

Round up the dough, roll it around in a greased bowl to coat it with fat, and leave in the bowl to rise. Cover with a plate or a cloth and let rise about two hours in a warm place, about 84 degrees. Punch down dough, roll into a ball, and place in a chilled, greased bowl with a tight cover. Refrigerate until the dough is needed. It should be covered tightly while in the refrigerator. The dough will rise some, even while it is being chilled, but action is retarded.

Take dough from refrigerator and divide it into three parts. Roll parts out separately into long rectangles. Roll dough as thinly as possible. Brush with melted butter and cut into long strips about an inch wide. Pile four or five strips on top of each other, and cut thru the pile at intervals of a little more than an inch. Place each of the clusters into a greased muffin cup, standing it on end. When the rolls are baked, you will be able to pull off "petals." Cover the rolls with a clean cloth and let rise until very light. Bake at 425 degrees about 15 minutes.

The same dough may be shaped into butterhorn or cinnamon rolls. Or it may be used for cloverleaf or parkerhouse rolls. For these latter it is better to let the chilled dough stand at room temperature for an hour and a half before shaping.

BUTTERHORN ROLLS.

To shape butterhorns, divide chilled dough into four parts, and roll each into a circle. Brush with butter and cut pie-wise into eight pieces. Roll each piece, starting at the wide end, and place the rolls on a greased baking sheet with their "tails" tucked underneath, so that they won't come unrolled during the rising and baking.

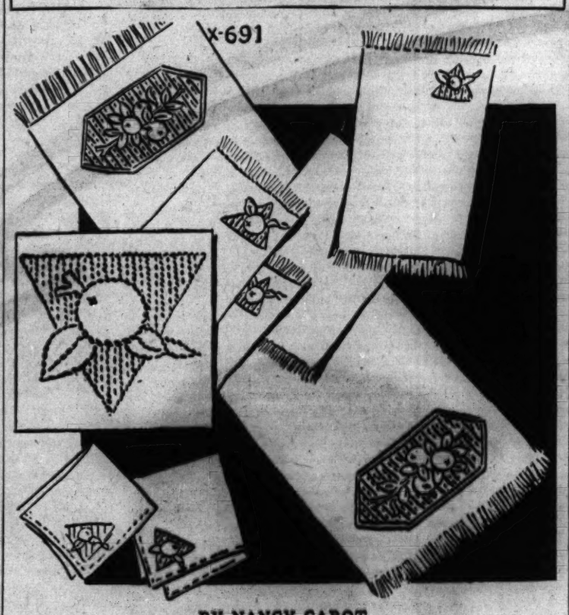
Motifs for a Breakfast Set



BY NANCY CABOT.

There can be no more attractive breakfast set than one embroidered with colorful fruit motifs. Long runners, individual doilies, and napkins may be embroidered with these designs. The hot iron transfer pattern includes 10 motifs, list of material requirements, as well as detailed instructions and illustrations of stitches.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the fruit motifs for a breakfast set, No. X-691, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is my rule to publish only such hands as fall within the bounds of reason. By this I mean that if a completely insane bid or play is reported to me I see no purpose in passing it along. It cannot point a moral, hence is usually worthless from an educational standpoint. Occasionally, however, circumstances lead me to break this rule. Even when a bid or play is inexplicable the fact that it has been made by a better than average player suggests that other players might duplicate the error, hence it becomes worth discussing. All of which leads up to the following remarkable account:

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Your articles on contract bridge have been very interesting and I feel that I have gained considerable from them. However, I would like to see more articles covering sacrifice bidding. Take, for example, the following hand:

"East, dealer.
"North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K Q J 10 9 8
♥ A K Q J 10 9
♦ None
♣ 2

WEST
♠ None
♥ 3 2
♦ K 10 9 8 7 6 4 2
♣ J 10 7

EAST

♦ A Q 5

SOUTH
♠ A 7 4 3
♥ 8 7 6

♣ 6 5 4 3

"The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 spade
3 clubs	3 spades	4 clubs	4 hearts
Pass	4 spades	5 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

"This hand came up in a seven table duplicate game and at six of the tables North and South obtained the bid, most of them bidding the slam.

"East passed on the first round, feeling that his hand was too full of holes and too lacking in major suit support to go anywhere unless his partner could open the bidding. North's one spade bid after three passes was terrible and, I believe, was the direct cause of the final result. South's three spade bid over East's three clubs was a slight stretch, but as this was duplicate we cannot criticize the bid. West's four club bid was a stab in the dark to deceive the opponents. North's four heart bid was astounding—with a two-suited hand and five-odd cold in his hand, six hearts or six spades possibly would have shut up the opponents. North's double of five clubs was, of course, unexplainable.

"The play of the hand was immaterial. North and South, in spite of this bad board, were the winning North-South pair and in a section made up of the strongest players. Some time ago I sent you a hand and in your article you stated that my bidding was like stealing candy from a baby. Well, maybe it was, but I think this hand might be classed as a double steal, as they say in baseball. F. C., Chicago."

* *

Until I read the part about this North-South team coming out first in the strongest section, I felt that there was no reason for reporting such a peculiar affair. North's bidding, from start to finish, was beyond anything I have seen and, not unnaturally, I put it down to total lack of experience. But after reading the entire letter my curiosity became strongly aroused. More and more I wrestled with the question, "What conceivable thought processes on North's part could have produced those bids?" I have no fault to find with the original spade bid. Indeed, with this freakish distribution I am inclined to think that the one spade opening was the soundest and most strategic bid. Despite North's tremendous power, he had only 3½-plus honor tricks, hence a two-bid might be very unwise [North might find South with something like the A-K-Q of diamonds and the A-K of clubs and thereby land in an unmakable grand slam]. The four heart bid, however, after South had found a free raise to three spades, was incomprehensible. North not only should have bid six but, if he doubled, should promptly have redoubled.

But nothing in my experience approaches North's double of five clubs, and it is this bid which I should be very grateful to have explained by any one whose imagination can soar that far.

Tomorrow's Hand

TOLL HOUSE COOKIES GREAT WITH ICED TEA

Try this wonderful summertime combination. A tall tinkling glass of cooling iced tea and a plate of rich, tempting Toll House Cookies. Here's just the thing to serve for tea. Popular with everybody and so easy to prepare. Have you tried making those amazing Toll House Cookies? Here's the famous original recipe that never fails:

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet to the size of a pea as indicated on the wrapper. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop by half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies.

Everyone will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrapper. There is no substitute, Toll House Recipe on each wrapper. Other delicious recipes inside the wrapper! Or send for a Recipe Booklet. Free. Address: Semi-Sweet Chocolate Dept., 68 Hudson St., N. Y. Crooks Makes Concert Really Gala Evening

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Grant park saw its first gala evening of the 1940 season last night when Richard Crooks, American tenor, appeared as soloist with the Chicago Opera orchestra, Henry Weber conducting. The great sky-roofed auditorium opposite 11th street was packed with people. Enthusiasm ran high, and those sounds which are a feature of every Grant park gala—shouts and shrill whistles—were heard again on the lake front.

For Mr. Crooks, late in the evening, performed the Herculean feat of warming up an audience which thru most of the concert had been extremely cold—both literally and figuratively. A wind that might have come straight from Greenland's mountains had taken care of the crowd's physical temperature. A program which included an excessive number of pieces which were slow, or, quiet, or long, had kept the emotional temperature almost as low.

Then Mr. Crooks [who had done "Ah Moon of My Delight" earlier in the evening without exerting any very noticeable effect on the general climate] came back to the stage for a group of such stand-bys as Tours' "Mother o' Mine," Schubert's serenade, and Herbert's "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life." He sang with so extraordinary a beauty of tone and so ingratiating a musical manner that even an opus like "Ah Sweet Mystery" seemed, for the moment, almost bearable. Audience enthusiasm grew by leaps and bounds, and Mr. Crooks kept adding encores until long after the concert's regular 10 o'clock closing hour.

He even included some good songs among these encores, and found that they were received with tumultuous applause. Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me" was included in this group.

Thanks to the excellent new amplification system, Mr. Crook's resonant, perfectly textured voice was projected without loss of quality to distant parts of the field. People a block away could exult in his delicate color effects, his usually apt and expressive little lingerings and hurryings, and in the almost architectural beauty of many of his phrasings. All in all, Mr. Crooks made a splendid impression on this, his first lake front appearance.

The statement that the early part of the program did not succeed in inflaming the audience does not mean that it did not contain some good performances. The adagietto from the Mahler Fifth symphony, for instance, altho it was a doubtful choice for a big outdoor concert where vividness and projective power are so important, was played with a suavity and skill which among other surroundings might have made a deep impression.

75th Anniversary of Salvation Army Celebrated Today

Seventy-five years ago today William Booth, a Methodist minister who had left his church, mounted a soap box in London's east end slum and preached a sermon. His talk gained one convert.

Thus was the beginning of the Salvation Army in its international religious and social service work which now operates in 97 countries and colonies with a membership of 5 million persons.

Tho the European war has curtailed the original plans for a diamond jubilee, Salvation Army corps thruout the world and United States will observe the anniversary.

In Chicago the principal observance will be held tonight at the Chicago Temple corps at 1512 Madison street. Maj. Charles Langley, corps commander, will have charge of the ceremonies.

Summertime Play Attire

MISS' PLAYTIME TOGS.

Summer is really here, and undoubtedly you've been amazed how few play clothes you really have. This pattern creates an ensemble that flatters the figures of the slimsters. There's a one piece play suit with tailored bodice and comfortably styled shorts, the entire back of the bodice omitted for play freedom and beneficial sun's rays. The garment buttons down the side. The button-on skirt is shirred into a snug waistband, and buttons all the way down the front. The bolero is a brief model with short sleeves. Color contrasts may be employed effectively in this ensemble, in all types of washable materials.

Style No. 3383 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material for play suit; 2⅞ yards for skirt; 1 yard for bolero.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

July 2, 1940.

Universal Day—You won't be able to accomplish much, so relax and take the distractions in your stride.

Month Ahead—For those born today or who are in a 5-year, July has the same number for them that it has universally, so they can be ready for an onslaught of a great deal of talk. Don't let your emotions run away with your tongue. There are going to be plenty of self-appointed spokesmen without your help. This is the best month for your vacation and any time up to the last week will be happiest. Have a good time and forget about work, because August will be more restricting and you'll feel cheated if you don't make these next few weeks pleasant.

Favor Turbans or Cartwheels for Hot Days

BY REA SEEGER.

There are two dramatic extremes in midsummer hats: Small, exotic, twisted turbans and the floppy cartwheels of straw silk or the extravagantly lovely transparencies in filmy black. When you get under a brim these days of sultry sunshine you are under the extremes of width.

Old fashioned leghorns are in again, tied with black velvet ribbon or trimmed with a fat single red or pink rose or still more romantic with a delicate width of fine black lace, shadowing a band of apple green or cerise grosgrain ribbon.

Small hats are of the bonnet variety, folds and folds of plum skin thin silk jersey, worked by expert fingers into snail curves, intricate twists and halo effects, all of tiny finger wide tucks or folds. Thin affairs of material resembling organdy only softer are the very sophisticated turbans accented with cooky edge trim and the skimpy little halos of black outlined with a wreath of field flowers and leaves. A trio of huge gardenias with lacquered dark green leaves anchored to a headband has a drift of dark green veiling for contrast. Smaller flowers are also used in the same manner.

Big black picture hats of smooth thin felt go feminine with a ruffled frill of black lace at the edge, others have high crowns frilled with black lace and a matching unruffled band around the brim edge. The most exciting transparent hat, large and face framing, is the sombrero in black horse braid with a bow of black taffeta at the back of the neck.

Others droop with proper tantalizing allure 'way down over the eyelines in front and up at the sides. Prim, straight brims are effective because they are so wide. All of these new hats are charming all the shoppers as well as the gentlemen who usually criticize!

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Frankly, the subject of depilatories is one we'd rather skip. Not that such products aren't good, and immensely valuable to the woman who loathes superfluous hair on her arms and legs.

The thing is that with depilatories, as with deodorants, for instance, the unknown factor of a woman's purely individual sensitivity is a pretty big consideration. In other words, what one woman can and does use with the greatest satisfaction may prove irritating to another woman.

The modern preparations are well made, safe, and efficient. Even that horrible odor which was always so objectionable in the old type depilatories is being conquered. The thing to do, in choosing your depilatory is to choose one made by a reputable house and to follow the directions and warnings with the utmost care. This last is very important. Waxes, too, must be used according to the carefully detailed directions.

If, even after such cautious selection, the product irritates your skin, don't blame the product. You're just sensitive to some harmless [to most people] ingredient in it. Try another one. You've probably had to follow this procedure in choosing and using deodorants.

There are cream and liquid depilatories and waxes and right now there is a great vogue for the pads which are coated with a superfine abrasive. Some people like these immensely.

BAKED HAM RECIPE

Place ham in an open roaster, add 2 cups of water and heat in a moderate oven (350° F), allowing 5 minutes to the pound for a whole ham. Take ham from oven, remove skin, if any, score fat, stud with cloves and pat on ¾ cup of brown sugar. Add 1 cup liquid—fruit juice or cider. If desired, decorate with pineapple rings, citron and glace cherries. Increase heat to 400° F and return to oven. Baste frequently until surface has a rich golden brown glaze.

Thousands will enjoy the matchless flavor and tenderness of Wilson's Tender Made Ham on the Fourth of July. Hot or cold, it's the ham that has become a national habit for holidays and feast days. • But remember, there is only one genuine Tender Made Ham. It's "the ham you cut with a fork"—prepared exclusively by Wilson's Secret Process—ready to serve or just heat and eat. • Requires only 5 minutes to the pound for heating. • Surprisingly economical, too, because there's no excessive oven-shrinkage. So, compared to ordinary ham, a Wilson's Tender Made Ham gives you the equivalent of 2 thick center-cut slices, Plus. That's why it costs no more on your table. • Go to your market today. Have a genuine Wilson's Tender Made Ham reserved for you. Look for the Yellow Wrapper with the Wilson's Tender Made trade mark on it.

DEMPSEY KNOCKS OUT WRESTLER IN 2D ROUND

CUBS LOSE IN TENTH, 4 TO 3; TIGERS WHIP SOX, 3 TO 1

WANER'S WALK WITH 3 ON GIVES PIRATES GAME

DiMaggio's Homer Ties Score in 9th.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs did an excellent job of chasing the Pittsburgh Pirates in Wrigley field yesterday and by their persistence finally worked around in front of the enemy. But the latter refused to be disconcerted. They simply tied the score in the ninth when Vince DiMaggio smacked a homer, and won out in the tenth inning when Claude Passeau's control revealed he wasn't the man needed for a rescue job. So Gabby Hartnett's 22 man gang took its fourth straight beating, 4 to 3, in the opener of the series.

Seven innings of the battle, waged before 4,335 customers, were devoted to matching runs. The Pirates, aided by Bob Collins, counted against Ken Raffensberger in the fifth. The Cubs tied it up for the kid lefthander by assessing old Dan MacFayden for a run in the same inning. In the seventh there was another matching of runs, and in the eighth the Cubs went ahead for the first time by denting Ken Heintzelman, successor to MacFayden. But thereafter they were chilled off by Mace Brown, and at the same time the Pirates chilled both Vern Olsen and Passeau.

Walks in Winning Run.

Olsen, who was in service for the third time in two days because of the hob-tailed staff at Hartnett's command, was the victim of DiMaggio's tying homer in the ninth and also of singles hit by Lee Handley and Frank Gustine with none out in the 10th. This was where Passeau came in. Bob Elliott sacrificed and Garms, batting for Lem Young, was purposely passed, loading the bags. Passeau worked himself almost clear of the storm by fanning Elbie Fletcher, but apparently became a bit fretful when Paul Waner appeared in place of Maurice VanRobays. Paul drew a pass and Handley carried in the winning run.

In the course of the afternoon, Arky Vaughan, Pirate shortstop, was asked to abandon his chores. Arky overflowed verbally when called out on what he figured was a foul bounder to Phil Cavarretta with a man on second in the fourth inning. Vaughan's language didn't disturb Umpire Jorda, but when he climaxed his protest by hurling his bat against the wire backstop he was chased.

The Pirate fifth, in which Raffensberger was annoyed for the moment by having 10 instead of the customary 9 men playing against him, opened with DiMaggio singling to left. Vince didn't wait for a bunt, but stole his way to second and continued to third when Collins threw the ball into center field. A minute later DiMaggio was across the plate with the first run of the game, the propelling item being Al Lopez's fly to Gleeson.

Raffensberger Hits and Scores.

The Cubs tied it up in the same inning on a pair of hits. After Bobby Mattick had been tossed out, Raffensberger singled to center. Hack helped by singling to right and thus giving Raffensberger ample time to reach third. He went the rest of the distance on Herman's fly to Van Robays.

A pair of extra base hits restored the one run lead to the Pirates in the seventh. Fletcher started the inning by looking at the third strike, but Van Robays followed with a triple to right center and registered on DiMaggio's two bagger.

Altho three hits rattled off the Cub's bats in the seventh the output was limited to the tying run. Cavarretta touched off this episode by tripling to right center and when Collins fanned, Manager Hartnett decided he had best turn to his pinch batters. Augie Galan batted for Mattick and beat out a single to Young at short. Rip Russell swung for Raffensberger and belted a clean single to left, sending Cavarretta home. MacFayden was excused and his rescuer,

And if she plays Europe's game
Hers will be the greater shame,
For the war will eat her vitals like a vulture.

Famine will invade our land,
And our hatreds will expand
Till they crush out every vestige of our reason;
Like a blind rapacious beast
Pestilence will be released,
And the country will be rife with death and treason.

Let us keep out of this mess
And endeavor to redress
The injustices our land is guilty of;
War and hate and devastation
Never built up any nation,
Let us try a span of justice and love.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 1.—The record of unusual circumstances surrounding the Max Baer-Tony Galento brawl tomorrow evening in Jersey City advanced to an unbelievable climax late last night when for a few hours it was thought the fight might have to be postponed because of a fight.

Had Galento been incapacitated in an unscheduled scrap in his Day street bar in Orange, he not only would have lost his membership in the Fighters' union, but the whole affair would have been highly embarrassing to Promoter Mike Jacobs, who is having no difficulty selling tickets at $12 each. Jacobs wanted no preview of his show for a 10 cent glass of beer admission.

Galento has been wearing a protective head guard in his practice matches in Summit, rather a makeshift man in the iron mask. Now Tony's managers realize he should have worn the mask all the time.

Still a Mystery Angle.

While there still is a mystery surrounding the whole affair, which was in no way solved by the arrest of Russell Galento, Tony's brother. Manager Harry Mendel announced this morning that Tony has only "suffered a superficial abrasion."

From other sources came word that Tony had received a gash on his chin an inch long when Russell tossed a glass of beer in Tony's face and followed thru with the glass. Since Tony seldom finishes the first round of any fight without being cut it might be satisfactory to start tomorrow's fight with round two.

Tony completely disregarded his wound, if any, and definitely said again he expected to "knock the bum out." Most agreed that Tony identified Baer as the bum but a minority held that Tony was thinking of his brother.

Tony Takes Publicity Lead.

In any event, weather permitting, Baer and Galento will fight 15 rounds or less tomorrow night in Roosevelt stadium.

With this last escapade, Galento took the lead in publicity from Baer who went thru the final day's work in his Pompton Lakes camp. Max will come to Jersey City for the weighing in ceremony at noon tomorrow and then will relax in the Hotel New Yorker until duty calls him to cross the Hudson river once more.

Galento followed his program for all fights here when he drilled for a last time this afternoon in Joe Crouch's gym in Newark. Joe the Groutch, as he is known in Jersey, gave Galento his start in professional boxing and Tony still uses his back room gymnasium much as he might carry a good luck charm to the ring.

A crowd of 35,000 is expected and the performance will not gross more than $200,000, but this battle, which

Rigney Loses to Newsom in Pitching Duel

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., July 1.—Buck Newsom, four other former Chicago players and four other fellows, beat the White Sox, 3 to 1, in the opener of a three game series today. Buck, in registering his 11th straight victory, took care of the Sox on a six hit diet and two of these other fellows, Charley Gehringer and Hank Greenberg, handled the scoring phase.

Newsom was whipped the opening day of the season, 5 to 1, by the St. Louis Browns, and since has known naught but success. His string includes a six hit, 3 to 0 triumph over John Rigney, losing pitcher today, on May 10. The game today would have been a duplicate of that shutout, but for the Tigers' only error, a dropped throw by Dick Bartell which had Mike Kreevich trapped off second. A minute later Mike, who had doubled, got home on a sacrifice by Joe Kuhel and a single by Julius Solters.

Rigney's Record Suffers.

Rigney, in absorbing his ninth loss of the year, allowed only four hits, but a walk to Gehringer followed by a Greenberg double, and a triple by Gehringer followed by a drive by Greenberg on which Hank was denied a hit by the official scorer, were enough for Detroit's purposes. The fifth and last Tiger hit, off Pete Appleton in the eighth, was an infield scratch.

By losing today Rigney exceeded his loss total for all of last season, when he was called the ace of the Sox staff. Last year John lost his first six games, then won 11 straight, and after that won and lost for a final total of 15 victories and 8 defeats. He had an infinitely better team behind him last year, perhaps.

Sox Bounce Back.

After three Sox and two Tigers had been retired at the start of today's game, the Tigers got busy and produced the first run of the afternoon, Gehringer got the first of four Rigney passes and scored on Greenberg's

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS SINGLES WON BY M'NEILL

Haverford, Pa., July 1 (AP).—In a masterful performance, 22 year old Don McNeill of Kenyon college defeated Joe Hunt of the Naval academy for the National Intercollegiate tennis championship, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1, today.

Stanford university's Larry Dee and Jim Wade won the doubles title from the University of California's Bob Peacock and Robert Harmon in five sets, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 2-6, 6-2. California had held the title three years straight.

McNeill's victory gave his alma mater its first title in national college tennis. Experts agreed his performance was the equal of the best in the tournament's 56 years.

Browns Beat Indians, 2 to 1, on Wild Pitch

Cleveland, O., July 1 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns, currently the American league's No. 1 troublemakers, defeated the Indians, 2 to 1, tonight to cut Cleveland's lead over second place Detroit to a single game.

A homer by Harlond Clift in the sixth inning gave the Browns their first run. The other came in the eighth when Ray Radcliff doubled, advanced to third when George McQuinn was thrown out at first and scored on a wild pitch by Joe Dobson.

The Indians got their ninth inning run gratis when Elden Auker, whose victory was his seventh in 13 starts this season, walked Hal Trosky with the bases loaded, forcing in Lou Boudreau. Score:

Football Scoring Chart Originator Dies at 89

New Brunswick, N. J., July 1 [Special].—Fred A. [Pop] Hart, 89, a familiar figure to Rutgers university football teams, student bodies, and followers for 25 years as unofficial football statistician, died today in a hospital. He perfected a chart system for scoring football plays. At one time he was a violinist and conducted a music studio.

DROPS LUTTRELL 3 TIMES BEFORE FINISHING BLOW

Belts Helpless Foe Out of Ring.

BY STEWART OWEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., July 1.—Jack Dempsey proved several things here tonight in his return to the ring by knocking out one Clarence [Cowboy] Luttrell in 1 minute and 58 seconds of the second round of a heavyweight boxing match that was scheduled to go 10 rounds.

The principal thing he proved was that despite the years that have passed since the former heavyweight champion passed his prime, he still carries a punch as powerful as that of almost any other man in the ring today. Whether the bout proved, as Dempsey said it would, that a boxer can whip a wrestler any day in the week is not certain, but at least it proved that this particular boxer can whip this particular wrestler any time he wants to.

Luttrell's Whipping Thoro.

It also proved that this fight was not what a great many people suspected it might be: just another of those fantastic spectacles which are common to the wrestling game. No man, not even a wrestler, would take the beating that Luttrell took tonight just to make it look good. Luttrell, in the brief space of a round and a half, was pounded into a bloody mass, floored three times, and then knocked from the ring and under the front row of the press section. Helpless, semi-conscious, he was carried to his dressing room.

The fight had been billed as a grudge fight growing out of a brief flurry of fists in an Atlanta ring two months ago. Luttrell had protested Referee Dempsey's action in disqualifying him by punching Dempsey's jaw. That is merely routine histrionics in the wrestling game and only the extremely gullible regarded the Texas cowboy's subsequent glares and taunts as anything more until after tonight's match had been arranged. Even then it couldn't be regarded very seriously.

Cowboy Retains Leer.

The aroma of the phoney wrestling match still clung to it when Luttrell, a bald headed, paunchy man of 34 years, entered the ring. Dempsey had preceded him amid an uproar that attested his right to the introduction as the most popular sport figure America has ever known. Then Luttrell climbed into the ring to the tune of a magnificent boo that he had earned as the villain of many an Atlanta wrestling piece. He cast the customary malign leer that a wrestler always bestows upon his opponent.

There was something pitiful about finding Dempsey here in this ring. There was no stool in his corner. His seat was an inverted empty beer case. He was a little fat around the middle and the elastic of his trunks, biting into the excess flesh, gave him a modified hour glass figure. The fighting face was still there and his legs and shoulders looked as trim as ever. But still it was a 45 year old Dempsey, a middle aged man, who was sitting there ready to try his hand at the sport of youth.

Tragedy Walks with Victory.

It was like finding a Sarah Bernhardt tap dancing in a burlesque show, a Michael Angelo drawing smutty pictures on a washroom wall, a Man o' War hitched to a garbage wagon. Nay, the contrast was worse than that. It was the Manassa Mauler, the scourge of the ring of two decades ago, sitting on a beer box in a bush league ball park about to fight a smalltime wrestler.

Dempsey's weight was announced as being 205 pounds. Perhaps it was; it looked a little more. Luttrell's weight was given as 224 pounds.

There was an appeal made from the ring for the American Red Cross and humanity.

Then the bell rang and there was no thought of humanity. Dempsey came out fast, faster than one would have thought his aged legs could carry him. He pounded Luttrell with both rights and lefts to the head and to the body. The wrestler covered up and crouched in a neutral corner, seldom attempting to counter, more seldom connecting with his wild swings when he did try. Long before the end of the first round it was obvious Dempsey was going to win before the end of the second, as he said he would. But there was no inkling of the fury of the attack he was to launch in that final minute.

The Old Dempsey Explodes.

The second round started as the first had. Luttrell essayed a few wild rights and three in a row landed well below Dempsey's midsection. Nat Fleischer, the referee, stepped between the two men. He warned Luttrell against punching low. Perhaps, it was those low punches; perhaps Jack knew that he couldn't go on for many rounds himself. At any rate there was for a few brief moments a flash of speed and a flash of power that was reminiscent of the Dempsey of old.

FORMER STABLE MATES RACE 1-2 IN AURORA PURSE

Calumet Trainer Moans Over Lost Effort.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Talked About and Crossbow II., a pair of veteran handicap horses which had been bred and brought up on Warren Wright's Calumet Farm, finished one-two in the Aurora purse, main event on yesterday's program at Arlington Park, but for the first time in their long careers neither was running under the devil red Calumet colors.

That was the reason for those dark looks on the face of Trainer Ben Jones, who had been spending recent weeks getting them up to winning form. He lost both of them on claims in their last previous starts, Talked About having gone to Mrs. J. F. Waters for $4,000 and Crossbow II. to Mrs. G. B. Scallon for $3,000.

Kings Blue Runs Third.

The Calumet trainer had been forced to give up Talked About after seeing him run second, beaten only half a length in his first start since the Hialeah meeting. The fact that he ran such a good race coming back from a layoff indicated the effort Jones had expended on his conditioning. He lost Crossbow II. just as this horse won for the first time this season. Talked About is a 6 year old son of The Porter out of Lucille Wright, the first brood mare Mr. Wright ever owned. Crosbow II. is a 7 year old son of Crusader out of Slow and Easy.

Yesterday's race was strictly a duel between these two horses, the John Marsch's Kings Blue had been established as the favorite at a little less than 2 to 1. Kings Blue got up to take third money.

$1,011.30 Daily Double.

B. F. Petre's Say Judge and Woolford farm's Unquote combined their efforts to produce a daily double worth $1,011.20. The size of the payoff was due largely to the odds on Say Judge, which got to the post at better than 46 to 1 in the first race.

There seemed little hope for Say Judge in the early stages of the seven furlong dash which opened the program. He got away sluggishly and trailed the field down the back stretch while the well backed Millmore was cutting out the pace.

After rounding the turn, John Adams sent Say Judge weaving thru the field with enough skill to land the mount in the lead in the last 50 yards, but with enough recklessness to draw down the wrath of the stewards. The boy was suspended for five days for failure to keep a straight course. Say Judge's margin over Tiger Teddy was a length. The weary Millmore saved third place.

Say Judge Pays $95.20.

Mutuel tickets on Say Judge were worth $95.20, $43.20, and $17.60.

Unquote, which completed the double, was much more heavily played, being quoted at 9 to 2. He gave his backers little cause for worry, leading all the way and winning by more than three lengths. Happy Home was second and Little Lucy third. Unquote paid $11.20, $7.00, and $5.20.

U.S.G.A. Cuts Amateur Golf Field to 150

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The United States Golf association yesterday announced that the field in the National Amateur tournament, to be played at the Winged Foot club in Mamaroneck, N. Y., from Sept. 9 to 14, inclusive, will consist of 150 players, instead of 170, as has been the case in recent years.

In the last three years, it has been necessary to reduce the field after the first 18 holes of the qualifying round in order to leave time for playoffs for match play positions, which usually result after the 36 hole qualifying round is completed. The U. S. G. A. decided to reduce the starting field to 150 in order to do away with the necessity of eliminating any players when the qualifying round is only half over.

In addition, qualifying players will be started off in threesomes, instead of couples, so that there should be more than enough time for playoffs immediately following the completion of the regular 36 holes of medal play.

Sectional qualifying rounds for this year's amateur tourney will be held on Aug. 27 in 29 locations thruout the country, one more than last year. The Chicago district trials, which like all others, is set for 36 holes of medal play, will be held at Flossmoor. No sectional round will be held at Milwaukee this year, but additional sites have been made in New Haven, Conn., and Huntington, W. Va.

Entries for the tournament close at 5 p. m. on Tuesday, Aug. 13, with the United States Golf association, 73 East 57th street, New York City. The fee is $5, and each entry must be certified by an officer of the entrant's club. Certification by any one other than an officer is not acceptable. Each entrant shall name his employer, the nature of his employer's business, and the nature of his own duties.

Entries for the 37th annual Midlothian Pater-Filius tournament, one of the better events of any golf season, will close next Monday at the Chicago District golf association's headquarters in the La Salle hotel. The fee for each father-and-son team is $10, which includes golf, luncheon and dinner. The tournament will be held at Midlothian on July 11.

The Pater-Filius will be played at eighteen and nine holes, with the Midlothian trophy going to the team having the low net for the afternoon eighteen. The handicaps will be determined by the combined total handicap of father and son for eighteen holes, divided by two.

3 CUBS NAMED ON NATIONAL LEAGUE ALL-STAR SQUAD

French, Leiber, Herman on List for July 9.

The Chicago Cubs had more luck qualifying players for the eighth annual major league All-Star game than their rivals from the other side of town, the White Sox.

Three of the athletes on P. K. Wrigley's pay roll are among the 25 named yesterday to represent the National league against the American league July 9 in Sportsman's park, St. Louis. The three are Larry French, veteran pitcher; Hank Leiber, outfielder, and Billy Herman, second baseman. Luke Appling, shortstop, was the only member of the White Sox nominated for the American league squad, which was announced Sunday night.

First Call to French.

All except French have been named on All-Star teams in the past. The Cub left hander has won eight games and lost six, but has been more effective than his record indicates.

Herman was batting .319 when last official figures were released, and Leiber, out for several weeks from a throat infection, was just a point under .300. Appling is the leading White Sox hitter, his last official rating being .344.

The same system was used by both leagues to pick their squads—a consensus vote of the eight managers in each organization. Bill McKechnie, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, will manage the National leaguers, while the opposing master mind will be Joe Cronin, chief of the Boston Red Sox.

Rookie Stars Neglected.

Following the American league's pattern, the National leaguers gave little heed to rookie stars or to many players who happen to be at or near the top in individual performance.

McKechnie announced the selection of Milburn Shoffner of the Reds and Lon Warneke of the Cardinals as batting practice pitchers.

Hank Gowdy, Cincinnati coach, will be the batting practice catcher and Dr. Richard Rohde, also of the Reds, the trainer.

The National league squad:

PITCHERS—Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters, Cincinnati; Hugh Mulcahy and Kirby Higbe, Philadelphia; Larry French, Chicago; Carl Hubbell, New York, and Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn.

CATCHERS—Harry Danning, New York; Ernest Lombardi, Cincinnati, and Babe Phelps, Brooklyn.

INFIELDERS—Frank McCormick, Cincinnati; Johnny Mize, St. Louis; Pete Coscarart, Leo Durocher and Harry Lavagetto, Brooklyn; William Herman, Chicago; William Jurges, New York; Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh, and Merrill May, Philadelphia.

OUTFIELDERS—Joe Medwick, Brooklyn; Joe Moore and Mel Ott, New York; Henry Leiber, Chicago; Max West, Boston, and Terry Moore, St. Louis.

MANAGER—Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati.

COACHES—J. Thompson, Doc Prothro, Philadelphia, and Casey Stengel, Boston.

The American league squad:

PITCHERS—Red Ruffing, Monte Pearson, Yankees; Bob Feller, Al Milnar, Indians; Buck Newsom, Tommy Bridges, Tigers; Dutch Leonard, Senators.

CATCHERS—Bill Dickey, Yankees; Rollie Hemsley, Indians; Frank Hayes, Athletics.

INFIELDERS—Joe Gordon, Red Rolfe, Yankees; Lou Boudreau, Ray Mack, Ken Keltner, Indians; Jimmy Foxx, Red Sox; Luke Appling, White Sox; George McQuinn, Browns.

OUTFIELDERS—Joe DiMaggio, Charlie Keller, Yankees; Ted Williams, Roger Cramer, Lou Finney, Red Sox; Hank Greenberg, Tigers.

MANAGER—Joe Cronin, Red Sox.

COACHES—Tom Daly, Red Sox; Del Baker, Tigers.

Verderbar and Foulis Triumph in Pro-Amateur

Jim Foulis, Ruth Lake professional, paired with Rudy Verderbar, home club amateur, toured the Acacia Country club course in 32—29—61 to win the pro-amateur best ball tournament yesterday against a field of 19 twosomes. Foulis had an individual ball score of 34—35—69 that included five birdies and 11 pars.

Altho the amateurs were mostly contributed by the home club, Maury White, pro at La Grange, brought along his own partner, Jim Gillian, to tie for second place with George Wilson, Acacia, and Orville Schell, River Forest professional, with 66s. Tommy Armour of Medinah, matched with Roy Crandall of Acacia, assembled a round of 34—34—68 for third place.

Walter Hagen Jr. of Notre Dame, paired with Al Lehman, Acacia club champion, pooled a 30-31—61 to lead the amateur twosomes. Hagen had 40—35—75 for his individual round. Lehman cut his partner's score by two strokes with 34—39—73. Teamed with Lehman, Allan Hale, former president of the Chicago District Golf association, gathered a 32—31—63 to take second place among the amateurs. Hale's score was 40—41—81.

Herb Johnson, Butterfield pro, playing with two amateurs, failed to get into the money, but had an individual score of 37—36—73. Other cards turned by the pros were: Maury White, La Grange, 37—35—72; Pete Thomas, Riverside, 39—40—79, and Joe Smith, Foulis' assistant at Ruth Lake, carded 43—41—84.

Rudy Kay Is Winner Over Shuh in One Fall

Rudy Kay threw Pete Shuh in 18 minutes and 14 seconds in the weekly wrestling program in Parichy stadium last night. Other results: Al Williams threw Jack Moore; Fred Grubmier threw Chief Sanooke and Jack Kogut threw Jerry Meeker.

Fight Decisions

At Marigold Gardens—Mike Gamiere knocked out Johnny Pleasant [2]; Billy Seward stopped Baby Lou Alexander [1]; Larry Grob knocked out Indian Jimmy Maddox [6]; Paul Frazier stopped Red Randy [3]; Otto Buettler beat Herman Hayes [4].

At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Tony Musto beat Curtis Sheppard [10]; Jimmy Bivins beat Mose Brown [6].

MOON MULLINS—OFF DAYS

Dodgers Score 3 in 1st; Whip Phillies, 4 to 3

Philadelphia, Pa., July 1 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers pushed their way to a 4 to 3 triumph over the Phillies today, principally through a three run first inning assault on Hugh Mulcahy. In this outburst Cookie Lavagetto walked, Dixie Walker doubled, and Joe Medwick tripled and scored on a wild pitch. Brooklyn's other run crossed the plate in the fourth on one of two errors by Bobby Bragan. Score:

MELTON WHIPS BEES.

New York, July 1 (AP).—Cliff Melton, one of the National league stars not chosen for the All-Star game, rang up his seventh victory of the season today as the New York Giants overpowered the Boston Bees 7 to 1. Melton, who has lost only one game, kept six hits scattered. The Giants got only seven safeties off Al Piechota, but these included three home runs and a triple. Score:

CARDINALS NIP REDS.

St. Louis, Mo., July 1 (AP).—Enos Slaughter, Lon Warneke, and Ernie Koy were key men in St. Louis' 3 to 2 defeat of the Cincinnati Reds today. Slaughter's two home runs, his third and fourth of the season, accounted for all the Cardinals' runs. Warneke allowed only seven hits and was tight in the pinches. And Koy made a great catch of Bill Werber's long clout for the last out of the game which, if it had been a hit, would have tied the game. Score:

MILLS WIN, 3-2, FROM HYDROX IN 11 INNING GAME

Singles by Victoria Kuklinski and Ruth Hart and an error by Evelyn Paeth of Hydrox, last night gave the Mills a 3 to 2 11 inning victory in a Girls' Major Softball league contest in Mills stadium. Juanita Laberdee pitched all the way for Mills and Marge Stefani nurled for the losers. At Spencer Coals field the Rivals won a 4 to 2 victory over the Rockolas with Catherine Castator pitching the Rivals back into first place in the league standings.

Marge Startz and Catherine Fellmeth or Catherine Castator will meet on the pitching mound in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, tonight with first place hinging on the outcome of the contest between the Hydrox and Rival teams. In a non-league game the Parichy Bloomer Girls will meet the Herman Drugs in Parichy stadium, Harlem and Harrison streets.

ST. PAUL PLAYER FINED.

Columbus O., July 1 (AP).—George M. Trautman, president of the American Association, today imposed a $25 fine on Jesse Newman, St. Paul first baseman, for engaging in an altercation with a baseball fan Saturday.

Brawl at Bar Fails to Stop Galento Bout

is only a cut removed from a street fight, has caught New York's fancy. It is one which can be enjoyed without partisanship for no one actually is concerned over the outcome. New York never believed Galento could fight except as a catch as catch can performer and since Baer yielded to Louis five years ago he has been placed in the same category.

The New Jersey setup for the fight is excellent. Abe Greene, the one man commission, will select a referee. There will be no judges. The referee's duties primarily consist of untangling the opponents when they wrestle. Some believe a referee may be needed at the Plaza hotel at noon tomorrow when the principals report. The ballroom has been prepared for the affair and if Baer should accidentally address Galento as "pig eyes," his latest affectionate epithet for Galento, the battle may start immediately.

Winner May Meet Louis.

The winner probably will be the next opponent for Louis, the heavyweight champion. The pay for that assignment should guarantee best efforts tomorrow night altho there is a minority opinion which holds Baer doesn't wish another chance at Louis.

From the physical examination sheets Baer would be picked as the winner. He has height, reach, agility, on his side. His weight, which will be about 212 pounds, is more to be desired than the pudgy 235 pounds Galento must tote. Galento weighed 248 pounds in his street clothes yesterday.

Each agreed that 15 rounds are far too long. Each expects to knock out the other. So the battle hinges on determination. Here, of course, Galento has an advantage over Maxie who desire to fight is in inverse ratio to the amount of punishment he receives.

Tony Still 8-5 Favorite.

Galento is an 8 to 5 favorite yet those who pick Baer are hoping the fight may be stopped due to Galento's easily cut, overhanging brow.

Each of the fighters is 31 years of age and neither has observed training rules in recent years. Baer has been on the down grade for six years. Neither has fought in the past nine months.

The main bout is scheduled to start at 9 o'clock Chicago daylight time.

GLENVIEW PLAYS HIGHWOOD.

Glenview's semipro baseball team will seek its second victory tonight, meeting the Highwood Boosters in Glenview. Gil Brun, formerly with Springfield in the Three-Eye league, will pitch for Glenview.

Heintzelman, put a quick stop to the splurge by picking up Hack's tap for a double play.

Olsen got thru the eighth sucessfully despite two passes, and by way of celebrating the Cubs went into the lead in their half. Gleeson beat out a single off Heintzelman's glove and raced around to the plate on Nicholson's two bagger to left center. This happened with one out, but Dallessandro lofted to Di Maggio and Cavaretta fanned. Then the Pirates tied it in the ninth on Di Maggio's ninth homer of the year.

LEE VS. BOWMAN

Bill Lee, who would like to know what a fellow has to do to win a game, will start for the Cubs in the second of the Pirate series today, principally because Manager Gabby Hartnett's undermanned pitching staff offers no other choice. The opposition will offer Joe Bowman.

The club has received no direct word from Clay Bryant, the pitcher suspended June 4 because his arm wasn't in working condition. The luckless fellow is in Los Angeles undergoing treatments.

Athletics Beat Red Sox, 9-1, Behind Potter

Boston, Mass., July 1 (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics beat the Boston Red Sox 9 to 1 today, getting 15 hits, including perfect "at bats" by Frank Hayes, who gathered two homers, a double, and a single, and by Al Rubeling, who got a double and two singles. Nelson Potter held the Sox to eight hits. Score:

YANKEES CRUSH SENATORS.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Ken Chase was as wild as an antelope and his teammates looked like something out of a menagerie today as the Washington Senators lost to the New York Yankees, 8 to 4. Chase gave up four bases on balls, hit three batsmen, and made two wild pitches while his defense produced five errors. Red Ruffing permitted two doubles and kept everything else to one base in acquiring his seventh victory against six defeats. Score:

GRAINS ADVANCE AFTER SINKING TO SEASON LOWS

Wheat Futures Close with ¾ Cent Net Gains.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Closing prices on the July delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$0.75	$0.74¼	$0.68⅜
Corn	.69½	.70⅝	.46⅛
Oats	.31⅛	.30½	.30⅝
Rye	.49⅝	.38¼	.44⅜
Soy beans	.78½	.77	.91½

Grain prices turned upward yesterday, but not until after seasonal lows had been established on July and September wheat, December corn, September and December oats, and all deliveries of rye. July wheat sold at 73⅜ cents a bushel at one time, the lowest price since September, 1939.

Wheat futures rallied about 1½ cents from the early low and closed at the top with net gains of ¾ cent. Corn finished ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher, and oats ¼ to ⅝ cent higher. Rye led the rally and finished 2¼ cents higher. Soy beans were up ⅜ to 1½ cents at the close.

Indicate Higher Yield.

Early selling of wheat was led by houses with southwestern offices, presumably hedging against the increased movement of new grain in that area. It is estimated that about 50 per cent of the 1,777 cars of wheat received at Kansas City was offered for sale in the spot market.

There was some selling of futures on a report issued by the Santa Fe railway forecasting a yield in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Nebraska of about 10,000,000 bushels more than the department of agriculture's June 1 forecast.

Other reports from the southwest indicate the possibility that much of late maturing wheat will not be harvested, due to a very small yield per acre of unusually light weight grain, much of which is too light to be eligible for government loans.

Corn Forecasts Due Tomorrow.

Favorable weather and crop reports had some effect on the corn market early. Chicago statisticians will issue their first estimates of the season on this grain tomorrow. Traders expect that a yield of around 2,475,000,000 bushels will be forecast or about 100,000,000 bushels less than on July 1 last year. The actual harvest in 1939 was 2,619,000,000 bushels.

Commission houses were persistent buyers of July rye, based, it is said, on the unusually low price in comparison with corn, which makes it attractive as a feed grain.

REVENUE FREIGHT LOADINGS.

Cars of revenue freight loaded last week and reported yesterday by the railroads included:

BANK BORROWING INCREASED AGAIN BY BUSINESS MEN

But Loans to Securities Brokers Dwindle.

Loans to commerce, industry, and agriculture made by member banks of the federal reserve system in 101 cities were $12,000,000 larger in the week ended June 26 than in the preceding week, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. The increase was the fourth straight weekly gain.

The total of such loans at the end of the latest week was $4,399,000,000, which was $566,000,000 more than the amount reported a year earlier.

Brokers' Loans Lower.

Loans to brokers and dealers in securities declined $18,000,000 for the week to $395,000,000.

The banks' holdings of United States government bonds decreased $6,000,000 to $6,377,000,000. The total, however, still was $497,000,000 larger than the amount of such bonds held a year earlier.

Holdings of obligations guaranteed by the government increased $8,000,000 for the week to $2,408,000,000.

STUDY OLD TAX LAWS FOR CUE TO NEW LEVIES

World War Imposts May Be Model.

President Roosevelt's request for "steeply graduated" taxes on "excess" profits yesterday brought corporation executives and tax experts to a study of laws in effect during the last world war, for a cue as to what might be expected under the new levies.

Altho the exact form of the taxes to be imposed is not known, measures in effect during this country's involvement in the earlier conflict are expected to serve as models for new legislation which congress has been asked to enact.

The earlier taxes were designed to prevent corporations and individuals from reaping undue benefit from sharply increased business resulting from war orders. Large proportions of the "excess," or above normal profits were taken by the federal government in the form of taxes.

First Enacted in 1917.

These levies were first enacted in March, 1917, before the United States declared war, modified several times, and finally repealed in 1921, three years after the war ended.

Under provisions of these laws, excess profits taxes were computed after the taxpayer had deducted federal income taxes, capital stock taxes, and other forms of taxation in effect at the time.

This method of computing the excess profits tax is expected to be revived in whatever new legislation is agreed upon.

The average individual taxpayer, in making his tax return covering wages and salaries, will not be affected by the new excess profits tax. He may feel an effect however, in the event the tax influences the market value or dividend policy of a corporation in which he owns stock.

Generally, two methods are available for arriving at the basis upon which excess profits taxes are levied. Under one the tax would apply on all earnings above the average of several designated prior years, termed "normal" years for taxing purposes.

Graduated Rate Possible.

Under the other a corporation, partnership, or individual would be allowed to earn a specified return on invested capital and required to pay a graduated levy on all excess profits. In each instance normal taxes would be levied against "normal" earnings, and those below the "return on invested capital" line.

The first excess profits tax was enacted on March 3, 1917, while the United States was still neutral, and levied 8 per cent on the earnings of all corporations and partnerships above an amount representing 8 per cent on invested capital, with a lump sum exemption of $5,000.

The tax thus applied on all earnings which exceeded the $5,000 exemption, plus the allowance for invested capital—i. e., the original amount paid in for capital stock plus accumulations in the form of surplus and undivided profits. This law assumed profits ranging up to 8 per cent on invested capital to be normal, unaffected by war influence.

Supplemented by New Law.

This tax was supplemented by the war revenue act of Oct. 3, 1917, which granted exemptions of $3,000 for corporations and $6,000 for individuals and partnerships, plus a percenatge of invested capital ranging from 7 to 9 per cent, depending on prewar earnings. All profits above the specified levels were taxed on a graduated basis ranging from 20 to 60 per cent—the maximum rate applying to profits above the level of a 33 per cent return on invested capital.

The revenue act of 1918 introduced an alternative method of computing the tax. Under this method, earnings in excess of those of a normal year were taxed 80 per cent. Individuals and partnerships were exempted.

The net income of a trade or business, less the excess profits tax, was subjected to a normal income tax of 2 per cent, plus a war income tax of 4 per cent. The excess profits tax in 1917 yielded 1 billion 844 million dollars.

Proposes Steep Boost.

The war profits tax proposal advanced during the current session of congress by Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] would raise the normal individual income tax rate from 4 to 10 per cent and would impose surtaxes starting at 6 per cent on net income between $1,000 and $2,000. The surtaxes would reach 80 per cent on net income in excess of $50,000.

Corporations would be required to pay a normal tax of 22 per cent on net income in excess of $25,000. They would pay surtaxes starting at 10 per cent on profits amounting to less than 10 per cent on invested capital. The surtaxes would reach 60 per cent on profits exceeding a 25 per cent return on invested capital.

How Defense Program Cost Will Boost Your Income Tax

The person earning $3,000 a year who, under given conditions, paid an $8 income tax last year will find his tax bill boosted to $30.80 under the new law increasing taxes for national defense purposes, according to a simplified compilation made public yesterday.

For a person who earned $5,000 and paid a tax of $80 last year, the levy will be increased to $110.

And if you happened to earn $5,000,000 last year, on which you paid $3,788,994, or 75.78 per cent, you will have to hand over to the tax collector under the new law $3,916,547, or 78.33 per cent.

Following is a simplified table which shows the change for an income tax bill of a given amount, with the normal tax, surtax, and 10 per cent supertax being computed for a married person having no extra dependents, receiving no partly exempt United States interest and having no capital gains and losses [income up to maximum of $14,000 presumed to be earned income]:

Buyers Flock to Furniture Shows in City

Two of the world's largest home furnishings fashion shows opened in Chicago yesterday with more than 100,000 items on display valued at more than a million dollars.

Roscoe R. Rau reports 10 per cent sales gain

Buyers from nearly every state, Canada, Mexico, and South America were among the more than 3,500 who registered yesterday. Registered attendance at both shows is expected to reach the 10,000 mark.

Eight floors of the Merchandise Mart are being used for display purposes and 17 at the American Furniture Mart, the two buildings housing the shows. Both shows will run for two weeks.

Mart's 10th Anniversary.

F. D. Corley, president of Marshall Field & Co., and Mayor Edward J. Kelly participated in the unveiling of a clock at the entrance of the Merchandise Mart. The ceremony opened the market and marked the 10th anniversary of the Mart. Frank M. Mayfield, president of the National Retail Dry Goods association and president of Scruggs-Vandevoort-Barney, Inc., of St. Louis, Mo., addressed a luncheon meeting.

Roscoe R. Rau, executive vice president of the National Retail Furniture association, addressed a luncheon meeting at the American Furniture Mart. He said retail furniture sales so far in 1940 have shown a 10 per cent increase over 1939 and predicted that the gain would continue.

"Practical furniture that's colorful and graceful will outsell things that are overdesigned or that take us too far back into history," Rau warned manufacturers and designers.

Hits Defeatist Attitude.

Mayfield, addressing a group composed of 133 original 10 year tenants of the Merchandise Mart, said the American people "need fear not so much what Hitler is going to do to us as what fear of Hitler might make us do to ourselves."

"The heart of free enterprise is world trade and a minimum of government control," Mayfield declared. "I can't understand the defeatist attitude in this country that a democracy cannot compete with an autocracy. Our free enterprise system has overcome crises in the past and will in the future."

Carl Zeigler, recently elected mayor of Milwaukee, was guest speaker before a meeting of the National Wholesale Furniture Salesmen's association in the Furniture Mart. Terming totalitarianism the "black plague of the 20th century," he declared the United States is "an island of democracy in a sea of dictatorships."

A dinner meeting was held by the American Designer's Institute, which has its headquarters in the Furniture Mart.

Neither show is open to the public.

NEW TAX MACHINERY PLACED INTO EFFECT WITHOUT CONFUSION

Machinery for collection of the new national defense taxes went into operation "very smoothly and with a surprising lack of confusion," federal authorities in the Chicago district said yesterday.

E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of the Chicago district of the treasury department's alcohol tax unit, said his office received a few calls from retailers asking how to fill out inventory forms for floor stocks of liquor, but that otherwise there were no indications of confusion.

Carter Harrison, collector of internal revenue for the district, said literature explaining the new taxes was sent out by his office last week and that the new program was proceeding smoothly.

STREET CAR, 'L' TRAFFIC DROPS; BUS LINE GAINS

Both the Chicago Surface Lines and the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated system] showed decreases in number of passengers carried during June, but the Chicago Motor Coach company reported a gain of 0.52 per cent over last year.

The surface lines carried 55,258,174 passengers, compared with 55,992,412 in June, 1939, a decrease of 1.31 per cent. The elevated lines reported a decrease of 0.86 per cent. Both systems said the decline was due to the fact last month contained five Saturdays, an unusually light day for traffic. The surface lines reported an increase of 2.31 per cent in traffic in the first six months of 1940 by comparison with last year.

The motor coach system announced traffic for the six months gained 4.33 per cent.

NAVY AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR 45 WARSHIPS

Private Yards Get 413 Million Job.

Washington, D. C., July 1 [Special].—The navy department today announced the award of contracts for construction by private builders of 45 new warships, including 13 submarines and a seaplane tender, at a total cost of $413,540,300. It also awarded a $16,175,000 contract for construction of new shipbuilding docks at the Norfolk, Va., and Philadelphia navy yards.

The navy last week awarded contracts covering 19 submarines and destroyers in navy shipyards.

The navy yard docks expansion contract was awarded to three firms—Spencer, White & Prentis of New York; Foley Brothers of Pleasantville, N. Y., and Merritt, Chapman & Scott corporation of New York.

New Warship Awards.

The new warship contracts were awarded to the following private shipyards:

Electric Boat company, New London, Conn., 13 submarines at $2,795,000 each.

Bethlehem Steel company, Quincy, Mass., 4 cruisers at $23,618,000 each, and 4 cruisers at $18,573,000 each.

Bethlehem Steel company, Union Iron Works plant at San Francisco, 2 destroyers at $5,977,000 each.

Bethlehem Steel company, Staten Island plant, 2 destroyers at $7,431,000 each.

Gets Destroyer Orders.

Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company, Kearny, N. J., 6 destroyers at $7,159,700 each, 2 destroyers at $8,500,000 each, and 2 destroyers at $5,277,000 each.

Bath Iron Works, Bath, Me., 6 destroyers at $6,813,200 each.

New York Shipbuilding corporation, Camden, N. J., 3 cruisers at $18,657,800 each, and 1 large seaplane tender at $14,260,500.

The contracts do not include armament, armor, and ammunition, nor propulsion machinery for the submarines. These items, to be supplied by the government, will increase the cost 25 per cent, it was said.

WITNESS CLAIMS UTILITY GAVE CAMPAIGN CASH

St. Louis, Mo., July 1 (AP).—John J. Hallihan, director of the Illinois department of registration and education, told a federal court jury today that in 1932 he received a $3,000 cash campaign contribution from an official of the East St. Louis subsidiary of the Union Electric company of Missouri.

This money, he testified, was for the primary campaign of Bruce A. Campbell, who unsuccessfully sought the Democratic nomination for governor in Illinois.

Hallihan was a government witness in the perjury trial of Frank J. Boehm, former executive vice president of the utility. The indictment was based on testimony Boehm gave the Securities and Exchange commission in which Boehm denied making any political contributions for the company.

Benjamin J. Alschuler, Aurora, Ill., attorney has testified he gave back about half of his retainers from Union Electric, or $111,000 in returned money. E. Bentley Hamilton, Peoria, Ill., testified today that from 1930 to 1939 he returned to the company about one-half of annual retainers of $40,000.

JUNE CUSTOMS COLLECTIONS UP IN CHICAGO AREA

United States customs collections in the Chicago district in June increased more than $500,000 over the preceding month, Joseph A. Ziemba, collector, reported yesterday. Collections last month totaled $1,273,869, compared with $770,743 in May and $767,330 in June, 1939.

Collections the first six months of 1940 totaled $4,726,147, compared with $4,609,596 in the first half of 1939.

Plan Training of 150,000 for Skilled Work

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—Vocational training for the defense industries of up to 150,000 persons, including 50,000 from the WPA rolls, will be undertaken immediately, Sidney Hillman, vice president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and a member of the President's national defense advisory commission, announced today.

Previously Hillman indicated that facilities can be made available for training 1,500,000 persons if the national defense program should require it, thru voluntary "in-service" training by industry and special training for the unemployed and those on Works Progress and National Youth administration rolls.

Take Third from WPA.

The immediate project, approved by President Roosevelt, will be financed by $9,781,340 alloted from WPA funds and $7,500,000 from the office of education of the federal security agency.

Fifty thousand enrollees will be taken directly from the WPA. The others will be selected thru state employment services coöperating with the United States employment service and from workers already employed in industry who wish to improve their skill.

"Vocational training facilities of public schools will be utilized in the project under the general supervision of the office of education," the announcement said.

Plan Local Supervision.

"Local school officials will be responsible for conduct of classes. In addition, existing advisory committees, including representatives of employers and labor, will consult with the local supervisor or director of vocational education concerning local needs involved in the project.

"Trainees from WPA rolls will be paid wages equivalent to those received by workers on WPA projects. Classes will be held during July, August, and September at vocational training schools provided thru the office of education, which will pay for their use as well as the salaries of teachers and supervisory personnel."

FSCC IS MERGED WITH MARKETING PACTS DIVISION

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation and the division of marketing and marketing agreements were merged today under a new agriculture department unit called the Surplus Marketing administration.

The division of marketing and marketing agreements formerly was under the Agricultural Adjustment administration. The FSCC, a Delaware corporation, will continue to exist, but will operate as the division of distribution and purchase of the Surplus Marketing administration.

Milo Perkins, who has had general direction of both phases of activity, became administrator of the surplus marketing administration. Dr. E. W. Gaumnitz, former director of the division of marketing and marketing agreements, and Philip F. Maguire, executive vice president of the FSCC, are assistant administrators and will continue in charge of their respective fields. Perkins and Maguire continue as officers of the FSCC.

INVESTING TRUST RULED BANKRUPT; WILL LIQUIDATE

New York, July 1 [Special].—Continental Securities corporation, investment trust which has been under reorganization in federal court, today was declared bankrupt by Judge Robert P. Patterson.

The judge granted the unopposed request of Arthur A. Ballantine, trustee, that the corporation be placed in liquidation. He reserved decision on the application of Alfred A. Cook of the law firm of Cook, Nathan, Lehman & Greenman for an allowance of $175,000.

PRESIDENT SIGNS SHIP INSURANCE BILL; ASKS 50 MILLION DOLLARS

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt today signed a bill to establish a marine war risk insurance system and asked congress for $50,000,000 to underwrite it. The plan, long advocated by the Maritime commission, is designed as a "buffer" against any inability of ship operators to obtain insurance on reasonable terms and conditions from the private insurance market.

Hearings on the legislation developed that American underwriters had reinsured about half their risks in foreign markets, principally British.

The commission is authorized to provide marine war risk and marine risk insurance and reinsurance during any period when such insurance cannot be obtained on reasonable terms and conditions from the private market. The commission also is authorized to reinsure these risks with private companies.

BROADER TREATY FUNCTION GIVEN NEW DIVISION

Washington, D. C., July 1 [Special].—A new division of commercial treaties and agreements was created in the state department today to replace along broader lines the division of trade agreements, which was abolished. The new division will handle not only reciprocal trade agreements but commercial modus vivendi, and commercial treaties and agreements.

The change was made, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said, "in order most effectively to carry out the department's function of the protection of American foreign commerce."

The new division is staffed by the personnel of the old trade agreements division, under the direction of Harry C. Hawkins.

Defense Move Fails to Sway Rubber or Tin

Announcement of the formation of two companies by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to buy vast quantities of rubber and tin for defense purposes had little effect on prices of these commodities in speculative markets yesterday. There was no trading in tin futures, and rubber closed 0.19 cent a pound lower to 0.61 cent higher.

Traders in staples paid more attention to Russia's bid for territory and the Nazi conquest of Europe, but found little incentive for increased activity. Prices closed irregular.

Copper Demands Slow.

Demand for copper continued slow, with further weakness in prices. The big primary producers continued to hold their quotations at 11¼ cents a pound, while dealers outside the Connecticut valley indicated that sales had been made as low as 11 cents. Futures dipped 0.03 to 0.07 cent.

Trade selling forced wool top futures down 0.2 to 0.6 cent a pound, with Boston interests and commission houses buying. The July contract closed at 94.2 cents a pound, and standard tops lost 1 cent to close at $1.

Raw silk futures closed 5 to 10 cents a pound lower with silk for July delivery quoted at $2.57 to $2.57½ a pound.

Sugar Markets Uneven.

World sugar futures closed irregular with September contracts finishing at 1.05 cents a pound bid. The domestic contracts were lower, sugar for September delivery closing at 1.84 cents a pound bid.

Cocoa futures gained 0.01 to 0.03 cent a pound, coffee 0.06 to 0.09 cent, and raw hides 0.05 to 0.06 cent a pound.

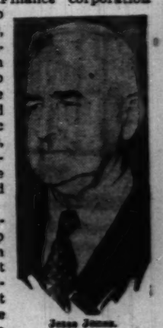
CREATE 2 UNITS TO OBTAIN VITAL DEFENSE STORES

Millions Advanced for Rubber, Tin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—The Reconstruction Finance corporation has created two corporations, with a capitalization of 5 million dollars each, to acquire and store rubber, tin, and other strategic war materials, Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones announced today.



Jesse Jones.

The corporations were set up under legislation approved last week by President Roosevelt which gave the RFC authority to engage in the production or accumulation of war materials.

The government-sponsored corporations are the Rubber Reserve company and the Metals Reserve company. The RFC in addition to providing one-half of the capital for the rubber company and all of the capital for the metals company, has authorized loans of 65 million dollars to purchase and carry rubber and 100 millions for the metal company to buy and carry tin and other metals.

150,000 Tons Involved.

"The Rubber Reserve company," Jones said, "has agreed with the International Rubber Regulation committee, represented by Sir John Hay, that it will buy a reserve stock of rubber of 150,000 tons over a period of months, at a price range basis be-

New York Stocks.

New York, July 1 (AP).—Stock prices drifted lower today as most traders withheld buying orders pending clarification of foreign and domestic affairs.

Transactions were the second smallest in 18 years and declines of fractions to more than a point predominated at the close. Steel, motor, aircraft and specialty issues accounted for the principal declines.

Lack of speculative vigor was attributed partly to the uncertainty over just what the Russians were up to in the Balkans, whether it meant a threatened break with Hitler or was in line with the axis program.

President Roosevelt's recommendation to congress for a "steeply graduated" excess profits tax revived debate as to just how much industry would be affected when the government starts collecting the bill for huge rearmament.

Steels never did get out in front, altho this week's estimated drop of 123 points in mill operations, due to July 4 shutdowns, was less than expected.

Shares of shipbuilding companies recovered in the afternoon on announcement of the letting of large contracts for naval vessels.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 1 (AP).—A few industrial and utility issues strove to exert a rising motive to the bond market today against general trading inertia.

Traders were unwilling to make large commitments without some indication of probable developments in the war. The result was that only $3,466,200, face value, of bonds changed hands compared with $5,360,500 last Friday. It was one of the smallest sessions since last August.

United States governments, already bringing prices far above par, gained as much as ¾ point in trades of one or two bonds.

Italian and German bonds, in fairly active dealings, slipped, the former dropping as much as 10 points in some instances.

Chicago Stocks.

Declines outnumbered gains in light trading yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Only 10,000 shares moved. Of the 59 active issues, 26 were lower, 15 were higher, and 18 were unchanged. Commonwealth Edison, the volume leader, closed at 30¼, up ⅛. Other favorites recorded slight changes.

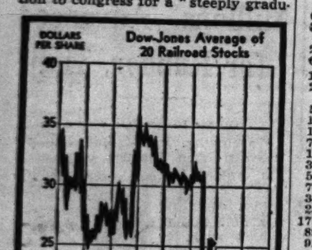
Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois shares eased half a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Other leading issues were unchanged.



The graph indicates the movement of railroad stock prices since the start of 1939.

LOSS CONVERTED INTO NET PROFIT BY WESSON OIL

Earns $1.18 Per Share in Nine Month Period.

Wesson Oil and Snowdrift company, a leading manufacturer of cottonseed oil products, reported yesterday that it operated at a profit in the quarter and nine months ended June 1, in contrast with losses in the corresponding periods of the preceding year.

Indicated profit for the quarter was $261,783, equal to 89 cents a share on the $4 preferred stock. In the corresponding quarter of 1939 the company had a net loss of $972,445.

Net income for the nine months ended June 1 was $1,567,418, equal to $1.18 a common share, against a net loss of $953,623 a year earlier.

Wesson's report showed that bank loans had been reduced to $4,830,000 from $10,590,000 a year ago.

Profit Drastically Cut.

Shell Transport and Trading company, Ltd., a holding company for Royal Dutch-Shell enterprises, issued a report for the year ended Dec. 31, 1939, showing a drastic decline in profits and commenting on property damage incurred as a result of the European war.

Profit was 2,477,844 pounds sterling, compared with 6,630,590 pounds in the preceding year. [The pound was worth about $3.95 at the year-end and currently is $3.79].

The part of the report relating to war damage apparently referred, dispatches said, to destruction that took place after the year-end. Shell properties damaged were mostly in Holland, but some of the French and Belgian plants also were damaged.

International Shoe company announced a moderate improvement in earnings for the six months ended May 31. Profit was $2,891,335, equal to 86 cents a common share, compared with $2,824,612, or 84 cents a share, in the corresponding 1939 period.

RIO GRANDE ROAD PLAN'S APPROVAL IS SOUGHT BY RFC

Denver, Colo., July 1 (AP).—The Reconstruction Finance corporation asked the United States District court today to approve the Interstate Commerce commission's plan for reorganization of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad. Objections to the plan were filed by individuals and organizations.

The RFC, to which the railroad is indebted for loans, said that the plan was "not perfect in every detail" but that it recognized the desirability of "getting railroads out of bankruptcy."

The railroad itself asked that the plan be returned to the ICC for modification. It asked that the plan be "recast and remodelled and amended" to conform with a plan filed by the road in 1936. Other objectors contended the plan was neither fair nor equitable and was discriminatory in favor of the RFC.

The United States Trust company of New York contended the proposal failed to recognize true value of the railroad's property and that bondholders would be deprived of their lien upon an important part of the system.

GERMANS VISION END OF GOLD IN ECONOMY ABROAD

BERLIN, July 1.—Elimination of gold as the basis of European currencies and elevation of the reichsmark to the ranl. of "standard currency" for future continental economy are advocated by German interests. The plan is gaining popularity, not only among zealous Nazis but also among more sober business interests.

An editorial in the Deutsche Bergwerkszeitung, influential organ of the Ruhr coal and steel interests, reflects the new monetary ideas.

"The gold standard has for us only historical interest" and "gold has become an intra-American problem," are headings under which the German Mining journal summarizes the monetary situation.

Non-American countries which in the past were forced to part with their gold reserves, now have also, in principle, turned their backs to gold, the journal said.

"No talk about gold redistribution in the world, or even about giving gold away as a present to countries which need it," it continues "can altar this situation."

Sterling Dips 1 Cent After Last Week's Sharp Swings

The free British pound closed 1 cent lower in New York trading yesterday at $3.79. The moderate change was in contrast to the wide price swings recorded last week, and developed as attention was diverted from the western front to the Balkans. The Canadian dollar remained at 83¼ cents, and the Swiss franc closed at 22.13 cents, off 0.01 of a cent.

Business Bits

John A. Donaldson, who resigned as vice president and controler of Montgomery Ward & Co., on April 30, yesterday became controler of Butler Brothers, national wholesale distributors in Chicago. Donaldson succeeds D. R. Treat, who severed his connections with Butler Brothers last week. Donaldson was connected with Montgomery Ward & Co. for eight years. Prior to that he was assistant controller of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, after having spent seven years with Arthur Andersen & Co. He served last year as president of the Chicago Control of the Controlers' Institute of America.

Orrin S. Dowse, member of the Chicago Board of Trade, has resigned as president of the Santa Fe Elevator company and as a member of the firm of J. S. Templeton Sons. Fenner & Beane announced that Mr. Dowse has become connected with the firm in charge of the grain department.

Joseph J. Librizzi has been appointed sales promotion manager and director of publicity of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., effective July 15. He will be in charge of sales promotion in the ten stores of the company. Librizzi has been sales and publicity director of the Outlet company in Providence, R. I., for the last two years.

The Institute of American Meat Packers announced the appointment of Leo Burnett Company Inc., Chicago, to handle its advertising in an extensive program exploiting meat and its place in an adequately nutritious diet. A substantial part of the advertising will be placed in newspapers, the institute reported.

E. G. Hefter has been appointed general sales manager for the Ero Manufacturing company, Chicago, makers of automotive accessories and sporting goods.

George M. Hunter, vice president in charge of manufacturing operations for the American Bridge company, retired yesterday after serving in this subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation for 51 years. Frank K. McDaniel, vice president and a director of the bridge company, succeeds Hunter.

George M. Hunter.

Dr. J. D. Willems, Chicago, has been appointed medical director of the Lumbermens Mutual Casualty company, it was announced yesterday.

The Chicago Board of Trade Post of the American Legion will present a large silk flag to the Board of Trade tomorrow. The flag will be raised daily from the visitors gallery.

Broader Demand Carries October Egg Futures Up

Broader demand boosted egg futures yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The October contract advanced 1-5 cent a dozen to 18.70 cents. The November contract opened the season ¼ cent above the October but sagged 0.05 cent in later trading to close at 18.90 cents. Trading in butter futures was slim with the November delivery up 1-10 cent to 27.60 cents a pound.

Sterling Dips 1 Cent After Last Week's Sharp Swings

The moderate change was in contrast to the wide price swings recorded last week, and developed as attention was diverted from the western front to the Balkans. The Canadian dollar remained at 83¼ cents, and the Swiss franc closed at 22.13 cents, off 0.01 of a cent.

HOLIDAY TO CUT STEEL RATE LESS THAN EXPECTED

Week's Operations Begin at 74.2 Per Cent.

The July 4 holiday will reduce this week's steel production less than the industry had expected, schedules released yesterday disclosed. Meantime a better than seasonal showing for retail sales of new automobiles was reported.

The American Iron and Steel institute said steel mills began the week with operating schedules averaging 74.2 per cent of theoretical capacity. This was a decline of 12.3 points as compared with a week earlier. A drop of 16 or 17 points, because of the holiday, had been expected.

While this week's operating rate is less than the 86.5 per cent average of a week ago and the 80.3 per cent rate of a month ago, it still is much higher than the 38.5 per cent schedule prevailing a year earlier.

Pay Rolls Increase.

Steel industry employment and pay rolls rose during May, the institute reported. Average employment increased to 510,000 workers from 503,000 in April. Total May pay rolls amounted to $75,184,000, compared with $67,724,000 in April. A year ago employment totaled 448,000 and pay rolls $60,372,000.

Discussing automobile sales, Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., said retail buying of cars is "decidedly better than seasonal."

Declaring car prices may be higher in 1941 than in 1940, the publication said salesmen are using that possibility as a persuasive argument in dealing with prospective buyers.

"The probability of a price increase is unquestioned, and as it is put forward by salesmen it is getting results," Ward's said. "As another result, prices of used cars have firmed."

Reports Large Gain.

Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., announced its domestic sales of 1940 model trucks and cars up to the end of June totaled 24,305 units, an increase of 131.7 per cent as compared with sales in the corresponding period a year earlier. In announcing the figures, Joseph W. Frazer, president, said domestic factory sales already have exceeded by 107.6 per cent the volume for the entire 1939 model year.

R. L. Polk & Co. issued a report on new car and truck registrations showing 341,791 passenger vehicles and 50,630 trucks licensed during May, compared with 348,632 cars and 54,831 trucks in April. Registrations for the first five months of 1940 rose to 1,487,635 cars and 245,540 trucks, representing gains of 28.44 per cent and 18.90 per cent, respectively, as compared with the corresponding period of 1939.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company placed orders yesterday for 1,000 all-steel box cars and 100 all-steel cabooses.

Another large order for railroad equipment appeared in prospect when Southern Pacific disclosed it has asked bids on 20 locomotives for passenger service.

LAKE SHIPMENTS OF ORE HIGHEST SINCE AUGUST, '37

Cleveland, O., July 1 (AP).—Great Lakes shipments of iron ore for June totaled 9,525,494 tons—highest for any month except August and June, 1937, the Lake Superior Iron Ore association announced today.

Some vesselmen had expected shipments to exceed the all-time high of August, 1937, when 10,811,381 tons were brought down from the northern Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan ranges. Fogs and bad weather, however, delayed vessels, cutting down the total tonnage for the month. Every vessel on the Great Lakes capable of carrying ore is now in commission.

June shipments a year ago were 5,572,998 tons. Total movement for 1940 to date was 17,268,690 tons compared with 9,231,249 for the same period a year ago.

Warns Creation of American 'Bloc' Will Mean Trade Loss

Proposed creation of an economic bloc of American nations to counteract German supremacy over Europe will present many difficulties and may result in loss of European markets, Dr. Paul Haensel, professor of economics at Northwestern university, asserted yesterday.

Dr. Paul Haensel.

Dr. Haensel, who was associated for 25 years with the University of Moscow, outlined the possible post-war world after a Nazi victory.

"If the Pan-American bloc should be a monopoly against Nazi dominated Europe, Hitler may retaliate by proclaiming the Americas a territory under foreign monopoly trade system," said Dr. Haensel, who was elected an honorary doctor by Munich university in 1926.

Says Germany Wants Trade.

"The United States sold annually to Europe about $1,300,000,000 of goods and bought from Europe to the extent of some $650,000,000 only. This situation makes American opposition extremely difficult and unprofitable."

A victorious post-war Germany will be interested in developing international trade, Dr. Haensel said, and with Italy will be in a favorable position in dictating trade demands in Europe.

"Our persistent opposition may induce Germany to develop other connections and colonial output," he said, "and European markets may be definitely lost for America in the long run.

"But neither Hitler, Mussolini, Roosevelt, nor any other ruler can achieve any gain by introducing a centralized foreign trade agency. The soviet experiment shows that the cost of such a burocratic institution is necessarily so high and counter-measures can so easily be effected that a monopoly of foreign trade becomes a heavy burden and financially unprofitable undertaking."

Explains "Barter" Plan.

Contrary to common belief, Dr. Haensel asserted, Germany does not have any barter system in her foreign trade. Thru currency restrictions, however, payment for goods imported into Germany can be made only to the extent of total purchases of goods in that country. The German foreign trade system, he said, is neither pure barter nor quota restriction, nor monopoly of foreign trade like the soviet system.

Another problem facing creation of an American bloc, Dr. Haensel said, is the fact that the Latin American nations produce mostly agricultural goods which can be sold to Europe only. He said Germany will be able to offer in exchange the cheapest kind of manufactured goods and carry them in the cheapest tonnage.

CREATE 2 UNITS TO OBTAIN VITAL DEFENSE STORES

Rubber, Tin Agencies Set Up by RFC.

tween 18 and 20 cents a pound, c. i. f. [cost insurance and freight], New York.

"This 150,000 tons, with the 85,000 tons recently acquired thru the barter agreement with Great Britain in exchange for cotton, will provide a reserve supply of rubber in the United States of approximately 235,000 tons, in addition to current stocks held by the industry.

"The capital of the Rubber Reserve company will be owned one-half by the RFC and one-half by the principal rubber manufacturers. The reserve supply will be acquired from additional production of rubber allowed by the International Rubber Regulation committee as a result of this contract, so that there will be no lack of rubber to meet current demands, and no occasion for unusual competitive bidding by the industry for normal requirements.

Increase Tin Output.

"The Metals Reserve company has agreed with the International Tin committee, represented by Victor A. Lowinger of London and John V. Den Broek of Batavia [Java], that it will buy 75,000 tons of tin which it will hold as a reserve stock.

"The world supply of tin is controled by the International Tin committee and the agreement calls for an increase in world production of tin so that the reserve can be acquired without interfering with the current demand for tin or affecting the current price.

"The Metals Reserve company has agreed to buy its reserve stock at 50 cents a pound, c. i. f. United States ports to be specified by the company."

Tin producing countries participating in the agreement are Belgian Congo, Bolivia, French Indo-China, Malay states, Netherlands East Indies, Nigeria, and Thailand. Rubber producing countries which will be benefited by the government purchases are Malaya, Netherlands Indies, French Indo-China, Ceylon, India, Burma, North Borneo, Sarawak, and Thailand.

Jones said that the activities of the two corporations would supplement and not replace the treasury department's procurement of strategic materials.

List Treasury Purchases.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. disclosed today that up to June 30 the treasury had acquired $12,291,111 in such materials thru the procurement division. These consisted of the following:

Material—	Quantity.	Value.
Tungsten	449 short tons $	500,944
Quartz crystals	11,800 pounds	100,000
Optical glass	11,400 pounds	80,000
Manila fiber	14,800 bales	246,221
Chromium ore	64,500 tons	2,106,250
Pig tin	6,124 tons	6,084,828
Manganese	86,500 tons	2,757,868
Quinine sulphate	....700,000 ounces	415,000
Total		$12,291,111

Morgenthau also announced personnel changes in connection with the procurement program. Since Donald M. Nelson, acting procurement director and former vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago, has been named coördinator for national defense procurement, Morgenthau has appointed Clifton Mack, a civil service employé in the treasury, as permanent director of procurement for the treasury. Nelson's duties will be to coördinate treasury, army, and navy buying programs.

Morgenthau also appointed Philip Young, an assistant, to the intradepartmental coördinating committee on allied and domestic purchases of war materials. Young is the son of Owen D. Young, retired chairman of the General Electric company, and will represent the treasury on the committee.

Standard Power's Stock Purchase Plan Approved

Washington, D. C., July 1 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today granted an application by the Standard Power and Light corporation to acquire from H. M. Byllesby & Co. 330,000 shares of its own common stock, series B, for retirement. Price to be paid for the stock has not been decided.

Deposit of certified check in amount of $25.00, payable to the Treasurer of the United States, will be required for plans and specifications. Information above address.

BUILDING OPERATIONS DECLINE IN JUNE, BUT RISE FOR HALF YEAR

Chicago building construction of all types during June was approximately one million dollars less than June of last year, and about three million dollars less than May of this year. Home building also declined.

For the first six months of 1940, however, building in general and home building in particular was more active than during the first half of 1939. Building of all types totaled $17,714,843, compared with $14,545,589 a year ago, a gain of $3,169,254. The total was $8,707,183 more than in the first half of 1938.

City Building Commissioner Richard Schmidt issued permits for 1,382 homes during the six months, compared with 1,265 a year ago.

The June total for building of all types was $2,603,035, against $3,354,785 for June of last year and $5,599,096 for May of this year. Home building permits totaled 264, against 325 in June, 1939, and 289 in May of this year.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division. In Proceedings for the reorganization of a railroad. In the matter of CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE, ST. PAUL AND PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, Debtor. No. 60463.

ORDER FIXING TIME WITHIN WHICH OBJECTIONS TO THE PLAN OF REORGANIZATION WHICH HAS BEEN CERTIFIED TO THIS COURT BY THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION MAY BE FILED HEREIN, WHICH TIME WITHIN WHICH BRIEFS MUST BE FILED AND A DATE FOR THE HEARING ON OBJECTIONS TO THE PLAN AND CLAIMS FOR EXPENSES AND FEES AND PROVIDING FOR THE GIVING OF DUE NOTICE TO ALL PARTIES IN INTEREST.

The Interstate Commerce Commission having made its report and order on February 12, 1940, in the matter of the reorganization of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company, therein setting out a plan of reorganization of said Railroad Company, and a certified copy of said report and order having been filed with the Clerk of this Court on February 29, 1940, and petitions having been filed by various parties in interest for modification of said plan of reorganization; the said Interstate Commerce Commission having made a supplemental report and order on June 4, 1940, with respect to said plan of reorganization, which said supplemental order revokes and supersedes the said order of February 12, 1940, and sets out and approves a modified plan of reorganization of said Railroad Company; said Interstate Commerce Commission having thereafter, on June 14, 1940, filed a certified copy of said Supplemental Report and Order with the Clerk of this Court, and the said modified plan of reorganization of said Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company, as proposed by said Interstate Commerce Commission, being now before this Court; and the Court having, by order entered April 26, 1940, fixed May 31, 1940, as the time within which claims might be filed for expenses incurred and for services rendered in connection with these proceedings and the plan of reorganization by those having such claims, such claims to cover all services and expenses up to May 15, 1940, and due and proper notice having been given of the date so fixed, and various claims having been filed, copies of which have been forwarded to the Interstate Commerce Commission for the fixing of maximum limits with respect to the amounts to be allowed:

NOW, THEREFORE, pursuant to the provisions of Section 77 of the Act of July 1, 1898, entitled, "An Act to Establish a Uniform System of Bankruptcy Throughout the United States" and Acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, on the Court's own motion

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

(1) That all parties in interest, whether they have intervened herein or become formal parties to the record in this proceeding or not, having any objections to such modified plan of reorganization, shall file in writing, in duplicate, detailed and specific objections to said plan and their claims, if any, for equitable treatment thereof, with the Clerk of this Court in the United States Court House, in the City of Chicago, Illinois, on or before the first day of August, 1940, and shall serve copies thereof on other parties herein:

(2) That any and all objections to said modified plan of reorganization and any and all claims for equitable treatment which may be filed herein pursuant to this order, as well as any and all petitions for allowance of expenses or fees incident to the reorganization proceedings and plan and filed herein within the time hereinbefore allowed, be, and they hereby are, set for hearing on Wednesday, September 4, 1940, at ten o'clock A. M., Chicago Daylight Saving Time, in the room occupied by me as Court Room in the United States Court House in the City of Chicago;

(3) That each party desiring to be heard with reference to his objections to said modified plan of reorganization and any and all claims for equitable treatment or with reference to claims for expenses and fees, shall file a brief presenting his views with reference thereto on or before the 20th day of August, 1940, and in the forewords of said brief shall state the time which he will require at the hearing to present his case to the Court and shall serve copies of said brief on other parties herein;

(4) That Henry A. Scandrett, Walter J. Cummings and George L. Haight, Trustees of the property of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company, shall forthwith give notice of this order and all of the provisions thereof to the Interstate Commerce Commission, each and every party of record in these reorganization proceedings and each and every Trustee under any railroad mortgage or Deed of Trust, or Equipment Trust Agreement, covering property owned or operated by the Trust Estate, and to each of those who have heretofore filed claims herein for services or expenses in connection with these proceedings or the plan, either by delivering personally or by mailing to the last known address by registered mail to each of the foregoing, or their attorneys if they have appeared by attorneys, a copy of this order;

(5) That the said Trustees give notice of the entry of this order and of the provisions thereof to all stockholders, creditors and to all other parties in interest and to all others by publishing a copy of this order in full in one newspaper of general circulation in each of the Cities of Chicago, Illinois, New York, New York, and Seattle, Washington, said publications to be made once each week for two successive weeks, the first of said publications to be made not later than June 26, 1940, and that the said Trustees file in these proceedings proper proof of the service of this order and of publication thereof as herein directed.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

Y-O-U-R O-W-N
B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without 1 cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 in a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Now, here are the arrangements: You must be between 24 and 54, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance, and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side and southern Cook county.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to the offer, as we even can pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise, and finance your account.

Apply Tuesday at 1 p. m. sharp. Ask for Mr. Buckley, 2d floor, Standard National Bank Building, 79th & Ashland-av.

YOUNG men between 25-35 to work and study the heating and air conditioning business with the world's largest manufacturers; house to house canvassers; engineer, washer, managers, and brush salesmen will be given preference, also if you are willing to work and want future you can qualify for a good paying position. Comm. and weekly expense; car an asset, but not a necessity. Only men who are sincere and willing to make sacrifices to deserve a permanent and brilliant future need apply, as this is no get-rich-over-night scheme. If your determination is such that you think you can qualify call at 5620 W. Division-st., between 2-4 p. m., tomorrow.
